Baylor Losses Exceed Wins In 50-year Series With A&M

Aggie Heroes

Buddy Shaeffler
Defensive End—Offensive Halfback

Buddy played an outstanding game against the Frogs. He was dynamic on defense and according to game pictures was in the clear many times for the receipt of Cadet aeriels that never reached him.

Isbell Top Threat To Aggie Victory

By FRANK SCOTT
Battalion Staff Writer

Texas A&M will be out to blemish Baylor's undefeated record in a grudge battle at Kyle Field Saturday. This game may decide this year's SWC representative in the Cotton Bowl.

None of the members of the present Aggie squad have played on a football team that defeated the Bears. The Bruin-Aggie clash will climax fifty years of football rivalry between the two schools. Baylor trails in the overall series 12-29, while six contests have ended in ties.

Last year the Bears upset the Cadets 27-20 in a brutal game. This year the Aggies, facing elimination from the conference race, hope to "turn the tables" on Baylor.

Larry Isbell, a triple threat menace, is apparently the man A&M will have to stop Saturday if they emerge victorious. Against Texas Tech Isbell completed 13 of 18 passes for 155 yards and had only one intercepted. Two Isbell passes went for touchdowns and the T-magician plunged over for another tally. Isbell leads the conference in punts, averaging 42 yards per kick.

Baylor has two of the finest ends in football in Stanley Williams and Harold Riley. These lads not only can snag every aerial thrown their way, but they can run like halfbacks after the pass is completed. Riley scored two TDs against the Aggies last year and led the SWC in pass receiving, grabbing 35 passes for 539 yards. Williams is one of Baylor's co-captains.

Gale Galloway, senior center of the Bruin line, is the other co-captain of the Bears. Galloway is one of the largest men on the squad, but he handles himself with the agility of a halfback.

At the guard slots are John Hancock, six-foot, two inch 230-pound senior, and Charles Driver, a six foot, 185-pound senior. Driver, who has won three football letters at Baylor, was a high school teammate of SMU's Benton Musslewhite and Texas' Paul Williams.

Dick Parma, who attended A&M for a short time, is the Bruins' leading fullback. Parma is a very hard-running back, and according to press releases came out first in individual ground-gaining duels last season with Smith of the Aggies, Rote of SMU, and Townsend of Texas.

The tackle positions are in the talented hands of Robert Knowles and Steve Dowden. Knowles, a six-foot, four-inch 225-pound sophomore, is one of the Bear's most promising linemen. Dowden, six-foot, two-inch, senior, played on Odesa's 1946 championship eleven.

Don Carpenter and Jerry Coody, halfbacks, round out the Bruin backfield. Carpenter, a junior, is doing a nice job of filling the great Buddy Parker's shoes this season. Coody, a sophomore halfback from Tulsa, Oklahoma was an outstanding back on the Cub team last year.

George Sauer, Baylor mentor, was the SWC "Coach-of-the-Year" last season. Last year Sauer took charge of a Bear team that was doped by many to finish last, and herded them to a second-place finish. Before coming to Baylor, Sauer coached at New Hampshire U., Kansas, and Annapolis, where his Navy teams played two seasons against the toughest schedules to be found.

Alvin Langford
Guard

Often called one of the speediest guards in the conference, Langford has been a stalwart for the Maroon & White all season. His sterling blocking was one of the highlights of the TCU game.
