

Church Writer Group to Hear Dallas Editor

Lynn W. Landrum, chief editorial writer of the Dallas Morning News, will be the speaker for the closing session of the Church News, Publicity and Public Relations Short Course Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. in the Ballroom of the MSC.

The short course is planned as an aid to the church and to the press.

The Department of Journalism is extending a cordial invitation to the public to attend this session and to hear Landrum speak. The speaker, who has written editorials for the Dallas News since 1921, writes a column entitled "Thinking Out Loud."

He refers to himself as the "most sworn at and sworn by" editorial writer in Texas if not the "entire nation." Landrum was born at Whitewright, on Aug. 24, 1891. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Landrum.

Landrum was awarded his law degree from Texas University while in the Leon Springs Officers Training Camp during World War I.

Landrum started his newspaper career on country weeklies in Texas and Oklahoma long before he received his law degree.

World War II interrupted Landrum's newspaper career when he entered the service Sept. 29, 1942, commissioned as a major.

He was in the officer's procurement branch of the Eighth Service Command, but after attending a Military Government school, was sent overseas where he served in England, France, and Germany.

After his discharge in 1945, Landrum returned to his old place on the Dallas News staff.

Landrum is married and lives at 1507 Seavers Street, Dallas. He has one son, Graham Gordon, who served in the Navy during the last war. His hobbies include gardening, landscaping, wood working, reading, and lay activity in his church.

Two Candidates File for Office

Two trustees and one trustee-at-large will be elected Saturday, April 7, when the A & M Consolidated Independent School District holds its election in the Music Room of A&M Consolidated High School.

"It is not too late to file for election but candidates must file by Friday in order for their names to appear on the ballot," said Les Richardson, superintendent of A&M Consolidated School District.

Ewing Brown and Henry Allen are the only candidates who have filed for the two vacant positions. Brown is running for re-election while Allen is a candidate for the position which will be vacated at the end of the month by Ross Bond.

"Should Brown and Allen be elected there will be four graduates of Consolidated High School on the board. Ernest Redman and Mit Williams are the other A&M Consolidated grads," said Richardson.

Another ballot box will be provided to elect a trustee-at-large for the County School Board, George Wilcox, the incumbent, is again a candidate for this office.

Pastors-Present and Past

Taking part in the laying of the cornerstone for the new $200,000 A&M Methodist Church sanctuary were the Rev. Berf Smith, former director of student activities; the Rev. R. L. Jackson, former pastor; the Rev. Jesse Thompson, former pastor; the Rev. James Carlin, former pastor;

Bishop A. Frank Smith, bishop of the Central and Southwest Texas Methodist Conference; the Rev. James F. Jackson, present pastor of the church; the Rev. Robert Sneed, present director of student activities.

presented on our Board by President M. T. Harrington and numerous individuals associated directly with the College belong to our membership. However, it was our feeling that the Student Body of the College should also be represented, and, having conferred with Mr. Penberthy we felt that the wisest choice would be the President of the Student Senate.

I believe that from time to time such an association of groups would be mutually beneficial and would lead to a more thorough understanding between the students of A&M College and the citizens of Bryan. Certainly it should help us to be better able to solve problems which might arise from time to time.

College Station Scouts Honor C. W. Manning

Thirty-one merit badges were awarded to 17 boys making advancement in their Boy Scout work when the April Court of Honor convened at 2:30 Sunday afternoon in the YMCA, according to L. S. Paine, district scout advancement chairman.

The court was dedicated to C. W. Manning, Scoutmaster of College Station Troop 102, who is leaving the community.

This plan was voted by the district committee in recognition of Manning's outstanding service to the Boy Scouts and to the community. The presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Manning was made by E. R. Bryant, district chairman for organization and extension.

Aggieland '51 Needs Outfit Snapshots

Outfit snapshots are needed for the military section of AggieLand '51, Roy Nance, editor of the annual, said this morning.

These pictures which will be placed on the page with the formal picture of the outfit should be standard size photos and should be turned into Student Activities before April 14.

Any outfit not turning in photos by that date, will have any surplus snaps available placed on its page, the editor stated.

Following the opening ceremony by Troop 383 and the recognition ceremony for Mannings, Paine presided at the presentation of awards to the Scouts.

J. D. Simpson, Troop 102 advancement chairman, presented second class awards; J. G. Minkert, Troop 364 leadership training chairman, the first class awards; Jerome Zubik, Troop 383, merit badges; Col. Walter Parsons, Troop 102 committee chairman, star awards; and 102 Scoutmaster Manning, the life awards.

A troop tent was awarded to Troop 80 for compiling the best record for "good turns" since Dec. 1, 1950. The tent, set up on the lawn in front of the YMCA, was donated by Joe Ferreri and the Coronet Furniture Co. of Bryan.

A similar award for the Negro troop with the best record in the district will be made at a later date.

Following the closing ceremony by Troop 383, a motion picture of the national scout ranch entitled "Philmont Adventure" was shown. John McNeely introduced the film.
