Aggie Catcher

Al Ogletree

A&M, Minnesota Meet in Twin Bill Today Starting at 1:30

After postponing the first game due to the ground drenching downpours, Aggie Diamond Skipper Beau Bell sent his charges on the turf this afternoon at 1:30 in the first game of a double header with the University of Minnesota Gophers.

work behind the plate to complete both batteries.

For the season, A&M has a win-loss record of 4-3, having split four games with Brooke Army Field Medics and a pair with the University of Houston. The Aggies won their game with Sam Houston State 16-8.

A&M is currently holding the upper hand on games played on Kyle Field with three wins to one loss. They won one game from the Medics 8-7, a single from the University of Houston 3-1, and the game with the Bearkats. The Aggies lost their one home game to the Comets 1-2.

But the Cadets have not fared so well on the road. They dropped their game to the Cougars in Houston and lost one of their two games in San Antonio with the Comets.

A&M is showing exceptional power this spring in its hitters. Al Ogletree, catcher; Charles Russell, left fielder; Guy Wallace, short; and Bill McPherson, right fielder, have been hitting consistently for the Aggies, and all of them belted at least one four-bagger. Wallace, team captain, knocked two home runs in the run-away game with the Bearkats to lead Aggie scorers.

Assisting Hubert and Ogletree in composing the infield will be Yale Lary handling the chores at the first sack; Joe Ecrete working second base; Hank "Yogi" Candelari doing duty at third base; and All-SWC shortstop Guy Wallace filling up the hole between second and third.

In the outfield will be Charlie Russell in the left, Hollis Baker in center and Shug McPherson out in right.

Probable starters for the Gophers Wednesday, in batting order, are as follows: Charles Bosacker, center field; Robert Thompson, first base; Thomas Warner, left field; James Holker, short; Allen Anderson, second; Frank Larson, right field; Conrad Eckston, third; and Glenn Gostic, catcher. Lloyd Lundeen, who won five and lost four for the Gophers last season, will probably start on the mound and be last in the batting order.

But Coach Dick Siebert can call on any one of six other pitchers on the squad to start against the Aggies. Siebert might start James Lund in first instead of Thompson and Leonard Johnson in right field instead of Larson.

Awaiting the Gophers in the field will probably be Aggie Guy Wallace at short; Hollis Baker in center field; Yale Lary at first; Bill McPherson in right field; Charles Russell in left field; Hank Candelari at third; Joe Ecrete behind the plate.

Coach Beau Belle used Pat Hubert, Ernest Johnson and Sid Goodloe in the last game with the Comets, and probably one of the three will go on the mound for A&M. All of these hurlers are right handers.

A&M and the Gophers split their games here last year. A&M won the first 13-9 but dropped the second 9-10.

New York DA Hunts More Cage Fixes

New York, March 29—(AP)—The district attorney's office said last night detectives are looking along the Atlantic Seaboard for at least four more fixers of college basketball games.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan would not identify the hunted men but said "one or more of the four sought may have had confederates, fellow-conspirators."

Detectives are prowling several eastern cities looking for the fixers, Hogan added.

Seventeen college basketball players have been arrested in New York since the biggest scandal in intercollegiate sports exploded some weeks ago.

They are accused of dumping 20 games in Madison Square Garden for gamblers who paid them off to rig the contests.

Police have also arrested Salvatore Sollazzo and accused him of playing a big part in fixing many of the games.

He has been indicted in the cage scandal and faces income tax charges and possible deportation.

"We're following all sorts of leads and it's not a question of sending detectives hit or miss into all the states. But we have detectives down in Florida and many cities along the Eastern Seaboard," Hogan said.

The scandal broke with the arrest of Sollazzo and a handful of

Dodgers - A's Play To 11 Inning Tie

Miami, March 29—(AP)—Brooklyn and the Philadelphia Athletics played an 11-inning 7-7 tie game yesterday. The game was called by darkness.

The A's, behind 6-1, in the seventh, tied the score at 6-6 in the eighth went ahead in the top of the ninth when Ferris Fain scored on Gene Hermanski's high throw. The Dodgers tied it on Hermanski's single that scored Don Thompson.

Shortstop Tod Davis and outfielder Sam Chapman hit homers for the A's. Eddie Miksis and Pee-wee Reese clouted four-baggers for the Brooks.
