

Newcomers Hold First Meeting

By PAT MORLEY
BATTALION WOMAN'S EDITOR

Mrs. H. W. Barlow and Mrs. Frank Anderson, sponsors of the Newcomers Club, were hostesses, with Mrs. Gibb Gilchrist, in the Gilchrist home for a lawn party Wednesday afternoon. Special guest for the club's first Fall meeting was Mrs. M. T. Harrington, the wife of the president of A&M. These ladies helped to serve approximately 125 guests, who called between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m.

Mrs. S. T. Keim, program chairman, greeted the guests who were then registered and given identification tags by club secretary, Mrs. William LeRoy. A cordial welcome was extended newcomers to the club by the hostesses and officers. The purpose of the Newcomers Club is to enable first, second, and third year College staff members to become acquainted and feel at home at A&M. Mrs. Melvin Rotsch is president; Mrs. E. F. Sauer, secretary; Mrs. H. G. Eldridge is club reporter. Mrs. J. B. Paige is social chairman, and Mrs. S. T. Keim is the program chairman. The courtesy committee is headed by Mrs. H. L. Hornbeak.

At Wednesday's lawn party guests were served punch and cookies from a table laid with a white cover and decorated with a floral centerpiece.

Lawn chairs were arranged for the program of the afternoon. Mrs. Keim introduced the speaker, Mrs. R. P. Marsteller, who spoke about "The A&M of Old." Well-qualified to recall to mind the campus in the early part of the century, young-looking and vivacious Mrs. Marsteller has lived on the A&M campus since her parents brought her here when she was only four months old. She is the daughter of Dr. C. P. Fountain, who was the Head of the English Department at the turn of the century. Today, she is the wife of the man who was the Dean of the School

Consolidated Year Books Issued Friday

Eighty-five of the 100 copies published of "The Tiger-land," A & M Consolidated High School yearbook, were distributed in an assembly held in the CHS gymnasium Friday at 10 a. m.

Miss Sara Puddy, assistant editor of the 1950-51 annual, gave a speech of dedication to Col. R. J. Dunn, Col. Dunn, director of the CHS band, directed the A&M band for a number of years before he undertook his present position with the High School.

Faculty sponsor of "The Tiger-land" of 1951 was Mrs. A. R. Orr. Editor Dick Weick was a June graduate of CHS, and is enrolled this Fall as a freshman at A&M.

Miss Puddy, assistant editor, is the daughter of Thomas G. Puddy, manager of Guion Hall. She will be the editor of the 1951-52 yearbook, and is now a senior student.

Other staff members were Helene Boatner, Mary Frances Bond, Janice Hildebrand, Liz Miller, Glenda Brown, Dorothy Spriggs, Wanda Goodwin, Judy Oden, Jack Burchard, Frank Vaden, Jerry Leighton, and Ross Chamberlain.

The fifteen extra copies of the book were sold in the principal's office immediately following the assembly.

Coke

the City Hotel it became obvious that many of Coke's staunchest supporters were still hesitant about challenging such well-armed authority.

Not so, Coke. His mind had been made up when he left Waco. Judge Kitrell writes that a few days before, when Coke visited him in Galveston.

I expressed to him the fear that he was going to have trouble, he replied with the deliberation of speech, and his unmistakable and characteristic lisp: "You come to Austin in about two weeks and I will be in the Governor's office."

"The fourth installment of this story tells about Coke's stormy few days in the office of the governor and will be run Tuesday."

Laughter And Applause To Greet Kiwanis Kapers

The walls of A&M Consolidated School gymnasium will rock to alternate laughter and applause on October 15 when the College Station Kiwanis Club puts on its first annual edition of Kiwanis Kapers.

That is the hopeful prediction of Director C. G. Esten as he issued his first call for acts and actors.

"We want anyone and everyone in the community, and on the campus, who has a specialty or an act to try out for this show," Esten said. "The talent search is not limited to Kiwanians—the club is sponsoring the show but the cast is wide open.

"Singers, magicians, dancers, strip-tease artists, anything and everything and what-have-you is welcome and will be considered. If you think you have something that others might want to see, call me or see me," he concluded.

Kiwanis Kapers is planned as a community entertainment, emphasized Kiwanis President A. C. Magee.

"It's all for fun—fun for the cast and fun for the audience, and it's community wide. We want folks from Bryan and from the air base to come and enjoy the evening with us, and to contribute their talents to the show."

J. S. Mogford, who conceived the nationally-famous Cotton Pageant and built it to major proportions, has been named general chairman for the Kiwanis production.

Committees appointed by Mogford include: music, W. M. "Bill" Turner; properties, R. M. Wingren; ticket sales, J. C. McNeely; stage ratings, J. J. Longley; house and and loud speakers, R. R. Lyle; deco- ushering, D. R. Davis; ticket takers and finance, Calvin Guest; Programs, J. B. Hervey; publicity, D. D. Burchard, Frank Davis.

Schedule of rehearsal dates and other committee appointments will be announced within the next few days, the general chairman said.

Stamp Collectors Meet Tuesday Nite

All stamp collectors are urged to meet with the Brycol Philatelic Society in room 2D of the MSC tomorrow night at 7, S. R. Wright, secretary of the group, said.

If enough students are interested in the hobby, the MSC will sponsor a student philatelic club. Refreshments will be served at the meeting tomorrow night.

Newcomers

Journalism

liant minds who were undependent," Whitmore commented.

Bill Streich, also of the Battalion, told the listeners some of the comparisons which might be drawn between the city newspaper and the high school paper. The title of his talk was "Covering the Beat."

Next on the program was D. D. Burchard, head of the journalism department, who explained some of the essentials in writing a good news story.

After the noon luncheon, the students and teachers heard talks by Earl Newsom and Otis Miller, both of the journalism faculty; Newsom's subject was "Design and Makeup of the Newspaper," while Miller explained procedures to use in writing features and editorials.

The last talk on the program was given by Howard Berry, director of the Photo and Visual Aid Laboratory, who spoke on "What Makes a Good Photograph."

At the close of the meeting, teachers gathered for an advisor's conference while students were conducted on a tour of the A&M Press and Student Publications by members of the Battalion staff.

Texas 7, Kentucky 6

Vito Parilli's ball-handling was superb, but his passes and the Memorial Jinx rode against him, as the Longhorns successfully defended the tradition of winning their opening games on their home field.

A Kentucky fiscue by point-after-touchdown holder Herb Hunt proved to be the margin, as Texas won 7-6.

The 1950 Southwest conference champions moved down to the 13 on four plays on a ground offensive led by fleet halfbacks Gib Dawson and Don Barton, then scored on a pitch by quarterback T. Jones to Barton. Dawson converted to furnish the all-important extra point.
