

Light But Willing Tigers Pack Punch

By ED HOLDER
BATTALION SPORTS WRITER

The light and inexperienced Tigers of A&M Consolidated High School will greet the heavy and fast charging line of Cypress Fairbanks in the Consolidated Stadium tomorrow night at 8.

But despite the lack of experience and weight on the Tiger eleven, the visitors will find them more than a tough team to beat.

Coach O. V. Chafin, mentor of the Consolidated squad, paced the defensive team through rough workouts this week, confident that the offensive players were shaping up "better than ever."

Two seniors on the scrappy little offense, both in the backfield, will pose a definite threat to any one they run against.

Jerry Leighton, all district first-team man on the 1950 squad, is weighing in at 140, and is the most likely to succeed in crossing the Cypress chalk line.

"He's good . . . plenty good," was the comment leveled at Jerry by Coach Chafin. "He will start the game at right half, and I look for him to complete the season with even more honors than he brought home last year," he added.

The other senior runs fullback and carries 155 pounds. Gayle

Klippel appears to be the powerhouse for the Tigers, and is a returning letterman from the 1950 eleven where he rated a position on the second all-district team.

Klippel has been showing improvement and should at least rate a position on the all-district team this year.

Fred Anderson, a small but fast sophomore, is quarterbacking for Consolidated. Anderson is good despite the handicap of weighing only 120 pounds and having little grid experience.

Averaging up the weight situation, the defensive team tips the scales with 155 pounds, while the lighter and faster offensive team comes to a very light 135 pounds.

The Tigers have played two games to date and stand with an even record of one win for one loss. The win was over Kosse High School in the opener of the year, 52-0, while the loss went to Madisonville's powerhouse squad, 14-13.

To sum it up, the Tiger's offensive line is light but good, in that they make up for their lightness and inexperience with their ever constant hustle and chatter. However the offensive backfield is more experienced and also has the fire like the rest of the squad.

The defensive team will be the weakspot of Chafin's men, but some improvement has been shown in the last few workouts. With a minimum of injuries, Consolidated should end the season with a 7 win and 3 loss record, and with added improvement in the defensive team, it will be even better.

Predictions

for the Spartans are a three touchdown favorite. Add one more touchdown, Michigan State to win 35-6.

South of the Mason-Dixon line two major battles are scheduled. While most of the Southeastern teams are playing weak sisters the Southern conference starts off with a bang. Feature game pits the Wolfpack of North Carolina State against their traditional rivals the Tarheels of North Carolina U.

Big things are expected at Chapel Hill this year, and stars Skeet Hester, Bud Wallace and Bob Gantt should be too much for NCS, 14-7.

Duke's Blue Devils will not show up so good on the field as they look on paper against South Carolina. In fact, the Gamecocks sparked by brilliant Steve Wadial may come close to upsetting the Blue Devils. Here is a very shaky vote for Duke, 14-13.

Out on the Pacific coast, Southern Cal to murder Washington State, 33-0; Stanford to ease past Oregon 26-10; California's all-American candidates fullback Johnny Olsewski and Les Richter, guard, should prove to be too much for the Broncos, 17-7.

Captain of the Uclans, Mitchell is the hardest hitting tackle on the Pacific Coast league and plays both off and defense. Only six feet tall, he pushes the scales at 230.

Latin American Soccer Club Sets Heavy Schedule Again

By CHUCK NEIGHBORS

Saturday afternoon at 2:30, the All-American, Latin-American team that is, soccer team will hold their organizational meeting in Bizzel Hall.

The boys from south-of-the-border have been playing their respective national sport every Fall for several years.

There are some eleven or twelve countries represented by the members of the team. Peru, Costa Rica, Brazil, Colombia, Paraguay, Bolivia, Mexico, Guatemala, Venezuela, Argentina, and Nicaragua, are some of the nations the team members name as home.

Last year, the A&M Soccer team, although not officially a member of the A&M Athletic Department, played seven games and won six while losing just one, and that to TU.

They lost the TU game by a 1-0 score, beat Chance-Vought twice, and overran Allen Academy.

Soccer does not enjoy much popularity in the southern United States, but in the north-east, in high schools, prep schools, and colleges, it has a fairly large following.

The game is played with league status in the British Isles, and all over Europe and South America. Its name, "soccer", is an American one, its international name being "football."

Mr. Paul M. Andrews, of the Department of Physical Education is unofficial sponsor of the Aggie soccer team and is "expecting some great play of the boys this Fall."

A soccer team consists of eleven men, four men in the backfield, and seven on the line. At present the team hasn't scheduled their lineup for the coming season.

Members of the team, grouped according to country, are as follows:

Argentina, G. Ducos; Bolivia, H. Otero; Brazil, J. W. Cunningham; Colombia, E. Palom; Costa Rica, A. Hidalgo; Guatemala, J. Penedo; Mexico, J. Ortiz; Nicaragua, G. Cardenas; Paraguay, C. Molina; Paraguay, G. Arce; Peru, J. Letts, F. Uranga, J. Barragan; Salvador, M. Sol; Venezuela, J. Dominguez, R. Nunez.

This year, the soccer team plans to play Oklahoma A&M in Stillwater.

Last Spring You Saw This Slogan in Your Battalion

Each One Reach One

WHAT IT MEANT was for each of you students who was in school at the time, to spread the word about A&M to your friends back home who were high school seniors. We urged you to give your friends an opportunity to share in a good thing—A&M. We urged you to tell them about the advantages of receiving their education at Aggieland. We wanted you to get across to them the traditions of scholarship and comradeship that characterize A&M.

And You Did!

IN FACT, you did such a good job that A&M has one of the largest freshman classes in its history, and total enrollment is almost that of last year, while other schools are showing an average decline in enrollment of 11 percent.

THAT'S GOOD WORK, Aggies, in any man's language. And we're proud of you . . . very proud.

Now Another Job—

AND NOW we have another job, another mission to accomplish. Watch The Battalion for announcement of our next objective and some ideas on how to reach it.

Aggies Set for Bruins, 'Ready to Go'--George

By BOB SELLECK
BATTALION SPORTS NEWS EDITOR

"We're in good shape both physically and mentally," explained Head Coach Ray George immediately following their last workout under the lights of Kyle Field.

"They are in a serious frame of mind and seem to understand the importance of this first game. UCLA has a big and fast club," continued George. "They will be tough."

The Cadets had their usual afternoon workout postponed until 7 last night. They will workout again immediately upon arrival in California.

This will be the opening game for both clubs in what promises to be a banner year for college football.

Fly To Los Angeles

The Aggie squad is scheduled to fly into Los Angeles Thursday (September 20) and will bunk at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena. There workout will begin right after their arrival at 2 p. m. (3 p. m. CST).

The kickoff is set for 8:30 p. m. (9:30 CST) with 60,000 or more expected to be on hand for the first battle between these two clubs since the 1940 contest.

This game is not expected to be quite as tight as the 7-0 Aggie victory scored in the initial appearance of the two grid elevens.

Sparked by All-American candidates on both teams, the Coliseum opener should be wide open with more scoring than usually expected from an early season game.

During their stay in California the Aggies will be given a little entertainment after the business of the football game is settled. They will be taken through a tour of Paramount Studios Saturday morning and will eat dinner at the studio.

That night the Aggies will see the Southern California-Washington State game. The contest between the two Pacific Coast clubs is expected to be close.

Saturday night the Los Angeles A&M Club will entertain the invading Aggies with a party.

The A&M squad will leave California early Sunday morning and arrive in College Station sometime Sunday afternoon.

Six Texas Stations To Air A&M Game

Followers of the Aggies will be able to listen to the Aggies battle the UCLA Bruins Friday as six Texas radio stations will carry the game starting at 9:20 p. m. CST.

The contest will be aired over KORA, Bryan; WFAA-WBAP, Dallas-Fort Worth; WOAI, San Antonio; KPRC, Houston; KVAL, Brownsville; and KRIS, Corpus Christi.

Graziano Stages Comeback in Tenth

Detroit, Sept. 20—(AP)—Roughhouse Rocky Graziano stopped Tony Janiro with only a few seconds of their scheduled 10-round televised battle remaining. Rocky's smashing victory after a slow start put him in line for a shot at the middleweight crown he once held.

Graziano outweighed his 154½ pound foe by six pounds in the hard punching battle.
