

Allies Hurl Charges At Red Actions

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 22—(AP)—The Allies accused the Communists today of making "a universal symbol of bad faith" out of Kaesong, site of Korean war truce talks.

The charge was broadcast after a shirt-sleeved subcommittee held its sixth session in Kaesong without sign of breaking the deadlock over where to draw an armistice line across Korea.

Meets Again Today

The subcommittee schedules another try for Thursday.

Armistice negotiations were complicated by a dispute over latest Red charges that United Nations forces violated the Kaesong neutrality zone.

The "voice of the United Nations command," broadcast from Tokyo to Korea, said the "Communist charges border on the ridiculous."

The broadcast asked:

"Why are the United Nations delegates assigned to an armistice mission constantly forced to divert their attention to the question of armed personnel in the conference area?"

The broadcast traced the history of incidents within the neutral zone and answered its own question:

To Intimidate Negotiations

"It is now quite obvious that Kaesong was picked (by the Communists as a negotiating site) in order to intimidate the UNC (United Nations Command) delegates by a show of force."

"That failing, the conferences could be stalemated with a series of side issues blocking the main discussions."

There was no suggestion from any quarter that progress had been made toward settling the main issue.

Both sides were depicted as still holding out for their original demands on where to create a buffer zone. The U.N. wants it along the battle line; the Reds along the 38th parallel. Most of the front is north of 38.

It was authoritatively reported that Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, received no new instructions from U. N. Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway during a flying visit to Tokyo. Joy returned to Munsan Tuesday.

Responsible quarters said the U.N. position remained unchanged.

"Obdurate Political Demands"

Release from U.N. command advance headquarters pictured the Reds as "obdurate in their politically tainted demands" and "inscrutable in presenting them." It said the Communists were "immune to the 'military logic' of the Allied command."

The statement appeared to support the belief that the subcommittee has made no progress on the buffer zone issue which stumped the full five-man truce teams for three weeks.

Air Force Maj. Gen. L. C. Graigie replaced Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke for the second time on the two-man Allied subcommittee for Wednesday's two-hour and ten-minute meeting.

Craigie, with South Korean Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, a member of the full U.N. delegation, had accompanied Joy to Tokyo for the talk with Ridgway.

South Koreans Capture Hill With Aid of Artillery Barrage

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 22—(AP)—South Korean infantrymen, attacking behind the most concentrated sustained artillery barrage of the Korean war, captured a dominating hill in rugged Eastern Korea today.

From its crest the South Koreans "look down the throats" of Communists on other hills north of Yangju, Associated Press correspondent George A. McArthur reported.

Seized Other Hills

South Koreans seized two other hills on the Eastern front, recapturing one from counterattacking Reds. Communist forces clung to three other Eastern ridges they had seized in fierce counterattacks Tuesday.

A briefing officer estimated Reds lost about 2,000 men in five days of fighting north and northwest of Yangju.

All heavy fighting was along the Eastern front. Planes and warships joined United Nations artillery in supporting Republic of Korea (ROK) infantrymen.

The U. S. Cruiser Toledo and Destroyer Wedderburn hit "16 large groups of Red soldiers" along the East coast with 23,000 pounds of high explosives, the Navy reported.

Planes Raze Bridges

Mustang fighter planes fire-bombed and strafed Red ridges. Most of the 450 sorties flown by Fifth Air Force pilots Tuesday through rain showers and under clouds concentrated on hitting intensified Red efforts to resupply their front lines.

Shooting star jets and thunderjets ripped rail lines in Western and Central Korea. B-26 bombers and marine planes concentrated on highways, where 2,300 trucks were sighted.

It was another day of unusually heavy traffic. The air force described it as a "massive motor truck resupply effort."

From the East-Central front correspondent McArthur reported massed allied guns, supporting ROK infantrymen in a four and one-half day attack, fired 12,000 rounds of high explosives. Mortars and the high velocity guns of tanks added to the barrage.

"Reds Couldn't Evacuate"

"No unit ever had that much fire support," the division commander said. "The Reds couldn't evacuate. They couldn't resupply. They couldn't do anything."

"I don't think there's one damn man up there."

The Communists had an estimated 1,000 men in the hill stronghold when the attack started.

McArthur reported allied artillery was zeroed in on the ridge line itself, and on the ridges and valleys up which the North Koreans had to move supplies and evacuate wounded. The division commander said it was all highly registered, coordinated fire.

Animal Industries Building Gets Repair

Workers of the B & C U Department began last week to repair the Animal Industries lecture room.

The interior of the room is being repainted and inflorescent lights are to be installed. A new projection screen is to be installed and the shades are being rearranged so that films and slides may be shown to classes.

Highest Graduate Enrollment Noted

The highest enrollment in any term of the second semester of the summer graduate school at A&M, 506, was recorded today.

The enrollment of 506, Dean Ide P. Trotter of the school says, "is 100 higher than at the same time in 1950. It is the highest in any second summer term of the graduates school. Only the first summer term of 1950 and the fall semester of 1949-50 have ever shown a higher enrollment. It is 10 times the average graduate enrollment of the spring and fall semesters of 1944-45," the dean points out.

There are 17 foreign students in the summer graduate school representing 10 foreign countries.

Big Freshman Class to Require 15 Companies

The death Sunday in Lubbock of Judge John W. Goodwin leaves only one other member of the first enrolling class in 1876 of A&M. Louis A. Cerf of New York City is now the only living member of the original class.

The kindly Brownwood barrister enrolled in the first class, from Brownwood. He spent a year at the college and was captain of Company B.

Practiced Law

Judge Goodwin practiced law at Brownwood practically all of his life. The 89-year-old judge spent several years as counselor for the State Banking Department and lived in Austin (1921-28) during his connection with the state office.

He was active until he died, and for the past few years lived at Lubbock. He never lost interest in A&M and last year was guest in honor at the college began its 75th anniversary, at ceremonies, at which Gov. Allan Shivers was the principal speaker. Judge Goodwin was seated on the speaker's stand.

Judge Goodwin received an ovation from the thousands when he was introduced and tears ran down his cheeks. He stood, straight as an arrow, with Pres. M. T. Harrington, Governor Shivers and Charles McGill, an entering freshman student from Monahans.

Do you have Series E Defense Bonds coming due this year?

Here's a money-earning opportunity for you!

Now—a new law lets your maturing Series E Bonds go on earning for you ten years longer! And you don't have to do a thing!

ARE YOU one of those patriotic citizens who began buying—and holding—U.S. Series E Bonds back in 1941? Now your government is going to reward your faith with a chance for your bonds to earn extra money—over and above what you'd expected!

According to the bill passed by Congress last spring, it is now possible for your U. S. Series E Bonds to continue earning for ten years longer than was originally planned. For example, a Series E Bond which cost you $18.75 in 1941 will pay you $25 in 1951. But if you hold that bond ten extra years, until 1961, it will pay you $33.33, an average interest of 2.9%.

And there is nothing for you, as a bond holder, to do. You simply keep your bonds as you have been keeping them.

You may still redeem any Series E Bond at any time after you've owned it for sixty days. (The tables on this page show what you can get for it.) But, unless you really need the cash you're much better off to hold your bonds. Cash is too easily spent on nonessential things. And if you lose or accidentally destroy it, you're out that much money. But when you have cash in Defense Bonds, you're more apt to hold on to it. And if your bonds are lost or destroyed, the Treasury will replace them for you at no cost.

The cash you have in bond savings is safe and solid; and it's steadily growing toward a sum big enough to buy a dream—something really worth while—a home, a business, a retirement fund, an education for your children.

So if you have bonds coming due, take advantage of this new offer—just sit back and let them go on making money. Meanwhile keep adding to your savings by buying more U. S. Defense Bonds regularly—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank.

If you want to be paid your interest as current income—The new law also allows you to exchange your Series E Bonds, in blocks of $500 or more, for Special Series G Bonds which pay interest semiannually at the rate of 2 3/4% per year. For full details, ask at any Federal Reserve Bank or Branch.

Look how your maturing bonds go on earning under the new law!
