

A&M Methodist Open New Sanctuary

Opening service in the A&M Methodist Church's new Sanctuary will be held this Sunday at 11 a. m. with Rev. James F. Jackson conducting the service.

This will be the first of two "openings" which the church will have with the formal and statewide opening coming on November 11. Regular services are to be held in the church during Sunday.

Rev. Jackson's sermon will be "Our Church Speaks."

At the scheduled statewide opening, gifts from throughout the state and local area will be recognized, Rev. Jackson said, but Sunday's service is set primarily for the convenience of the A&M students and the local congregation.

The A&M Methodist Church was first organized in 1919 when the First Methodist Church of Bryan, with Rev. P. T. Ramsey as pastor, appropriated $500 for its start. In 1920, Rev. King Vivian became the first pastor, and the present tabernacle was built in 1923 under the ministry of Rev. Jesse Thompson.

A campaign was started in 1939 by both the local church and the Methodist Student Organization of Texas, the Wesley Foundation, to provide funds for the construction of a permanent plant.

Rev. James Carlin and Rev. Glen Flinn were the leaders in the campaign.

The building plans set forth by the joint-groups were for the construction of a student center, yet to be constructed; an education building which was completed and occupied in 1948; and the Sanctuary which has now been completed at a cost of $175,000.

Cost of the church plant and grounds represents an investment of about $325,000.

Several charter members of the church will be on hand for the first service among whom are A. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Burkhalter, and Miss Clarice Hassell.

Ministers who have served the local church since its organization include King Vivian, Jesse Thompson, R. L. Jackson, James Carlin, Walton Gardner, R. C. Terry, and the present minister James F. Jackson. Directors of student work have been Burton Smith, Gene Brackney, Carlos Davis, Asbury Lenox, Travis Baker, and Bob Sneed.

New York, Sept. 13—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, suddenly turned killer by blood streaming from his left eye, won back his world middleweight title from Britain's Randy Turpin last night on a technical knockout with a violent attack that forced referee Ruby Goldstein to stop the fight at 2:52 of the tenth round.

Building Churches Routine For Methodist Minister

Building churches isn't a new job for the Rev. James F. Jackson, minister of the A&M Methodist Church. Sunday, the new addition to the local church will be open.

It was while he lived in Georgia and was sent to be minister at the Methodist Church in Eastman, Ga., that Mr. Jackson first started on the road of building churches. At that time it was a rebuilding job, for the original church had burned. He remained there for two and a half years.

"Ours is a two fold purpose in College Station," Mr. Jackson said when he first came to A&M. "We are here to serve the church, the constituency, and the members of the church, and through the interested members of this church—to serve the A&M College."

It was without question that Mr. Jackson would step into the ministry. His father and his father's father were both ministers as was his father's brother. The father has carried on services for over fifty-three years.

Having come to College Station in the spring of 1947, Mr. Jackson has seen with the aid of the Wesley foundation complete it's first step in their local building program. Born the fourth of five children in Cordele, Georgia in 1908, Mr. Jackson attended various schools in the Peach State and received his high school diploma at Bainbridge, Ga. After working as a salesman and attending the University of Oglethorpe, Georgia, for a short time, he decided to enter the ministry. While attending Mercy College also in Georgia, he acted as a student minister for several churches. He received his BA with a major in Christianity in 1934.

He began work on his master's degree at Mercy, but later trans- (See METHODIST, Page 5)

Construction got underway officially when President Emeritus F. C. Bolton dug the first spade full of earth on the site of the new A&M Methodist Church's new sanctuary. Under construction for over a year the Methodists will have their first chance to worship in the new building Sunday. It is the second step in a proposed three part plan. The first part, the educational building, has been in operation several years. The final part will be a student center, which will be started later. On the right is the new building and on the left is an artist idea of what the new three unit church will look like.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 22...THE WOODPECKER

Woodrow almost bit off more than he could chew when he tackled the cigarette tests! But he pecked away 'til he smoked out the truth: Such an important item as mildness can't be tossed off in a fleeting second! A "swift sniff" or a "perfunctory puff" proves practically nothing! He, like millions of smokers, found one test that doesn't leave you up a tree.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness tests...

Camel leads all other brands by billions
