

Look Writer Describes Atom Bomb 'Dry Run'

New York, April 24 (AP)—A Look magazine writer-artist, who says he went on a "dry run" atomic bomb flight, describes an A-bomb as about the size of an average room and weighing 10,000 pounds.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the writer didn't see a real bomb or even a representation of one.

Gardner Cowles, Look editor, replied that the article and pictures that accompanied it were cleared by high Air Force officials and an AEC representative at a conference in the Pentagon.

Saw Dummy Used

The magazine article was by Jim Berryman, Washington Star cartoonist and illustrator. It indicated he actually saw a live or dummy A-bomb used in the test run in a B-50.

He illustrated his story with pictures of a snub-nosed bomb with four fins on its stubby tail.

The bomb, he said, is about 20 feet long, and nine or 10 feet in diameter.

He said the trigger, set in the tail, is about the size of an umbrella stand.

The magazine said Maj. Gen. Roscoe C. Wilson, deputy chief of staff on operations for Atomic Energy, arranged for the article and quoted him as saying:

"I believe it is high time some of the ridiculous stories circulated about the A-bomb be killed and buried once and for all.

"I've even heard that hundreds of thousands of American people fearfully believe that an enemy agent could board a Hoboken ferry toting the bomb in a zipper bag and blow Manhattan clear into Brooklyn."

Berryman said he went on the simulated bombing mission from Hunter Air Force Base at Savannah, Ga.

He said the mission was to bomb an unnamed city, which approximated a Russian city target.

Archives Tailors Construct Dummies to Fit Suit Sizes

By FIG NEWTON
Battalion Staff Writer

Archives tailors have partially solved the problem of ill-fitting uniforms. Instead of altering the uniform, they alter the figure. The figure in this case is not human but a mannequin. To get the uniform to fit the body, arms and legs are shortened but to fit the cap, the old methods of altering the cap is brought back into use.

These are just a few of the problems that the 75th Anniversary Committee has to cope with, since the uniforms they plan to exhibit are seldom the same size as the mannequins they have to display them.

When glass cases for displaying uniforms and explanatory signs are finished, enlargement of the archives exhibit in the MSC will be under way, J. J. Woolket, chairman of the 75th Anniversary Committee said today.

We are preparing an exhibit which will be larger than the one shown during muster ceremonies for Mother's Day Open House, May 12-13, he said.

In a couple of days, the changes will begin with the addition of explanatory signs. Then, slowly, various documents and uniforms will be replaced with others typical of different times rearranging the set up so that one corner can be set aside for athletic equipment.

One of the glass cases, Woolket pointed out, will contain a uniform worn by a head yell leader in the 1920's which, he added, "resembles the garb of a Mississippi river boat gambler."

This red vest with a red and white striped jumper over it will be on exhibit in a couple of weeks, Woolket continued.

Some of the uniforms need repair for moth holes and tears. Besides that, committeemen are still searching for brass for some of them.

Putting together the exhibit began in September. Since its first showing Nov. 9, it has doubled in content Woolket added.

record breaker of 2:39.8 in the 200 yd. breaststroke event.

Coach Art Adamson's tankers suffered their first defeat of the season to SMU in Dallas. The chief consolation to the 45-30 loss was Van Adamson's winning the 220 yd. freestyle with a time of 2:18.2. He not only took first place, but broke a pool record.

More Comstock

Comstock starred again as he swam the 220 yd. breaststroke in 2:18.2 and won the event. Jim Flowers swam into second place honors in the same event as he finished just behind Comstock in 2:40.

The OU swimmers took home the honors from their meet here with the Aggies Feb. 23. In doing so, they set three pool records. The Ags wound up with three first places, 220 and 440 yd. freestyles and the 440 yd. freestyle relay.

In the SWC Title Meet, March 24, the tankers came in second as Van Adamson starred again with a record-setting time of 1:37.2 in the 150 yd. medley.

Texas University won the meet with 120 points, with the Aggies next, scoring 100. SMU came in third with 95. Baylor trailed badly with only nine counters. This was Texas' 18th victory out of the 20 times that this meet has been held. It took place in TU's "home ground" pool at Austin.

Four Lost

"Only four squadmen will be missing when workouts start again next year," said Coach Adamson. "This leads me to believe that we should have a good team," he added.

Baker, Butler, Flowers, and Karow will not return to the 1951 team. This will be a heavy loss to A&M, but Van Adamson, outstanding scorer this year, will be back to swim for the Aggies in 1952 along with Don Blundell, Tommy Comstock, Don Crawford, and Rolph Ellis.

Other returners will be Ernest Johnson, Alfred Noyes, Bill Sargent, Bob Shaeffer, John Farnell, Wayne Strickler, Carol Jones, and Bill Karow.

McCarthy Scorns Truman Administration--Policy Plans

Cudahy, Wis., April 24 (AP)—Harry Truman "is President of this nation in name only," Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said last night.

"The Hiss crowd still runs the State Department and not only determines foreign policy but military strategy as well," the Wisconsin Republican told a Chamber of Commerce banquet of about 500 persons.

"I think Truman is essentially just as loyal as the average American citizen," McCarthy said. "He is not part of the Hiss-Lattimore-Acheson crowd. That is the only bright spot in the whole picture. However, the oil men have him."

Wasting Time

McCarthy said the President "confuses stubbornness with strength of character" and added that "those who talk about impeaching him are largely wasting their time."

Such an impeachment would not save the country today, McCarthy declared.

"Then we'd have Barkley, a fine old gentleman, and after that we'd still have the Acheson crowd. We must impeach Acheson, the heart of the octopus."

The President did not fire General MacArthur, McCarthy told the banquet crowd.

"That was done by a sinister, many headed, many tentacled monster conceived in the Kremlin and given birth to by Acheson with Attlee and Morrison as midwives." (He referred to British Prime Minister Clement Attlee and British Foreign Minister Herbert Morrison.)

"MacArthur Greatest American"

McCarthy declared MacArthur was the "greatest American ever born."

"The Yalta crowd thinks it has MacArthur's scalp, but they have not destroyed him. You can see that from what is happening in America today since the General returned."

He said he owned an explanation to Robert Fleming, reporter for the Milwaukee Journal. Earlier this month Fleming's story in the Journal quoted McCarthy as saying in a Milwaukee speech that the MacArthur dismissal was a "Communist victory won with the aid of Bourbon and Benedictine."

Fleming also quoted McCarthy as applying an epithet to the President in an interview preceding the speech.

"Normally I call in all newspaper men before I give a speech for an off the record discussion on what I am going to say to prepare them ahead of time. I did that last week and, my god, what I read in the Journal the next day.

"The reason I didn't bring you up to my hotel room today, Bob, was because I did not want to take another chance," McCarthy said.

Both McCarthy and Fleming grinned.

New Coach

The new head coach was named All-Pacific Coast in 1938, when Southern Cal defeated Notre Dame, national champs, 13-0; and took Duke in the Rose Bowl, 7-3. He received the Davis Teske award as outstanding athlete at USC that year.

Pro Ball

George played professional ball one year each with the Detroit Lions and Philadelphia Eagles before coaching the Porterville (Calif.) high school team to an undefeated season in 1941. As a naval officer during World War II, George was in the Saipan-Guam campaign and played football with Iowa and St. Mary's pre-flight clubs.

Following his war service, George joined the Southern Cal staff. The Trojans won one Pacific Coast title and were among the top three in the conference for three years while he was there. The 1948 Trojan line, coached by George, was one of the big factors in being mighty Notre Dame and in beating this football power last season.

George is married and lives with his wife and two sons, John Dennis, 8, and Gregory Stephen, 2, at 300 North Avenue in College Station.

Aggie Rodeo Team To Ride at H-SU

Six members of the Aggie Rodeo Club will leave for Abilene Thursday to participate in the annual Hardin-Simmons University intercollegiate rodeo April 26-28, Don Tabb, secretary of the club said today.

The group will consist of Maxie Overstreet, bare back bronc and bull riding; ribbon roping, and bulldogging; Pat Mitchell, calf and ribbon roping; Macky Trickey, bull and bare back bronc riding; Jim Smith, bare back bronc riding; Jim Watson, bull riding; and an alternate who has yet to be selected.

Fish Coach Resting OK After Attack

James "Klepto" Holmes, freshman football coach was resting quite comfortably this morning after suffering a slight heart attack yesterday afternoon.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in Bryan after the attack at 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

Holmes was just recently named freshman football coach to replace Perron Shoemaker who went to the University of Alabama as end coach.
