

Fall Election Results Talled, Still Unofficial

The final ballots and the unofficial results of the Student Senate and Student Life Committee elections are in, Don "Red" Young, chairman of the Student Senate Election Committee announced this morning.

"There will be no run-off elections," he said. "The results will be official just as soon as members of the election committee can re-check the results."

Two Dorms Out

After the check there were only two dorms that did not have in their complete results and the election committee is going to complete these forms Saturday. These dorms are Numbers two and three.

Senator from Dorm one is Ted M. Stephens. He polled 41 votes to E. D. Francis' 32, Charles Sebesta's 22, Don Heath's 11, and Cohn Child's 11.

Vance B. Riley is the senator from Dorm four. He beat out Ron-

Ticket Sales Slow, Date Ducats Drag

Football ticket sales for the OU game here Saturday are selling so fast that an accurate rundown on the exact number of tickets still available is not possible, according to Howard Nelson, ticket manager.

It is estimated that 6,000 tickets are left. Approximately half of these are in the bleachers at the south end of the field and the rest are temporary box seats set up in the track.

Only 1200 of the 3,000 date tickets which were put on sale Monday have been sold yet. They will remain on sale until 5 p. m. Friday.

All tickets for the game may be sold by game time Saturday night, but it is very doubtful pointed out Nelson. Tickets will be sold at the gate until they are all gone.

Reserved seats which are still available for other home games are all in the end zone.

Date tickets for home games go on sale at 8 a. m. on the Monday before the game and will be sold until 5 p. m. on Friday. For out of town games date and student tickets both go on sale at 8 a. m. on the Monday before but will be taken off sale at 6 p. m. on Wednesday.

According to present plans date tickets for the TU game will go on sale at 8 a. m. on Nov. 19 and will be sold on a first come first served basis until they run out. All other tickets for the game are already sold.

"Only those with student or date tickets sit in the student section at home games. However, on Corps trips positively no one will be admitted to the student section with a reserved seat ticket."

BAFB Gets Two Jet Trainer Planes

Two T-33's—Lockheed's two-place version of the famed P-80 Shooting Star—will arrive at Bryson Air Force Base this week for permanent assignment, according to Captain J. W. Smith, Public Information Officer.

Both planes will take part in the Reactivation Day program on Oct. 14, which will be used by the aviation cadets in the second phase of their training, are almost identical with the P-80 except for the addition of an instructor's cockpit. They are especially valuable for training in gunnery and bombing, tactical techniques, and reconnaissance.

Radar equipment, much of it the same type as the students will encounter during their training, will be on exhibit at the Base during the open house and a trained crew will be on hand to explain the intricate workings to visitors.

In Dorm six the senate seat went to Hansel C. Kennedy who received 68 votes to F. X. Cornado's 62, Neil Stovall's 48 and Bob Dobbins' 23. F. M. Rozelle beat out his four opponents with a vote tally of 58.

Write-in Wins

Write-in candidate Bob Layton won the election in Dorm eight with a total of 63 votes. The election committee ruled him the senator after checking his qualifications. He defeated Charles McNeil, Arvis Notk, and John Devine.

In Dorm nine James Damon beat out his only opponent Guy Jackson by getting 64 votes to Jackson's 18. In Dorm ten, Paul Jerry Sanders beat out James R. Teutsch, John D. Coleman, William Rowland and John Winn. Sanders had 41 votes.

In Dorm 11 the senator will be Bob Travis who polled 56 out of the 124 votes cast in the dorm. James Van Way won over Bobby Jones in Dorm 12 with 71 votes to 15.

Basic Division Winners

In the basic division area Wally Brisco took the senatorship of Dorm 14. Brisco polled 161 votes to John Halsell's 154. In Dorm 15 Tom Poyner ran unopposed as was the case in Dorm 16. Freddy Adickes is the senator from Dorm 16.

Bruce Miller took the senatorship away from Edward Dobbins in the Dorm 17 race. Miller polled 75 votes to Dobbins' 24. James Stevenson and Larry Dotson ran unopposed in their dormitories in the basic division. Stevenson is in Milner Hall and Dotson is in Leggett.

In the non-military area Buddy Russell took the Mitchell Hall senatorship. He polled 97 votes to Henry Cole's 25. Jim Martin took the Bizzell Hall senatorship without opposition.

With Music

Saturday night at halftime of the Aggie-Sooner game the Texas Aggie Band will perform an entirely new maneuver.

Saturday night the A&M band will split, each half will play school songs to salute the two schools, and do it all simultaneously.

To top it off each band will then switch to the formation and song of the other.

Specifically the formation, known to band members as—"The Battle of the Bands"—will have one band facing the east stands and forming the letters OKLA while playing the Sooner fight song, Boomer Sooner. The band on the west side will be forming TAMC and playing the War Hymn.

Switching directly from one formation to the other the band previously saluting OU will salute A&M with TAMC and the War Hymn. Similarly the band on the west forms OKLA plays the OU fight song.

After this confusing mass of music and formations, the two separate bands reform and go into the two large marching T's. The Aggie Band in T's then counter-marches, cuts off, and flanks off the field.

At the start of their half time activities the band will form in mass from the goal line to the end-zone and will stretch from sideline to sideline when it steps off.

After the band gets on the playing field, a signal by Jimmy Rogers, the head drum major, will form it into its regular marching order by a mixture of flanks and turns. From this maneuver the entrance gets its name—Spread Serpentine.

Following this entrance the band goes into the precision part of its drill, a left flank, followed by a counter-march by ranks. After another left flank, the marching returns to the center of the field where the band executes a double left minstrel turn.

At the south goal line a "Con-

All-Aggie Rodeo Is Scheduled Tonight

A wild horse race, exhibition trick roping, and a professors bloomer race are just a few of the scheduled events to appear on the All-Aggie Rodeo program tonight.

The rodeo, sponsored by the Saddle and Sirlon club, will have two performances, one at 8 p. m. and another tomorrow beginning at 2 p. m.

Wild Horse Race

One of the most popular of last year's events was the wild horse race. In this event a team of three men are alone in the arena with a wild horse. The object is to capture the horse, put on a riding ring, and one member of the team ride him to the opposite end of the arena. The best time for this race wins the event.

So far eight students have entered this event to compete for prizes. They are Don Harnady, Archer City; Ronnie Stinson Ft. Worth; Vern Dwyer, Ft. Worth; Jim Davenport, Evans; Tom Winters, Evant; Sid Goodloe, Buffalo Gap; Jim Smith, Villa Acuna; and Warty Alley, Sonora.

Every member of the Animal Husbandry department is scheduled to enter the bloomer race.

Magnolia senior AH major Bo Damuth has consented to be this year's clown for the rodeo. He will appear with his pet mule "Simon" and skunk "Stinky."

The show will begin with the grand entry, the traditional procession which opens all rodeos. (See RODEO, Page 2)

One of the stars of the three and a half hour show will be Jack Long of San Antonio, trick roping artist. Long was the originator of the one-hand stand roping trick.

The rodeo, sponsored by the Saddle and Sirlon club, will have two performances, one at 8 p. m. and another tomorrow beginning at 2 p. m.

tinuous Counter-March" turns the band around and sends it back up the field northward. The Aggie Band will then do a quadruple-minstrel turn, going both to the left and right and remain in two bands for the Battle of the Bands."

Since the Oklahoma Band will not be able to make the trip, the Palestine High School Band will be the guest of the Athletic Department at the evening meal and the game. They will perform at halftime, before the Aggie Band takes the field.

The first social event this semester, the Air Force Ball, honoring the Class of '52, will begin the whirl-wind of social activities on the campus at the Grove tonight at 9.

Featuring the selection of the Air Force Sweetheart and the music of the Aggieband Orchestra, the two Air Force Wing's annual dance will last until 1 p. m.

Selection of the sweetheart will be made during the second intermission of the dance. The winner will be named at that time from the six selected finalists who will be introduced before the judges.

The six finalists, who were chosen from pictures submitted by air force cadets, are as follows:

Miss Elrose Schroder of Hallettsville, escorted by James Kolan; Miss Sylvia Barton of Houston, escorted by I. C. Trauth Jr.; Miss Joan Daugherty of Houston, escorted by Hansel Kennedy; Miss Lennie Garrard of Houston, escorted by John Tapley; Miss Charlene Thurman of San Antonio, escorted by Bob Dobbins; Miss Jane Toffelmire of Houston, escorted by Bill Streich.

Members of the selection committee were: A. C. Burkhalter and Jim Haylor, co-chairmen; C. G. "Spike" White, director of student activities; Pete Hardesty, club director of student activities; and four air force cadets.

During the second intermission, the finalists will be called to the orchestra platform and will be presented a gift. The queen will be named through a decision of the judges and will be presented the traditional bouquet of flowers. Presentation of the gifts will be made by Wing Commanders Harold Chandler and John Wright.

According to Burkhalter, final judging for the sweetheart selection will be made by several college officials who will be selected during the dance. The judges will include an administrative officer and three members of the military department.

Honor guests at the affair will be administrative, military, and athletic, and athletic officials of the college and members of the Student Activities Office.

Co-chairmen Harold Chandler and John Wright are in charge of all arrangements for the dance.

The various committees, which have planned to make the dance possible, are as follows:

Glen Miller and Al Sexton, ticket committee; Nace Trauth and Stan Perkins, program committee; Joe Steede and John Tapley, decorations committee; Bob Dobbins and Duane Vandenberg, publicity committee.

"In case of bad weather tonight, the dance will be held in Sbis Hall and the dance will continue for an hour after the midnight yell practice," Hardesty said.

Tickets, which are $2.50, stag or drag, are on sale in the Office of Student Activities and in the dorm areas by ticket representatives. Tickets will also be on sale at the dance tonight.

Approximately $2,000 worth of reserve seat tickets were sold yesterday according to Spike White, Assistant Dean of Students for Activities.

Only 25 reserve seats are still unsold, he pointed out, even though a number of general admission tickets are still available.

Ags, Sooners Clash In Kyle Field Saturday

Red Defense Breaks Before 100,000 Allies

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 5—(AP) Red resistance slackened today in the path of a roaring offensive by 100,000 United Nations troops on the Western front.

In one place American Third Division doughboys seized a strategic hill west of Chorwon without firing a shot.

The Americans had been storming the hill unsuccessfully for six days. And in the same area they beat off a series of pre-dawn counterattacks by thousands of Chinese.

In an adjoining sector U. S. First Cavalry Division troops beat off waves of Chinese who attacked their positions through the early morning darkness.

A U. S. briefing officer said the Third Division troops practically took their key hill for the asking. Previously the Chinese had resisted all attempts to take the peak.

The briefing officer said Red opposition dwindled all along the 40-mile front. There, troops of nine United Nations three days ago launched their biggest offensive in three months.

British Commonwealth forces, especially the Canadians and Australians, reported only light resistance Friday morning.

Drum majorette of the Palestine band, will head the formations of the visiting high school aggregation.

Seating Arrangements For Saturday Game Explained

To further explain the seating arrangement for students at Saturday's game in Kyle Field, Bob Chapman, chairman of the seating arrangements committee, gave the following explanation of the diagram in yesterday's Battalion.

"For the Oklahoma game, and until a better arrangement is worked out, students will please observe the following plan, he said: Areas have been divided between the corps and civilian students, with the corps splitting their own area among themselves, by classes.

"Civilian students, wives and guests may sit—or stand—on row 34 to the top from the 50-yard line to the 14-yard line. Then they may sit down through Row 25 from the top, around the horseshoe to Ramp M, where they will occupy seats down to the walkway.

"Corps seniors will occupy 1200 roped-off seats from the 50 to the 14, Rows 13 through 33. Corps juniors will stand from Row 9 north of the band, up to the walkway, stretching to the end zone. Also from the 14-yard line corps juniors will occupy Rows 13 through 24, again stretching to the end zone.

"Freshmen will fill the first eight rows, from the band to the end zone's middle. Sophomores are allocated seats behind the freshmen, from the end zone line to the middle of the end zone, from Row 9 to Row 25 until M Ramp. There they may not occupy seats above the walkway.

"This is the same seating arrangement which was used in Kyle Field last year," Chapman said.

Ray George Makes Home Game Debut

By BOB SELECK
BATTALION SPORTS NEWS EDITOR

Tomorrow night, on Kyle Field, will unfold a battle between the Cadets of A&M and the Sooners of Oklahoma. These two powerful grid elevens could well be clashing for national domination.

A&M, ranked No. 10 in the nation, will play host to the Sooners who claim the "mythical" No. 4 spot. The victor is given a good chance of ending the season as the top team in the nation.

This non-conference clash will be the first home game for the Aggies. In their season opener, the Cadet machine rolled out to the West Coast to take a 21-14 win from UCLA and the following week tripped Texas Tech 20-7.

The Sooners opened their season last week with a convincing 49-7 triumph over William and Mary. Oklahoma Coach Wilkinson is famous for his ability to produce continuous winning ball club.

Also marking the occasion, will be the debut of Coach Ray George, who will begin his first home game of the still young season on Kyle Field.

George, ex-California coach and football star, is the youngest head coach in the history of the Southwest Conference.

A&M's grid eleven will employ the "orthodox" T formation on offense with two quarterbacks, Dick Gardemal and Ray Graves, alternating in the doubleheader role.

Dick Gardemal still seems to rate the starting lineup because of his play calling, mastering mechanics, generalship, experience and the faith that his teammates seem to have in him.

Graves Can Run

Young Ray Graves, only 19 years old, definitely holds a passing edge and can run better when there is no receiver. He displayed this talent exceptionally well with a 56-yard "back-breaking" dash against Texas Tech.

Graves can pitch the ball smoothly and has the poise of a veteran. He could well blossom into the top quarterback that will help solve the coming conference worries of Coach George.

It might be assumed that the Cadets are saving their scoring threat for the all important Sooners. Bruisin' Bob Smith, although not sensational, has carried the ball 21 times for a five yards per carry average.

Yell Practice Tonite in Grove

Midnight Yell Practice will be held tonight in the Grove at 11:30 p. m., Head Yell Leader Lew obe announced. The students going to Yell Practice are requested, obe said, to follow the band to the Grove. The Air Force is having a dance and the gates will be locked.

Mail Delivery In Dormitory Not Probable

It is highly improbable that mail, either letters or parcels, will be distributed to cadet organizations living in the corps area, N. L. McCullough, assistant post master of College Station, said yesterday.

McCullough was referring to the numerous requests both he and Post Master Walton have been receiving, requesting this type of service be reinstated for the cadets living in the corps.

"There are approximately 5,596 postal boxes in both the MSC and the North Gate offices. All of these are filled at the present by students and residents of the city and it is improbable also that additional boxes will be installed in the MSC at this time," McCullough continued.

The only way McCullough sees to relieve the shortage of boxes is for those students and residents who have a box by themselves to share it with those who are unable to secure one.

Non-Students Start Line At 4:30 a.m.

Anyone who passed in front of Guion Hall before 4:25 a. m. could have led the field in the annual race to see who would have the honor of being first to get a non-student Town Hall ticket.

This year's winner and new champion is S. A. Lynch, head of the Geology department. Lynch's winning time for the year was 4:30 a. m.

Finishing in the number two spot this year, only a bare five minutes behind the winner, was Dr. W. L. Porter, head of the Math department.

The show position found Dr. W. M. Potts, of the Chemistry department and last year's champion, only a short time behind.

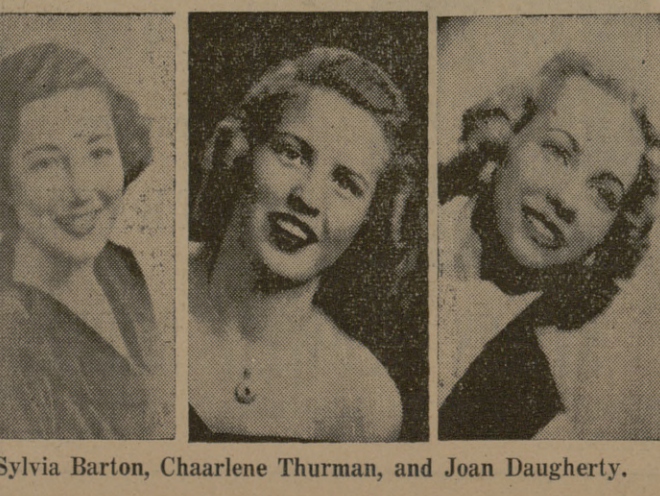

Although the first three places went to faculty members, interest in the annual affair spreads to the surrounding area. Edith Cavitt was the champion from Bryan and placed close behind the winners.

News of the finish was carried on early programs by both local radio stations and was heard by the contestants themselves on a radio which Lynch had thoughtfully brought.

Coffee was served to the tired participants by Polly Patranello, receptionist in the Student Activities Office, before the actual business of the ticket sale got under way.

Approximately $2,000 worth of reserve seat tickets were sold yesterday according to Spike White, Assistant Dean of Students for Activities.

Only 25 reserve seats are still unsold, he pointed out, even though a number of general admission tickets are still available.
