

Latest in Seeds Discussed at Meet

"The 18 seedsmen attending this year's short course will receive up-to-date information on the various strains and kinds of seeds now on the commercial market or which will appear on the market in the near future," said Dr. R. C. Potts, Agronomy professor and chairman of the 1951 Seedmen short course.

The purpose of the course is to offer seedsmen and others interested in seed testing an opportunity to get first hand information regarding seed laws, identification of crop seed, noxious and other weed seed, methods and procedures for making purity analysis and germination tests, seed cleaning, and artificial drying, he said.

Dr. Potts, is in charge of the five day short course for seedsmen, sponsored by the college in cooperation with the Texas Seedsmen's Association and the State Department of Agriculture.

Analyze Cereal Purity

Under the supervision of Miss Wynona Robbins, chief analyst of the State Seed Laboratory at Austin, the group yesterday learned to test the purity of sample cereal crops. The cereals include wheat, oats, barley and rye.

Texas seed laws, which govern commercial seed sales, require rigid tests on samples of the seeds to be sold. The results of these tests must be printed on tags or labels attached to the seeds.

These laws were enacted to make it possible for farmers to buy planting seed which can be relied upon to give favorable returns on seed investment. By doing this, it is hoped to increase the net incomes of farm families.

Instructor Writes Book

Another instructor for the course is professor H. I. Staten of Oklahoma A&M College. Staten has conducted similar courses in Oklahoma and has recently completed a book on farm crops entitled, "Farm Crops: Judging, Identification, and Grading."

Other instructors include J. W. Sorenson, agricultural engineering department, Experiment Station; George C. Warner, agronomist, Ruhmann Grain and Seed Company of Waco; Dr. Clark Harvey, professor, agronomy department; Marvin Wilson, agronomy department; Frank Varva, agronomy department; Dr. M. D. Whitehead, plant physiology and pathology department; Mrs. R. C. Mauldin, Southwestern Seed Service of Waco; Lee Coffey, agronomy department; M. D. Moore, Du Pont Company; and Robbie L. Gill, State Department of Agriculture.

Necessary crop seed for study and identification is being donated by the A&M Texas Company of San Antonio; Eastern Seeds, Inc., Taft; Robert Nicholson Seed Company, of Dallas; and the Ruhmann Grain and Seed Company of Waco.

Aggie Infantrymen A&M's delegation of Infantry cadets at the Fort Hood Summer ROTC camp practically fills the stands for their annual group picture. They have been in training since June 16 at the camp near Temple. Col. H. L. Boatner, former PMS&T at A&M is commander of the Infantry Summer Camp.

Bolton Heads Committee For Hospital Building Fund

A community-wide fund campaign to provide a 65 bed hospital addition to St. Joseph Hospital in Bryan will get under way early in the Fall.

Dr. F. C. Bolton, president-emeritus of A&M, will lead the campaign which has a goal of $200,000. Total cost of the hospital addition will be $800,000.

Dr. R. B. Grant and William R. Carmichael, superintendent of Bryan schools, will serve as vice-chairmen of the campaign committee, of which Dr. Bolton is general chairman.

The Sisters of St. Francis, who operate St. Joseph Hospital will provide $200,000 and have applied to the Texas Department of Health for $400,000 in public funds.

This area has been given a high priority by public health officials because it now has less than half the minimum number of hospital beds necessary for proper care. Since St. Joseph Hospital is run by a non-profit organization, it is eligible for federal funds set aside to build hospitals.

The plan for the addition to St. Joseph Hospital evolved from a two year study by the Inter-City Committee, with Dr. Grant acting as chairman of the hospital sub-committee. The addition is considered the best solution to the community's most urgent need.

Men of High Integrity

"In selecting leaders for this vital project, we sought men of highest integrity and standing who understand both the city and countryside in need of the hospital," said R. B. Butler, chairman of the hospital's Advisory Council. "I consider it a great honor to be chosen for a job as important as this one," commented Chairman Bolton. "It is so clear a duty that no one could refuse even though it is a staggering assignment."

"It will take a lot of enthusiastic people working together to fill our need. All I ask is that every person do his share when called upon to work and contribute. Without this spirit we are powerless. With it, I am confident we'll exceed our goal."

"Time to Take Action"

"When our neighbors have to wait days to get into the hospital, when there isn't room for our women and children, it's time to take action. This is something worth making a sacrifice for."

After making the above statements, Dr. Bolton said his first step would be to complete the appointments of volunteer chairmen for the various necessary committees, including those for Bryan and College Station, for the 18 outlying towns served by the hospital, and for businesses and professions.

tion. Europe wants no more enemy occupation, and her whole cooperation in defense depends heavily upon creation of positions to diminish that threat.

The United States also needs to maintain the line that rearmament of the western world is for the defense of free nations against enslavement.

The United States likewise cannot abandon the position that she is not organizing her own bloc to oppose Russia, but rather is co-operating in collective security for the free world. She can seek military bases from anyone, but she cannot afford to seem to be organizing a separate, non-communist, United Nations.

One side angle on political repercussions possible from an American deal with Franco rests in Latin America, where cultural ties with Spain are strong, and where the U. N. effort to "punish" Franco after the war was largely ignored although not formally repudiated. An American tie with Spain would also be one more bolt in the structure of western hemisphere solidarity.
