Prominent Aggies Set Wedding Dates

By VIVIAN CASTLEBERRY
Battalion Women's Editor

WHAT A WEEKEND!

We'll be remembering it and talking about it for years to come. The weatherman treated us right, the girls were plentiful and about the prettiest lot we've seen and there was entertainment enough for everybody to be doing at least a half dozen things at once! . . . At one of the two balls Friday night, Harry Doran and his attractive wife, Gloria, were going around trying to spot the Vanity Fair winners before their presentation. . . . They missed on every score, which is no discredit to the coterie of lovelies who are official Texas Aggie Beauties, but rather a pat on the back to all Aggies for the way they can pick 'em.

Two couples, Tex and bride—Pat McDaniel and Nell and John Webb were keeping up a steady exchange between the Press Club ball in the MSC Assembly Room and the Engineering dance in the ballroom. Bryn and Gwen Weddell slipped off from the engine dance to trip-the-light-etc. with press clubbers for once-around-the-floor.

THE WEDDING RING SET having weekend fun included Lilly Mae and Calvin Janak, Charlene and Neville Muckleroy, Jeanne and Charles McCullough, Darnell and Spike White, Susie and Dick Bluhme.

Frank Manitzas, up from the Alamo City, graced weekend festivities with his presence. . . . Nancy Jourdan from Big D was getting acquainted with Aggie land. . . . Angelina Schroeder, Blinn Jr. College soph from Brenham was making it an occasion long to be remembered for James Lehmann.

The Big Military Ball proved to live up to all its advance notices, but couples who started off the evening with parties previous to the big dance, and those who went to small parties after said-occasion were the most enthusiastic in their declaration of a weekend-never-to-be-forgotten. Aggie land staffers threw themselves a party at the Brazos Co. A&M Club House. In attendance was editor Roy Nance and his lady, Peggy Yancey; Jim Modlin and Jeanne Mason; George Charlton and Pat Locke, Bill Cornish and Dottie Mangum, Frank Thomas and Jean Parrott, Dick Graves and Betty Ann Johnson, and Luke Senior and Nancy Webb.

When the last goodbyes had been said, the guys were probably the weariest bunch of Aggies in many-a-moon, but stars hung around in the eyes of some. . . . Audrey Caughey, who now is wearing Fred Walker's ring; Marilyn Bowden who went back to her school children only after promising to become Mrs. Dave Coslett at a not-too-distant date; Ralph Gorman's Eva Clendenning, who was up from Port Arthur; and Jim Tom House's first lady, Sue McEntire of NTSC, who was our own houseguest for the Big Weekend.

ADD TO MUNROE-EDWARDS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT. When Curtis and Judy decided recently to change their name to one, come June, they did it up the right way. Curtis had gone to Denton for a weekend date with the pretty little redhead. They became engaged, went immediately to Houston for his family's blessing, took his family car and drove to San Antonio for her folk's okay. Curtis brought Judy back to College Station, put her on a train for Denton, then took the car back to Houston and came back to Aggie land—all in one weekend! That's a distance of about 1300 miles, and after meeting Judy over the weekend, we agree with Curtis, worth every mile of it. Judy's ring is a beautiful Aggie miniature, set with a diamond.

SEQUEL TO THE WEDDING MARCH. The Hugh C. Forthmans are at home here following their wedding recently. Forthman is a student in the School of Vet Medicine and his bride is studying at the Nursing School of Baylor University. . . . John DeWitt of Aggie basketball fame will be best man in the April 14 wedding of his brother, John, to Hester Ann Curl. . . . Frank Campbell, '42 and his wife, the former Miss Lynn Skelton, are at home in Breckenridge where he is principal of the South Ward Elementary School. . . . James Grady Brown, Jr., '48, and Mrs. Brown, the former Dolores Evans were wed recently in Dallas. . . . Burton Edward Lambert, '49 and Doris June Brown are at home in Fort Worth after a wedding trip to San Antonio. Jean Ann and Larry Morgan, '52, are living in Rosenberg after a wedding trip to New Orleans. . . . In Charlotte, Texas, on March 24 Martha Bell Simmons and Herbert K. Davis, '49, will pledge their troth. . . . and on April 14 an Indianapolis wedding will link E. Grady Hendrix, Jr., '43 and Nancy Lee Catterton. The bride-to-be attended Butler University and the University of Indiana.

Master Hall Barret, two-year-old-cutie of Wilma and Hall Barret, recently celebrated his birthday with a party in his parents' College View home. Doubtless Hall has been complaining about the system his mom used in serving the guests: the mothers and older children ate up the birthday cake, while the honored guest and his small friends had to content themselves with cookies and ice cream!

In the Spring a young man's fancy may turn to thoughts of love, but likely as not his lady's thoughts have turned to clothes. This Spring we're wearing everything from full, full skirts to pegs, with sleeveless tucked blouses and tiny feminine collars. We're using flowers in abundance, real ones if we have them and artificial if we don't. We've need of giant organza or silk scarves to trail from a beltline (the belts are wide and the buckles gaudy!), wear as a stole, tuck in a suit. . . . We're using lace or organza tie-on skirts and boleros over simple low-cut cotton or rayon dresses. . . . And we're wearing with this costume jewelry of all kinds, or the real McCoy if we're lucky enough to have it. . . . Nicest thing of all for many students is that their wives are enjoying an epidemic of sewing fever and are putting these little numbers together with their own two hands.

IN THE REALM OF THINGS TO BE. The Dames Club is putting final touches on a big cooking school it has planned for April. It will issue invitations to all student wives and to College Station residents. . . . The Mustang-exes (SMUs to you) are hoping for a rather quiet time of it when they hold their Mustang Carol get-together for this section of the World in late (See WOMEN'S DESK, Page 6)

The Holmans at Home

Evelyn Holman Believes

Army Wife Must Make Home Of Whatever Is Available

By VIVIAN CASTLEBERRY

Graduates of Texas A&M for the "duration of the crisis" will almost unanimously be forced to consider a stint with the U. S. Army before they can settle down to any other sort of career.

Trained in military tactics through four years of college, most of these men will know what to expect from Army life and how to take it. But many of them will want to know what they can expect of their wives and families in the role of Army people.

Few girls can answer their questions better than Mrs. Donald L. Holman, who has lived with and around Army folk all her life.

Evelyn Holman is the daughter of an Army colonel. She met her husband while he was a sergeant in the Air Force. Her sister is married to an Annapolis graduate. Her other sister's husband is a Coast Guard veteran.

Evelyn, a tall—she's five-feet-eight-inches—gray-green-eyed brunette with a ready smile, a sparkling sense of humor and a soft low-pitched voice, came to Aggie land in September. Before that she had found time to be a college girl, a dance instructor, a senior clerk in personnel for Capital Airlines, with the Army Security Department, with the Naval Torpedo Department and recreational director in the Air Force.

Now a confirmed Aggie—"I yell my heart out at all the contests where Aggies participate,"—she hopes next year to convince her 18-year-old brother that A&M is the only school for him.

Evelyn was born in Peking, China, where her father was at the time in the diplomatic service. She spent most of her childhood in and around Washington, D. C. where she attended Western High School. Later she was a student at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia.

She has traveled in 47 of the 48 states, "all except Arizona," and in Mexico, Cuba, and Hawaii. At the close of the war when the Army Special Services sent out an appeal for entertainment chairmen to serve with the Armed Forces, Evelyn answered the challenge.

She went to Guam, where she organized and supervised a club, primarily for boys under 21 years of age. Her title was recreational director. This included instructions in and arrangements for dances, arts and crafts, tours of

Study Club To Hear Mrs. Price On Recreation

Mrs. W. Armstrong Price will speak to members of the Campus Study Club Tuesday afternoon on the subject "The Development of A Recreation Program for a Texas city."

From 1945 until she moved to College Station, Mrs. Price was chairman of the park board. She organized and was first president of Civic Beautification Association in Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Price headed a drive for recreation centers in Corpus. Through her efforts soft ball parks, gymnasiums and hobby centers, the city golf course and club house and dancing slabs were either constructed or rebuilt.

On April 29 Mrs. Price will return to Corpus Christi where she will be presented with a plaque of honor by Better Homes and Gardens for her work in that city. She already has received a check for $2,000. The evening preceding the celebration, Mrs. Price will be guest of honor at a dinner given by the Corpus Christi Caller Times.
