Hiroshima Bomb Survivor Speaks Wednesday Night

The Rev. Kioshi Tanimoto, one of the survivors of the atom-bomb explosion at Hiroshima, Aug. 6, 1945, will speak at a lecture sponsored by the A&M Wesley Foundation Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the A&M Methodist Church.

"Out of Ashes Came Faith" will be the title of Tanimoto's talk. Slides will also be shown on the Hiroshima disaster and rehabilitation measures that have been taken since the bombing.

Tanimoto has been brought to the United States by the Saturday Review of Literature in an effort to raise money for reconstruction in the Japanese city.

Four Point Program

At the present time, the Japanese minister, with the aid of the free will donation program, is attempting to carry out four programs. These include the Moral Adoption Program, which has so far seen the adoption of some 300 Japanese children by American families and the Medical Service Volunteer Group, which provides free medical care for needy patients in Japan.

Another feature of the four point program is the operation of a home for the aged who have no means of support. A home for juvenile delinquents is also operated through the free will donation program.

Houston Field Trip Set by Ag Ed Men

Seniors majoring in Agricultural Education will take their annual field trip to Houston as guests of the Houston Chamber of Commerce Saturday.

The seniors will travel in a chartered bus that leaves from the College Station Bus Depot at 3 a. m. Saturday morning and plan to arrive in Houston by 5:30 a. m. in time for a radio program in which some of the seniors will participate.

During the rest of the day, the seniors plan to visit various points of interest over the city.

Future objectives of the institute include the establishment of a research institute, construction of a Memorial Library, with a collection of volumes dealing primarily with the problems of war and peace, a museum of fine arts, and construction of a civic auditorium are also under consideration.

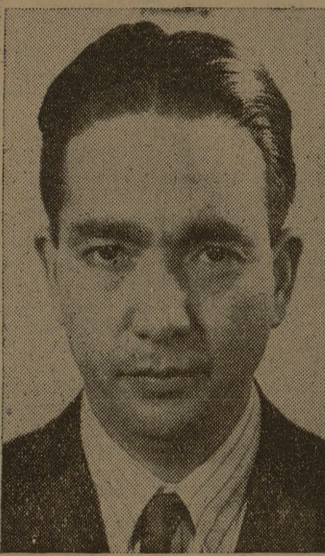

Received Education in U. S.

Tanimoto accepted the Christian religion in 1927 while he was a fifth grade student. Following this, he traveled and studied for the next 15 years. He came to America and studied at the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, where he received his B. D. degree in 1940.

After serving as pastor of several Methodist churches in the United States, he transferred to Hiroshima where he became pastor of one of the largest Methodist churches in Japan.

The meeting of the Wesley Foundation, scheduled to precede Tanimoto's talk has been cancelled, however, the lecture is open to all persons interested in attending.

New School Board Named by Voters

Twenty-eight persons cast votes for local and county schoolboard members, according to Principal L. E. Boze of Consolidated High School, who gave the unofficial returns.

E. E. Brown received 28 votes and Henry Allen 27 for the local schoolboard. The third member, G. W. Wilcox was re-elected as a member at-large for the county schoolboard. He received 28 votes, Principal Boze said.

Official returns for the county were not yet available from the County Superintendent's Office.

The elections were held Saturday in the Music Room at Consolidated School. Wilcox and Brown were re-elected to the posts they had previously held.

Consolidated Seniors Attend Banquet, Get Class Rings

A banquet honoring A&M Consolidated High School seniors was given by the junior class last night in the assembly room of the MSC. Approximately 90 people attended the dinner at which senior class rings were presented by L. S. Richardson, superintendent of public schools.

Flop Colson, general agent for Brazos County for United Fidelity Life Insurance Company, Dallas, was the principal speaker.

Southern fried chicken was served the guests. For dessert, pineapple sherbert was eaten.

After the meal, the room was cleared of tables and there was dancing.

The Rev. Norman Anderson, pastor of the A&M Presbyterian Church, College Station, delivered the invocation.

Puddy Welcomes Seniors

Sara Puddy, junior class president, welcomed the members of the Senior Class and guests to the Junior-Senior banquet. Royce Rogers, senior class president, extended, on behalf of his class, his appreciation saying that, "this is an event which I shall always remember."

Special music was furnished by a girl's quintet from Consolidated. Glenda Brown, Judy Oden, Celeste Curran, Sara Puddy, and Louise Street rendered "Dixie" and "Camptown Races."

"Alligators, Indians, and the psychology of getting grades" was supposedly the title of the talk given by Colson.

Although alligators and Indians were mentioned in passing, the insurance salesman devoted almost 30 minutes to what he chose to call the art of getting grades.

Indian Nickels Secret

Speaking from experience, Colson, who claims that he passed psychology at A&M with Indian-headed nickels, said that the selection of courses was very important. "One should," he said, "avoid lab courses wherever possible, detour courses that have a lot of written work, and strive for courses that are closely related."

"Laugh at all the prof's jokes," the satirical speaker warned, "Laugh hard. At least his efforts were funny."

In all seriousness, however, the speaker concluded with the statement that the seniors were going to get out of life what they put into it.

Glenda Brown gave the benediction following the discourse.

Seated at the speaker's table were L. E. Boze, principal of Consolidated High School; Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Chafin, coach; the Rev. and Mrs. Norman Anderson; Royce Rogers; Miss Puddy; Mr. and Mrs. Flop Colson; Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Richardson; Mrs. Louise Glenn, junior class sponsor; and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Orr. Mrs. Orr is the senior class sponsor.

Members of the senior class present at the dinner were Dorothy Bates, Bebe Bond, Jack Burchard, Dick French, Eddie Guthrie, Arlene Kietzma, Liz Miller, Dorothy Spriggs, Dick Weick, Bobby Williams, Barbara Belcher, Helene Boatner, Marie Cobb, Roland Jones, Reba McDermott, Royce Rodgers, Ann Southern, Cordie Wells, Elrose Stahl, and Lou Ann Wyatt completed the senior list.

The only senior not present was Gerald Frenzel.

C of C Directors Talk Mail Service for City

Initial results of the postal service ballots sent to residents and the formal acceptance of Miss Marie Cobb as Dutches to the Cotton Pageant and Ball, headed the agenda of the College Station Chamber of Commerce in the meeting today at City Hall.

President Joe Sorrells told the Chamber that the final results of the recent poll of public sentiment toward residential mail delivery in College Station was not complete at present because all the ballots had not been returned to the City Hall.

"Early voting, approximately 45 per cent complete, indicates that the residents are in a four to one ratio in favor of the service," said Sorrells.

"I urge everyone who has failed to return the ballot mailed them to send it to the City Hall as quickly as possible so the results may be given to Postmaster Walton," Sorrells concluded.

Miss Cobb accepted the invitation extended to her by R. L. Hunt, Les Richardson, and Mrs. C. B. Godbey to become the Chamber of Commerce Dutches to the A&M Cotton Pageant and Ball. She has not as yet selected an escort.

Discussed at the meeting also was the allocation of money to the College for the mailing of brochures to high school seniors who possibly might attend A&M next fall.

"This has been done in the past," Sorrells told the group, "however since the total financial report is not available we cannot definitely decide to spend the money."

The Chamber of Commerce voted to contact the City Council to discover if that group would be willing to have a joint get-together sometime in May. "The purpose of this meeting would be to let the citizens meet personally the men who run College Station government and to acquaint the council with its constituents," said Sorrells.

4-H Clubbers See Educational Film

The Collegiate 4H Club held its monthly meeting in room 2B of the Memorial Student Center Wednesday.

The major topics discussed during the meeting were the selection of a dutches for the Cotton Ball and the location of a concession stand on Mother's Day.

The entertainment for the meeting was an educational film entitled "New Ideas." The film's chief points were the wide scope of 4H work and the respect that 4H work has among the young people as well as the adults.

The School of Military Science and Tactics is studying the advisability of offering one semester for credit of MS II and AS II to be completed during the two summer school terms of twelve weeks total to only those cadets who will be academically qualified for advanced contract next fall except that they lack only one semester of Basic Military Science. Accordingly, any student in this situation is requested to report in writing to his MS or AS instructor by 9 April 1951 whether he (1) will probably take or (2) will definitely take such a course, if offered. The report should also include expected academic standing (hours, grade points, ratio, classification, and major course) and completed Military Science semesters as of the end of the present spring semester. The feasibility of offering such a course can only be determined from a study of these reports.

It must be borne in mind that the spirit behind the offering of summer school ROTC work is to bring into step the academic and military instruction of our students or to shorten the duration of their college careers. The operation of the Selective Service Act and the reputation of this college makes us look with disfavor upon any innovation in our Military Science instruction which would prolong the college career of any individual beyond the normal duration.

SMITH APPRECIATES HIS WRITE-IN VOTE

Lloyd Smith who served four years as city manager of College Station and then resigned to devote his time to his business and who was given five write-in votes Tuesday by residents of Ward 3, today expressed his appreciation for this mark of confidence.

Mr. Smith said, "I was not a candidate. Friends had suggested that I enter the race but I declined, feeling that I could not devote the time that should be given to the position, taking the same position I had taken when I resigned the city managership."
