

Council Informs Citizens Of Plans

Eight College Station citizens were guests of the city council at an informal luncheon and meeting last night. The proposed city charter was discussed by J. W. Barger, city attorney; and Homer Hunter, consultant engineer from Dallas, explained his engineering report on College Station sewerage.

An election date for the new city charter was not set at the meeting. Ernest Langford, mayor, reported the council will not take action until such time the charter can be printed and reviewed by the council. He estimated that an election could not be held before February.

Local Health Unit Compiles Sick List

Thirteen sick cases were reported in College Station last week by the Brazos County Health Unit. There was an outbreak of influenza over the previous week. A total of four cases were reported. Three cases of diarrhea were reported in College Station. There were three cases of gonorrhea, and one case of pneumonia reported. Two cases of septic sore throat completed the list.

Discussing the city charter, which if passed will convert College Station from a general law city into a home rule city, Langford stated the present tax structure would remain the same, if the charter is adopted. Under state law, ad valorem property tax which can be assessed is higher in home rule cities than in general law cities.

Guests attending the council meeting were A. A. Price, A. C. Magee, J. H. Sorrels, C. A. Bonner, R. H. Rogers, D. B. Cofer, Homer Adams, and J. L. Thomas.

During the meeting, the city council authorized the employment of a licensed surveyor to make an accurate survey of College Station's city limits. This action was taken after Councilman Joe Orr pointed out that the present description of the city's boundaries were not accurate. After the survey is completed, Raymond Rogers, city manager, was instructed to erect permanent markers.

Fourteen Acts Rehearsed For CS 'Kiwanis Kapers'

Fourteen acts are now in rehearsal for "Kiwanis Kapers," home talent variety show to be presented by the College Station Kiwanis Club Monday night at A&M Consolidated school gymnasium.

Director C. K. Esten promised General Chairman Joe Mogford a program as varied as any seen in this section. "We will go from a 'straight' opening number by a high school chorus of 40 voices into a torch song by Alta Jean Bradley and an organ solo by Roddy Peeples," said Esten. Among the other top numbers will be the juvenile version of cowboy singing by Greg George, son of Aggie Football Coach Ray George, a tap dance routine by the Taylor sisters, and Sue Shannon with several vocal solos.

Idle Money Risky Broker Tells Club

That people take a risk keeping their money idle was pointed out at the weekly meeting of the College Station Kiwanis Club yesterday.

In a film entitled "Fair Exchange", presented by the firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, brokers, a young couple is acquainted with investment in common stock.

After the learned couple discovered there was a difference between investment and speculation, they discovered that stock in many companies paid dividends ranging from five to six per cent annually.

The movie made no attempt to hide the fact that there is a risk involved in stock investment. The point was emphasized however, that because of the inflationary trend there is a risk involved in leaving money idle.

A thumbnail rule brought out in the movie for safe investment was investigate, then invest. For purposes of investigation, consultation, and advice brokers are available. The average broker's commission is about one per cent, according to the movie.

City-Wide Poll May Authorize Mail Delivery

A city-wide survey to determine the number of houses which have erected house numbers and mail boxes will be conducted Tuesday.

The date was set at a recent board of director's meeting of the College Station Chamber of Commerce. The survey will be conducted by the Kiwanis Club.

"After the survey has been completed it will be submitted to T. O. Walton, College Station postmaster," said Joe Sorrels, president of the Chamber of Commerce. "Many people have been misled in believing house-to-house mail delivery will commence regardless of whether they erect numbers and mail boxes," Sorrels pointed out. College Station has fulfilled only part of the requirements necessary for the service to be started. A city must have a population of at least 5,000 persons, desire the service, and have properly marked streets. These conditions have been fulfilled. Erection of house numbers and mail boxes are other requirements for the service. In attempt to clear up misunderstanding, Sorrels has emphasized again that only those persons living in the wooded section of College Hills, which is located in the area bounded by Walton Drive and Francis Street, are required to erect mail boxes adjacent to the streets on which they live.

McMillan Gives Final Message In Local Series

"The Undertones Around Us" will be the title of the final message in the current A&M Church of Christ series tonight at 7:15. The speaker will be Dr. E. W. McMillan, president of Southwestern Christian College at Terrell.

James P. Fowler, local minister, emphasized that Dr. McMillan is an able preacher, author, and educator. "He has had many years of experience in all three of these fields," Fowler added.

Dr. McMillan's last full-time work as a "local minister" was with the Union Avenue Church of Christ in Memphis, Tenn. While employed by that church, he was sent on two trips to the Orient to aid the missionary efforts of the Church of Christ. He helped to organize a Christian college in Ibaraki, Japan.

Upon completing his mission in Japan, he was asked to head a new Negro college located in Terrell, which was designed to help the Negro race have better educational opportunities. The college was especially designed to aid young Negroes who wish to devote their full time in Christian service.

Following the address, Dr. McMillan will report the progress achieved at the two-year-old Negro college, and answer questions concerning the work.
