

Wilkinson Says Ags To Be One Of Top Teams Next Year

By FRANK DAVIS and BILL STREICH

"Texas A&M is in one of the best positions of any college in the nation to win national football honors this season."

These were the words of Charles R. (Bud) Wilkinson, head football coach and athletic director at the University of Oklahoma. He made the statement to Battalion reporters attending the Southwest Journalism Congress held Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7, at the Oklahoma school.

Wilkinson, who has carried his Sooner squad to the post season Sugar Bowl contest for the past three years, based his opinion on the fact that the Aggies retain an exceptionally large percentage of their 1950 team which gave the Oklahomans a long afternoon before being outscored in the closing minutes of the game.

"Of course, the coaching situation at A&M will have a direct bearing on the team's chances in the 1951 season," the Sooner mentor added.

The Aggies, in Wilkinson's estimation, had one of the three best, if not the best team, that Oklahoma faced in the 1950 season. Kentucky and TU were the other teams that were held in high regard by the youthful coach.

"Bob Smith is the best offensive back that we faced last year and probably the best ground gainer that football has produced since the close of the war," last season's "Coach of the Year" commented.

The 39-year old Wilkinson, who brings his team to College Station early in the 1951 season, said he would have preferred to play the Aggies in a large city such as Houston or Dallas, because of the difficulty in securing adequate accommodations in the College Station vicinity for the large Oklahoma squad.

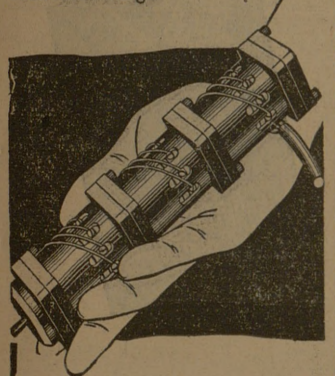

When informed that A&M was to be written up in the Saturday Evening Post as the "noisiest college in the United States," Wilkinson said he felt organized yelling, a prominent feature at all Aggie athletic contests, was a definite aid to the home team.

However, the yelling does not seriously handicap the opposing team, he added.

'Sports Pages Editorialize,' Bud Wilkinson

A college football coach took a look at college sports reporting and came up with a few pointers which he thought might be helpful to college newspapers.

The coach was Charles R. (Bud) Wilkinson of the University of Oklahoma who spoke to delegates from 13 schools attending the annual meeting of the Southwest Journalism Congress held at Norman, Oklahoma, Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7.

"Today's sports page, instead of printing the straight story, has drifted into a sheet giving the reader little more than editorialized comments and predictions," Wilkinson said.

A college newspaper, or any other newspaper, should in the opinion of the coach, try to present both sides of a sports controversy. An honest attempt to get all the facts ought to be made before the paper prints any kind of story.

"... Learn Sports ..."

"If a person really wants to be a sports reporter, he should learn as much about sports in general, and especially the sports he wants to cover, as he can."

"Most college athletic departments will be glad to cooperate with a reporter, but they don't like the paper to misrepresent the facts," Wilkinson emphasized.

Wilkinson, who is entering his fourth year at Oklahoma as head football coach and athletic director or is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he received a Bachelor's degree in English. He was voted the honor of being "Football's Coach of the Year" for the last two seasons.

Dale Long, rookie up with the Pittsburgh Pirates, hit at least one home run in every ball park in the Eastern League last season.

Fish Bats-Pitching Whip Wharton 12-4

By CHUCK NEIGHBORS
Battalion Sports Staff

In a wild ninth inning rally sparked by the blow-up of Wharton's pitching, the Aggie Fish trounced the Wharton "Pioneers" Saturday, 12-4.

Al Fuchs, Fish right fielder, knocked out three hits, and scored two runs to aid considerably in the Fish victory.

The Fish pitchers held Wharton to four runs and seven hits in a fine exhibition of hurling. Sills had a total of three strike outs and Mel Work, who relieved him in the fifth inning, had seven.

Errors Hurt
Errors in crucial places hurt the Aggies and allowed one Wharton run to cross the plate. Wharton errors put five Fish on the bases.

Ernie Lawrence's double with one man on was responsible for the Aggie's first run in the fourth inning. After Wharton had taken an early lead in the second inning after a triple by O'Reagan of the "Pioneers" drove in a run.

Bob Naisner, Wharton pitcher, did very well until the eighth inning when A&M got to him for a walk, a run, and a hit.

Ninth Blows Up
In the explosive ninth, Buck Jackson began the inning with a walk, and ended it with a strikeout. Work started the fireworks with

Frogs Score Three Unearned Runs and Slip Past A&M 5-4

By FRED WALKER
Battalion Sports Editor

Aggie baseball pennant hopes took a serious jolt yesterday afternoon on Kyle Field when the TCU Horned Frogs scored three unearned runs to upset A&M 5-4.

TCU just didn't figure" to beat the Aggies during pre-game time, but the nine who had already dropped two to SMU, whom the Cadets whipped twice last week-end, rode home in the ninth on the fireballing arm of Norris (Knob-By) Graves.

Trailing since the fourth inning, the Aggies turned on the fire in the eighth and tallied three runs off of Frog starter, Mike Salim, but Graves took the long walk in and finished the chores.

The tying run had been Shug McPherson on second but Aggie left fielder John DeWitt bounced out pitcher to first and A&M came up one count short.

The big ninth was filled with as much excitement as possible when Henry (Yogi) Candelari led off with a pass, but after Hollis Baker and Al Ogletree went down swinging the crowd momentarily cooled.

Rhubarb
Tension broke out anew, however, after Candelari stole second and tying possibilities again became bright. But after the base was kicked, a good sized rhubarb broke out on a reversed decision which once more found the Aggies on the mean end.

Umpire Bonneau, the balls and strikes man, had signaled a ball on the pitch which sent Candelari to second. With that, Frog coach Walter Roach came roaring off the bench in bitter dispute. Roach claimed pinch-hitter Jim Britt had taken a full cut.

A few minutes later, after Bonneau hurried out to confer with base umpire Jim Tongate the decision was reversed and a three-two count was given to Britt.

That only added fuel to the fire as the Aggie bench, belligerently led by team captain Guy Wallace, swarmed down upon the two officials.
