No bride-to-be we've met recently is any more excited over the wedding presents that come in as bridegroom-to-be Dave Coslett. Daily he receives letters from his fiancée, Marilyn Bowden, in Ballinger telling him of the parties and showers she is given. She sends lists of the presents and Dave proudly displays them claiming, "I now own half interest in an electric toaster," or two more pastel sheets, or another piece of silver, or a pyrex baking dish. . . Petite aburn-haired Marilyn, a former teacher in Miles High School, is being showered abundantly with wedding presents.

We can't help but feel a little sorry for Dave who isn't there to admire each gift as it comes in. Half of the thrill of getting married, according to our own better-half, was in tearing the wrappings from the presents as they arrived. And he always felt cheated when our girl friends gave a party and had us open the presents on the spot.

It was, after all, his wedding, too, he insisted and he should be able to open his share of the packages. . . Dave and Marilyn will be married on August 4 in the Ballinger Methodist Church.

HE HAS SOMETHING THERE. Recently, according to the way the story goes, the Army has been making an attempt to keep together in service brothers who wish it. Not so long ago the "top-kick" was lecturing a group of new recruits. After he had indoctrinated them into Army know-how, he asked "Anybody here who has a brother he'd like to be with?" From the back of the room a hand was raised. "Where is your brother?" the sergeant wanted to know. "He's home," came the reply.

The recruit, the story goes, is still serving on K. P.

A recent visitor to Aggie land was 16-year-old Jane Sken from Los Angeles, California, who came to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Joy and Cleon Bellamy in Hummerly Village. Jane's visit was a short one, but she managed in the time she was here to leave a few Aggie sighing. . . From near Hillsboro comes pretty high-schooler Nancy Porter to visit with her sister, Dorothy Copeland. Attractive brunette Nancy will be a College Station visitor for the next two or three weeks.

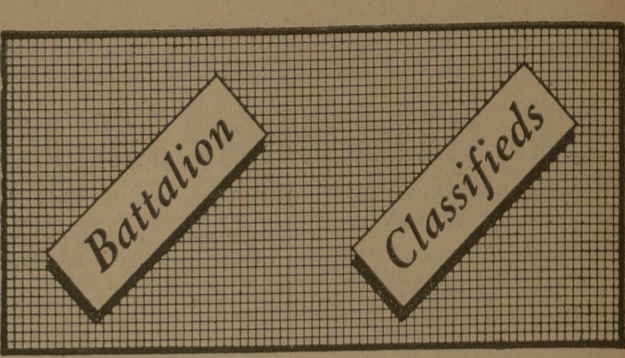

Pretty bride-to-be Frances Simek and her fiance, Henry Engelbrecht had quite a time getting their romance underway. They grew up close together and both graduated from Consolidated High School. Only drawback was that Henry was four years older than Frances and when one is quite young four years is a big, big difference.
