2 Dead, 12 Hurt As Commie Fire Hits US Ships

Washington, May 23—(AP)—Communist artillery fire from the Korean shore hit the battleship New Jersey and the destroyer Brinkley Bass, killing two men and wounding 12, the Navy said yesterday.

One shell hit each vessel, the Navy said, with "no material damage" to the New Jersey and only "minor damage" to the Bass.

The hits were scored on the New Jersey Monday (Korean time) and on the destroyer Sunday. Both were at anchor bombarding the Red-held port of Wonsan on the Korean East coast when the shells struck. Both slipped anchor and got out of range but the shelling was soon resumed.

The spokesman said that fire from the enemy shore, heretofore rare, has been on the increase for five days.

Any money not claimed by Sunday, June 3 will revert to the Twelfth Man Scholarship Fund, Johnson concluded.
