

Truman Wants 'To Acquaint Soviets with Peace Aims'

Mr. Truman sent it to Shvernik with a plea that he "acquaint the Soviet people with the peace aims of the American people and government."

No Soviet radio or publication has yet carried the text of the American resolution, as far as can be learned, the State Department said.

President Truman received Shvernik's message Monday afternoon and immediately instructed the State Department to make public the Soviet resolution at once.

Worked Overtime

State Department translators and officials worked overtime tonight to make it available to reporters, page by page. Officials said it would run about 2,500 words.

The resolution adopted by the Russian presidium (parliament) said the Russian people can not understand why the U. S. government has rejected previous suggestions "for the conclusion of a peace pact between the five powers."

The Russian government, it said, has proposed such a move twice. Peace-loving peoples throughout the world, it claimed, have given "support and approval" to the idea of such a pact.

The resolution maintained that Russia has made repeated proposals for the settlement of the Korean war and generally has taken the lead in trying to end the cold war.

The United States has proposed a meeting in Washington this year of the "big four" foreign ministers—the U. S., Russia, England and France—to try to ease East-west tension. But a meeting of deputies in Paris failed to agree on an agenda.

The U. S. has left open an invitation to join in such talks.

"No Aggressive Plans"

The Soviet resolution said: "The Soviet Union has no aggressive plans and does not threaten any country or any people."

"The armed forces of the Soviet Union are not waging war anywhere and are not taking part in any military action. The peoples of the Soviet Union are completely absorbed in executing the tasks of peaceful construction."

In his letter to Mr. Truman, Shvernik said "the Soviet people has no basis for doubting that the American people do not want war."

The Russian president said the Soviet resolution "expresses the feelings of sincere friendship of the peoples of the Soviet Union toward the peoples of the whole world. It speaks of the fact that the Soviet people is unified in its attempts to establish a stable peace and to eliminate the threat of a new war."

Plugging the idea of a five power treaty, Shvernik said: "Such a pact would raise the confidence of all peoples in the preservation of peace and, moreover, would permit the possibility of limiting armaments, of lightening the burden of military expenditures, which lie with all their heaviness on the people's shoulders."

Previous Efforts Blocked

Previous efforts in the United Nations and elsewhere to reduce world armaments and control atomic energy have been blocked by Russian refusal to permit international inspection of the aims production and storehouses.

The paragraph in which Shvernik's letter today first mentioned the idea of a five-power pact read as follows:

"The duty of all peace-loving people consists in steadfastly carrying on a policy of war prevention and preservation of peace, of not permitting arms races, of obtaining limitations of armaments and the prohibition of atomic weapons with the establishment of inspection over the implementation of such a prohibition and of cooperating in the conclusion of a five-power pact for the strengthening of peace."

Nowhere did Shvernik mention the United Nations as a device for maintaining world peace.

The state department has consistently taken the line that all "peace talks" must be carried out within the U. N. It also has insisted that it will not enter an agreement which involves other nations without their being represented at the conference table too.

Shvernik's letter called for "the elimination of any discrimination with regard to the Soviet Union on the part of the American authorities." He did not elaborate as to the "discrimination" he had in mind. But he said, his proposal would be "a most important step" on the road toward peace.

Shares Opinion

"I share your opinion that a desire for peace and brotherhood exists in the hearts of a majority of people," he said adding:

"Therefore, governments which not with words but with deeds are striving to support peace must encourage by every means the peaceful strivings of their people."

The Soviet government, he contended, "hospitably receives" peace communications from any country. This obviously was a reference to President Truman's move in sending the peace resolution passed by the American congress.

Shvernik put other familiar propaganda punches in his letter. The Soviet people, he said, "know well that there exists in some states forces which are striving to unleash a new world war." He did not name these alleged warmongers but said they are seeking new conflicts as a "source of their own enrichment."

He added: "The peoples of the Soviet Union believe that there will be no war if the people take into their own hands preservation of peace and defend it to the end, unmasking the attempts of those forces which have interests in war and which are trying to draw the people into another war."

Aggies Plan Games With M'ville, Gause

Two games are on tap for the Aggie Softballers this week. Tonight, they tangle with the Madisonville All-Stars at Madisonville and Thursday night they play Gause under the lights of the lighted diamond.

Bryan Beard will oppose B. J. Lloyd tonight and will also pitch against Gause Thursday. The Gause hurler was not available this morning.

Tonight's match with Madisonville will be the rubber game for this year as the two teams have met six times previously with the Ags winning all three games played here and Madisonville champs three times at Madisonville.

The game with Gause will be the second with that outfit this year, the Aggies having been defeated by them in a tournament earlier this summer.

Red's Apology Not Enough--Ridgway

Tokyo, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Gen. Matthew S. Ridgway told the Reds today Korean cease-fire talks will not be resumed until they assure him they will keep their Kaesong neutrality agreement.

The Allied supreme commander acknowledged the Red apology for last Saturday's violation of the neutral zone. Then he told them that wasn't enough.

Strongly-Worded Message

In a strongly worded message to the two Red commanders in Korea, Ridgway said he needed new assurances that Communists will keep their word.

Only then, he said, will he send his five negotiators back to Kaesong to resume negotiations.

Ridgway, who has twice broken off talks because armed Red troops violated the neutral area, said he didn't think the appearance of a company of heavily armed Communists last Saturday was an "accident," as the Reds stated.

He told Korean Gen. Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-Huai "it must be clearly understood that my acceptance of a resumption of the armistice talks is conditional on complete compliance with your guarantees of neutralization of the Kaesong area.

Any further failure in this regard will be interpreted as a deliberate move on your part to terminate the armistice negotiations.

"I await your acceptance of this condition."

Marched Through Kaesong

A company of armed Red soldiers had marched through the Kaesong neutral zone while the armistice conference was underway Saturday. Because of this, Ridgway abruptly broke off the conference Sunday.

Generals Kim and Peng replied Monday that the presence of the troops was "a mistake and an accident."

Their joint statement, as broadcast by the Chinese Peiping radio, referred to it as "a small incident" and accepted General Ridgway's conditions for resumption of the talks.

Ridgway's conditions were a "satisfactory explanation of this violation and assurance of non-recurrence."

Keane Needs 500 Pounds To Win Bet

Harlingen, Tex., Aug. 7.—(AP)—It looked today like Ed (Boll Weevil) Keane would win his bet.

He picked 229 pounds of cotton in 11 hours and 20 minutes Monday. Now he needs less than 500 pounds to complete the 1,450-pound bale he boasted he could pluck in a week.

He's got three more days to pick the 500 pounds.

His four day total is 1,005 pounds.

Rain which kept the flippant disc jockey from the fields three days last week was termed an "act of God" by contest judges. They allowed him three extra days.

Onlookers today tried to speed Keane up by reminding him the winner of a cotton picking contest in nearby San Benito Saturday picked 97 pounds in 90 minutes.

"A steady pull for the long haul is the gait for me," he puffed in Texas' sizzling weather.

The slender mass of sore muscles picked 129 pounds by noon Monday in his fifth day in the field. Saturday he picked 141 pounds.

Keane is trying to prove a boast made over coffee to a group of valley cotton people. If he wins he will get more than $2,000 in prizes.

Clean-up Drive Success Says Baty

Commenting on the community-wide clean-up campaign for College Station which ended Saturday, J. B. Baty, public health chairman for the Chamber of Commerce and Development Association said all citizens carried out the drive in fine order.

During the drive, city trucks picked up 25 loads of trash and rubbish weighing around 100 tons, according to L. P. Dulaney, utilities supervisor.

The clean-up drive is an annual affair sponsored by the City of College Station and the Chamber of Commerce and Development Association.

Benefit Tilt Slated For Sports Park

A benefit baseball game will be played at 8 tomorrow night in Sports Park between the Texas Monarchs of Hearne and the Grand Prize Brewers of Houston.

The ball game between the two Negro teams is being played to help defray the burial expenses of Ray Grant, Hearne shortstop from Gause who was fatally injured in an unavoidable accident during a recent meeting of the two teams.

The two teams have met four times previously with each team winning two games.

Admission for the 8 p. m. tilt is 50 cents.

Hot Story Puts Cold Slash In Prices of Anti-Freeze

In a move that should warm the cockles of any motorist's heart, the Office of Price Stabilization has issued a hot news story on a chilly subject:

The price of anti-freeze has been frozen. Smack in the middle of 100-degree, plus, weather, the Houston district OPS has announced that dollars-and-cents ceilings have been placed on three standard types of anti-freeze. The new ceilings apply to retail sales and sales to retail dealers.

Details of the new regulation, which went into effect August 6 in all the sweltering 38 Southeast Texas counties of the Houston OPS district, are given in Ceiling Price Regulation 57.

Net result of the anti-freeze is that the motorist now (in August) pays the same price for his car's anti-freeze as he did on January 26, 1951.

The new regulation also provides that if good ol' Joe down at the gas station filled the radiator with anti-freeze for you last January, he can fill it again now—but can't charge extra for the service. The fill-up service is under the retail ceiling price regulation, too.

That news should add an extra fillup to your purchase of frozen anti-freeze in August.

Little American League Flag Goes to 7-Up Tigers

The Seven-Up Tigers are the winners of the Little American League pennant by virtue of their win Saturday afternoon from the South Side Food Market Red Sox, 7-5.

Sox had a 15-6 lead after four innings but the Bengals roared back to tie up the game and cause the two teams to have to play again Saturday.

Gordon Gregg received credit for the win Saturday, his second decision in three days as the also gained credit for the first game of the two-out-of-three series on Thursday afternoon.

Campise, as usual, was instrumental in all his teams wins with his extraordinary hitting and pitching.

Gregg pitched five innings of the Saturday tilt with Joe Campise playing fireman in the sixth. The two hurlers allowed eight hits, the same number the Tigers got off two Sox hurlers, Bobby Potts and Wayne Thompson.

Potts, who went five innings, was the loser as the Bengals went ahead 3-0 in the fourth only to see the Sox tally five in the fifth to go in the lead 5-3.

The Tigers were not to be denied though, as they roared back with four more in the bottom of the fifth to put the game on ice and gain the right to meet the Conway Phillies in the Little League World Series.

Friday afternoon the two teams battled to a 15-15 draw back that was called at the end of the fifth because of darkness. The Red

Brickmen Prolong Protest Walk-out

Two weeks have elapsed since the eight bricklayers employed by Fisher Construction Company of Houston walked out leaving work on the main stairway and in the basement of the new Administration Building incomplete.

Oscar E. Telg, construction engineer said the workers could be absent another month and a half without seriously affecting the scheduled work program.

The bricklayers, who are presently receiving $2.87½ per hour, joined a 17 county protest strike against the Wage Stabilization Board's delay in acting on a union's request for a 15-cent an hour wage increase. The bricklayers are now seeking a 25-cent an hour raise.

Although the WSB took up the bricklayers case two weeks ago today, no action has been reported.
