

Board to Hold First Meeting To Let Bids

The board of directors of the A&M College System will hold its first meeting of the new school term on the A&M campus Saturday Oct. 6 at 9 a. m. in the board of directors meeting room.

A report by President E. B. Evans of Prairie View A&M on its 75th year will be heard and action will be taken on bids for seven buildings at A&M.

Bids to be acted on include those for an engineering building, the Texas Engineering Library, agronomy field laboratory, horticulture, hut house and three quonset buildings for the poultry husbandry and range and forestry departments.

Action also is to be taken on contract bids for a shop building at Tarleton State College, Stephenville.

The board will consider appropriations for the paving now going on under the football stadium.

Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist will present the annual report on the accomplishments of the A&M College System for the year 1950-51.

Iran's Premier Weeps; British Dispute Unfair

Tehran, Iran, Oct. 4.—(AP) Premier Mohammed Mossadegh wept today as he told the Majlis (Lower House of Parliament) that the British Government had no right to bring the Iranian oil dispute up before the U.N. Security Council.

Asserting that the oil nationalization problem was an internal dispute with the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, Mossadegh told the deputies he will leave Sunday to argue Iran's case in the U.N.

Mossadegh wiped away tears as he said "I am sure that on this trip I will enjoy the prayers and support of the Iranian people, and I am sure that Almighty God will help me and the nation."

Premier Heads Delegation
The premier will head the delegation which includes four members of the parliamentary oil board—the deputies Allahyar Saleh and Ali Shavegan, and the senators Ahmed Matin Daferi, and Morteza Bayatt.

Mossadegh turned down a suggestion by a deputy that the Majlis adopt a special resolution giving him full authority before the security council. He said a vote was unnecessary since he would be counseled by the four oil board members.

Council Meets
The security council met in New York last Monday at the urging of Britain. Over Russian and Yugoslav objection, it voted to consider Britain's complaint that Iran's expulsion of British technicians after the nationalization threatened world peace.

But the Iranian delegate obtained a postponement until Oct. 11 to allow the premier to reach New York to argue the case.

A government spokesman said Mossadegh planned to spend most of his time in a hospital, under the care of his physician-son, Dr. Gholam Hossein Mossadegh, when not attending security council sessions.

Pipe Smoking Contest Has Many Different Sections

By FRANK SCOTT
BATTALION STAFF WRITER

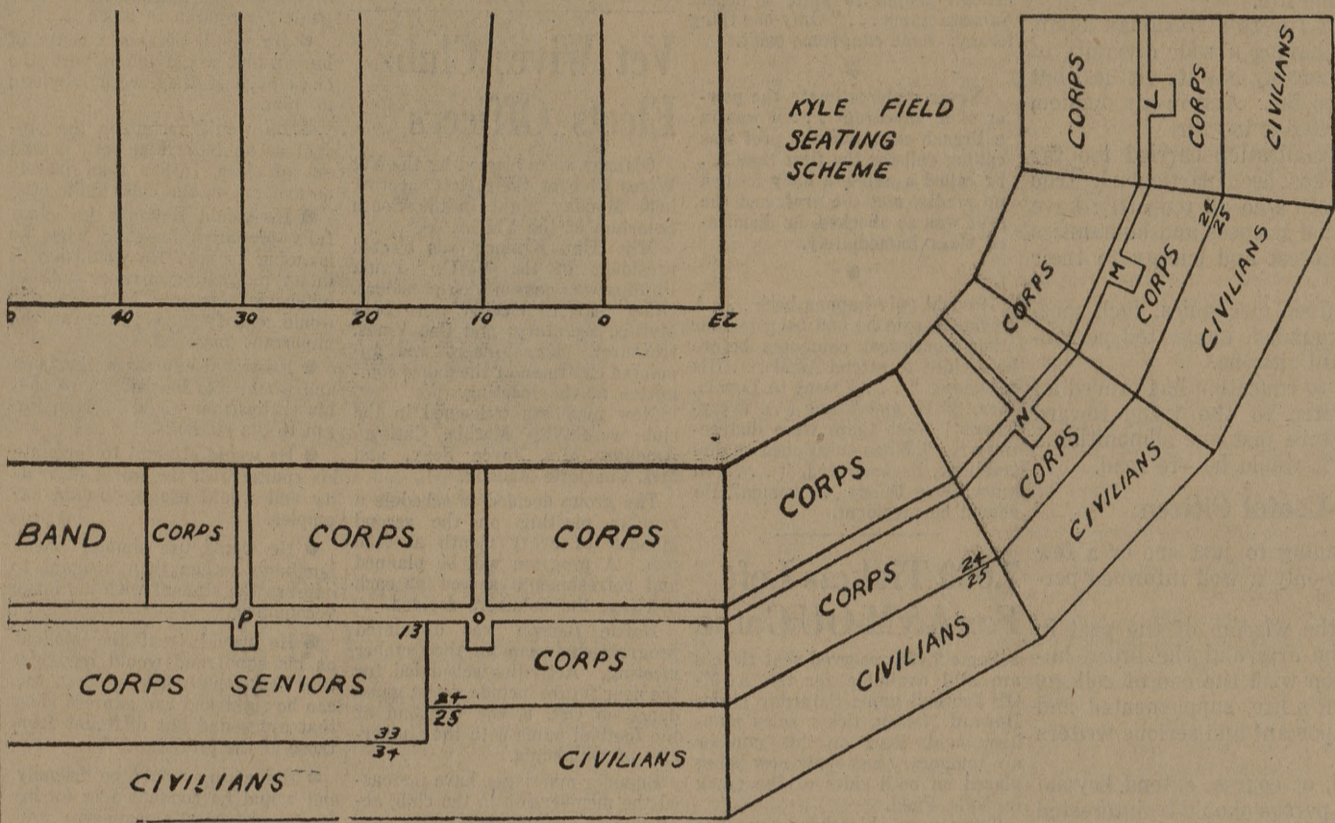

Dig out your briars, stokers and corncocks and get those lungs in good condition. Soon you addicts of the weed will have a chance to win prizes on your puffing ability.

On Nov. 5, The Battalion will hold its fifth Annual Pipe Smoking Contest. On that date you will find billowing clouds of smoke rolling from the Ballroom of the MSC as contestants puff for prizes.

Phases of the contest will be similar to those of last year and will include large bowl, medium bowl, small bowl, miniature bowl, and metal bowl competition. There will be a section of the contest for calabash and churchwarden type pipes also.

Wanda Harris Chosen A&M's Sweetheart

By JOEL AUSTIN
BATTALION MANAGING EDITOR

Wanda Harris, pretty blue-eyed TSCW sophomore, was named Aggie Sweetheart for 1951-52 last night by a 17 man selection committee.

It was her second time to be the number one choice of an Aggie selection group. As a freshman last spring, Miss Harris was chosen to reign as Queen over the Annual Cotton Pageant and Ball.

The Auburn-haired lass, who calls San Antonio home, topped a list of 12 nominees—four each from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes.

Climaxing an afternoon and evening of entertainment on the TSCW campus, the Aggies named their choice in the wee, early hours of the morning after a run-off vote was necessary to determine the final winner.

Corps Marches Into Game Saturday

The A&M Cadet Corps will make its first public appearance Saturday night prior to the A&M-OU football game, Lt. Col. M. P. Bowden, assistant commandant, said Wednesday.

At approximately 6:45 p. m., the first cadet organization will march on to the Kyle Field track. The entire pass-by should be completed by about 7:20 p. m. in time for both teams to practice before game time.

After marching on to the track, the corps will march down the west sidelines, make a left turn near the south goal, and march across the field. Near the south east corner, the outfits will be dismissed by their commanding officers and students will proceed behind the stadium to the Aggie section.

Candidates Presented

Senior nominees were Jane Tatum, Charlotte Williams, Johnnie Lois Neal, and Mary Jane Moncrief.

Juniors were Betty Ann Timmerman, Jean Putnam, Paula Mueller, and Laura Schwartz.

Sophomores were Wanda Harris, Jane McBrierty, Patricia Heppinstall and Joan Jopling.

Personality, ability of fluent

Arriving on the TSCW campus at 5 p.m. yesterday, the Aggies were welcomed at a "Howdy" dinner in Hubbard Dining Hall. Following supper, the group attended a concert by Sidney Foster, brilliant young pianist, who played on the TSCW Concert and Drama Series.

After the program, nominees and members of the selection committee were honored at a reception in Virginia-Carroll Lodge. After the reception, both groups went to Stoddard Hall Dormitory for dancing and selecting of the winner. The committee finished its final tabulations at 2 a.m. this morning.

Miss Harris is a speech correction major and a freshman dormitory counselor in Capps Hall.

The committee was composed of J. W. "Doggy" Dalston, president of the Senior Class; Bobby Dunn, vice-president of the Senior Class; C. L. Ray Senior Class social secretary, and Lew Jobe, head yell leader.

Other members in the group were Eric Carlson, corps commander; Regimental Commanders Jim Anderson, Roy Strickert, Howard Kruse, Harold Chandler, John Wright, Lynn Stuart, and Grady Smallwood; Senior Battalion representative Jim Dobbins, Consolidated Band Commander Buddy Borch, Battalion Managing Editor Joel Austin; and Pete Hardesty, business manager for Student Activities. Quinton Johnson, Ralph Rowe, non-military representatives.

The offensive smashed to within earshot of Kaesong, site of disrupted truce negotiations which the Reds Thursday refused to reopen anywhere else.

A roaring artillery barrage Wednesday opened the attack—the largest launched on the Korean front in three months.

The Allies—British, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, American, Greek, Turkish, Filipino and Korean troops—fought shoulder to shoulder.

Tanks Roll Forward

Fifty-seven ton British Centurion tanks rolled forward with them as the foot soldiers seared Chinese out of the hills with flame throwers.

Front line dispatches reported the Reds were well entrenched in bunkers lining strategic hill masses.

One dispatch said resistance west of Chorwon suddenly evaporated in the night on the northern end of a ridge line. The Communists gave up their positions under cover of darkness and let the Allies take over without firing a shot. The Reds previously had blocked every attempt to take the ridges.

"Elsewhere," the dispatch said, "U.N. troops continued to run into the same heavy Communist resistance that had stalled all allied attacks for the past three days."

"An estimated two Red companies surged from their ridge positions late last night in a counter-attack against nearby U.N. units. The enemy fought vainly for two and a half hours before being forced to withdraw to their positions."

conversation, graciousness, sincerity and attractiveness were the points which the committee considered in making its decision.

In her official capacity as sweetheart, Miss Harris, will be presented at halftime at the annual A&M-TSCW Corps Trip in Port Worth Oct. 20 when the Aggies play TCU.

She will also officially represent A&M at the Cotton Bowl football game in Dallas Jan. 1, at the Military Mall here next spring, at the TSCW Rebus Festival at Denton in March, at the TU Round-Up in April and also at the Cotton Ball and Pageant here in April.

Fierce Fights Seen As UN Army Advances

U.S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Troops from nine United Nations today crunched forward along a 40 mile front in Western Korea.

Everywhere, they met fierce Chinese resistance.

In bitter hand-to-hand fighting infantrymen of five divisions gained up to two miles Wednesday.

A series of Chinese counterattacks slowed the advance. Censorship delayed details and reports of progress.

Major Concerns Schedule Job Interview Here

Representatives of seven major companies will be on the campus between Oct. 9 and Oct. 18 to interview students graduating at mid-term, Bill Hensel of the placement office, said Wednesday.

Humble Oil and Refining will hold a general meeting in the YMCA Chapel at 9 a. m. Oct. 11. Engineering majors, chemists, physicists, and geologists who will receive their degree in January may make appointments for interviews at the meeting, Hensel commented.

Phillips Petroleum Company will conduct interviews for mid-term graduates in chemical, electrical, mechanical, petroleum, and civil engineering Oct. 10.

Interviews with mechanical and electrical engineers and physicists will be held by the International Business Machines Corporation on Oct. 16.

The Shell Chemical Corporation scheduled interviews for Oct. 16. These representatives will talk to chemical and mechanical engineers and chemists.

Petroleum, electrical, mechanical, civil, and chemical engineers; geologists, math and physics majors will be interviewed by the Atlantic Refining Company Oct. 17.

The Standard Oil Company of California will talk to mechanical, civil, chemical, and electrical engineers; chemists, physicists, and geologists. They will hold their interview Oct. 18.

Oct. 9 is the date set for the Cessna Aircraft Company to interview mid-term graduates in aeronautical, mechanical, and industrial engineering.

The first MSC sponsored dance of the year will be held after the A&M-OU football game Saturday night. Aggies, their dates, and OU visitors will dance in the MSC ballroom and on the terrace from 10 until midnight.

Tickets will be on sale beginning Thursday afternoon in the Post Office area and Directorate offices of the MSC.

MSC Opens Ticket Sale for Dance

Miss Betty Bolander, MSC assistant social director, announced that cokes would be sold throughout the evening and music will be furnished by the MSC jukebox.

Jack of All Trades Title Goes to B&CU

Unofficial Tabulations Have 16 in Run-Offs

Approximately 3,000 students, one of the largest groups voting in the history of a college election at A&M, cast ballots Wednesday night for student dormitory representatives to the Senate, senators at large, and non-corps representatives on the Student Life Committee.

Interest in the first election of the school year was increased by vigorous room to room campaigning on the part of most candidates.

Unusual however, was the fact most candidates for Student Senate positions had definite plans in mind which they intended to present to the senators, if elected.

Most candidates seemed to rely on their own personal contacts with other students. The Battalion offered to print any campaign statements, 50 words or less in length, but only a few of the 111 students running for offices to advantage of the offer.

Aggie Rodeo Opens Friday At Arena

By RAYMOND YORK
BATTALION STAFF WRITER

That team of wild horses talked about so much in that old saying "one used to drag people away from something" will be on the Campus Friday when the Saddle and Siroin Club presents their annual Aggie Rodeo.

This is the second year the all student rodeo has been held in the new Rodeo Arena. This year, the two day show will start at 8 p. m. Friday.

One of the stars of the show will be Jack Long of San Antonio. Long was the rodeo star that originated the one-hand stand roping trick.

Bo Damuth, senior AH major from Magnolia, has signed up to be the clown for the show. He will appear with his mule "Simon" and pet skunk "Stinky."

Saddle and Siroinners working on the rodeo say the wild horse race this year will be one of the best ever held. In this race there are three men in the arena with one horse. The men rope the horse, put on a riding rig, saddle, and ride the bronc to the opposite side of the arena. After getting to the end of the arena, the wild horse is unsaddled and the participants lug the saddle back to the center of the ring.

Work on the wild horses is done as a team, with the group completing the job in the shortest amount of time winning.

All the faculty of the animal husbandry department will take part in the Professor's Bloomer Race. This will be in addition to the usual calf-roping, bare-back bronc hiding, bull dogging, wild bull riding, and a long distance horse race.

Contestants entered in the rodeo are all students and a final listing of all men entering the competition will be released this week, Warren Pierce, publicity chairman, announced.

Contestants placing first in the events will be awarded prizes. While a full list of the prizes is not available, Pierce said, the winner of the wild horse event will receive a trophy belt buckle.

Time for the Saturday show has been set for 2 p. m.

Tickets are available from all AH majors and tickets will also be available at the gate after the show starts.

A dance will also be held after the rodeo Friday night at the Shilo Hall.

Gen. Dennis will be played by Harry Gooding in the Aggie and version. The rest of the cast includes Dick Black as Sgt. Evans, Dennis' aide, Chuck Neighbors as Col. Caley, Dennis' executive officer, Roger Coslett as Brockhurst, a magazine correspondent, and John Samuels as Brig. Gen. Garnett.

Bill Witty portrays Col. Martin, a group commander and old friend of Dennis', Jerry MacFarland as Maj. Gen. Kane; Carl Stephens as Maj. Prescott; John Caple as Capt. Jenks; Carroll Phillips and Don Lance are cast as Senators Malcolm and Stone respectively, and John King plays Lt. Goldberg.

Weather officer Maj. Davis will be played by Howard Allison. Roger Melton will play Maj. Lansing; William Jenkins will play Maj. Dayhuff; Capt. Lee will be portrayed by Doyle Smith; and Don Dempke will be a guard.

Players Rehearse Command Decision

"Command Decision," the Aggie Players' current production, is going into its second week of rehearsals under Director C. K. Esten of the English Department.

The play, which starred Hollywood's Paul Kelly in the role of Brig. Gen. K. C. Dennis on Broadway, will be presented at 8:15 p. m., 12 and 13.

The Reds rejected Ridgway's suggestion that talks start anew near Songhyon, a no-man's land village six miles southeast of Kaesong. They said the suggestion was "devoid of reason."

The Communists said it would provide no new assurance that neutrality agreements would be observed. Instead they suggested:

"Both sides immediately resume the conference at Kaesong. At the first meeting all appropriate machinery should be established to stipulate a strict agreement concerning the neutralization of Kaesong."

Two hours after announcing the text of the Communist communication, Ridgway replied. He told North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-Huai:

"I have already made clear to you my views regarding the unsuitability of Kaesong as a conference site. . . satisfactory conditions for the resumption of the armistice talks can only be insured by moving the conference site to an area where it is not under the exclusive control of other side.

Five students filed for three positions as non-corps representatives on the Student Life Committee.

Complete tabulations on the student at large vote are tentative and a run-off election will probably be called for. However from last night's voting it is possible to tabulate the top 16 in the voting for Senators at Large.

Grady Smallwood, commander of the eighth regiment, was high man on the balloting. He received 1,470 votes, with the biggest concentration of the votes coming from the basic division.

Others in the top 16, of which 11 will be chosen, are

Monty Montgomery with 1,407

Marshall Couch with 1,281

Baxter Honeycutt with 1,281

Warren Pierce with 1,133

Non-Students Tickets on Sale For Town Hall

Non-student reserved seat tickets for the 1951-52 Town Hall series went on sale at 7 a. m. in Guion Hall.

By 10 a. m. the ticket salesmen were forced to return to the Student Activities office to handle the volume of people wishing to purchase tickets.

The only people eligible to purchase these tickets were faculty members and non-students. Student Activities was forced to limit the purchaser to four tickets so that they could be more evenly distributed.

Featured this year at Town Hall will be "Tex" Beneke and his orchestra, scheduled to perform this Monday night. On Oct. 16, Rise Stevens, star of the Metropolitan Opera and movies, will give a concert for Town Hallers.

The Houston Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Efrem Kurtz, conductor, will come to A&M on Dec. 11 to offer special arrangements of some of the more popular classics.

Beginning the new year, the Revellers, famous male quartet, will make their appearance on the Town Hall series. It is unknown at this time what type of program this group will offer.

The last program of the 1951-52 series will be Morley & Gerhart, duo-pianists with the Fred Waring Orchestra. They will appear in Guion Hall on Feb. 12.
