

Tigers Tie with Bobcats Now Lead District 24-B

With both squads sparked by sensational defensive play, the A&M Consolidated high school Tigers and the Hempstead Bobcats battled to a 7-7 tie.

Both squads also entered the game undefeated in conference play, which encouraged both teams to concentrate on stopping each other's offense.

A&M Consolidated was given the slight edge on the basis of scoring 11 first downs to six for the Hempstead eleven. Both teams had three penetrations and were tied in the scoring department.

Now the Tigers, with three conference wins, are undisputedly in first place and have a comparatively easy slate from hereon. Prior to the contest both Hempstead and the Tigers were tied for the number one spot.

Bobcats Score First

The Bobcats tallied first, scoring early in the second period. The TD climaxed a drive, beginning late in the first period, which started on the Hempstead 29 yard-line marker.

A 44-yard jaunt by halfback Clayton Stephens advanced the pigskin to the Consolidated 38 yard line. Huey Henson plunged for the score three plays later.

In the third period the Tigers finally got around to scoring, taking over on their own 37 yard line, Consolidated advanced the ball to the Bobcat 29 yard marker on two long jaunts by Willie Arnold and Jerry Leighton.

Four plays later Leighton plunged for the tally, George Johnston booted the extra point.

Out of Downs

After taking over when Jackson blocked a punt and the Tigers recovered, the Consolidated gridders ran out of downs on the Bobcat eight yard marker.

Another highlight of the game was a 66 yard punt runback by Leighton, leading scorer in the district, but the Tigers were unable to advance the ball any farther.

Every member of the Consolidated team contributed to the hard fought victory. Some of the more deserving were Bobby Jackson both on defense and offense; Thomas Wade and Dan Williams on offense; Bobby Smith on defense; David Bomen, George Johnston, Donald Boyden, and Jimmy Bond on both offense and defense; Willie Arnold and Gayle Klipple on offense.

Outstanding on both and mostly on offense was the Tigers shifty little halfback, Jerry Leighton.

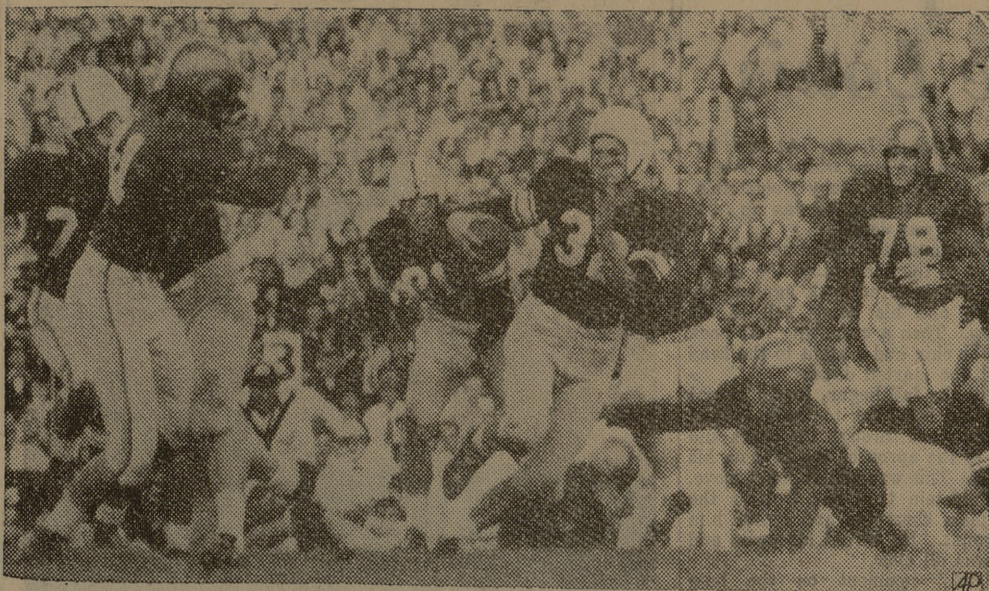

The Tigers next game is with Somerville at College Station and if indications of past records mean anything, the Tigers should not have much trouble.

A&M, Baylor Tie, TU Wins, Frogs Lose Heartbreaker

Based on AP Report

Compared to last week, the Southwest Conference managed to survive the week-end without too many shocks.

A&M and Baylor battled to a 21-21 tie, Texas came from behind to whip the Rice Owls. TCU fell before USC in what was considered by many as an upset.

The biggest jolt was received when Arkansas sputtered and failed before a revived Santa Clara squad 21-12.

behind with counter brilliance in the last quarter to emerge on the top end of a 28-26 score.

The game, pitting the top teams of the Pacific Coast and the Southwest Conferences was not decided until the final gun.

Two invaluable points missed on attempted conversions and two touchdowns fumbled away in the end zone, cost the Horned Frogs from Fort Worth the victory.

The vaunted Trojans, rated No. 6 this past week in the Associated Press poll, went into the inter-sectional battle favored to whip the Frogs by thirteen points, at least.

Instead, USC was held to a 7-to-7 tie at half time, and only the heroic play of Tailback Frank Gifford and awakened Wingback Al Carmichael, brought USC its fifth collegiate triumph of the season.

McKown Stars

The outstanding staff for TCU was its 19-year-old sophomore, Ray McKown, who led his team to an upset win over Texas A&M last week and almost did it again this bright, warm afternoon.

In the final two minutes, TCU took over on its 20, and was back deep in Troy territory when time ran out.

Gifford converted for all of SC's extra points, but Keith Flowers was unsuccessful on two of his tries.

The two big heartbreakers for TCU came in the first quarter. The Texans took the opening kickoff and flew 73 yards, but on the last play McKown fumbled away the ball to Linebacker Pat Cannamela in the end zone.

The next time the Frogs got the ball they lit out from the 32 and got down to the 16. From there McKown passed perfectly to Wilson George, an end, but George let the ball get away from him as he fell backward into the end zone.

Graves Criticized For Plays Called

By ED HOLDER
Battalion Sports Writer

Several questions have been asked about why Ray Graves called the formation and ran the plays as he did when he was working deep in his own territory during the last minutes of play.

It was smart quarterbacking. Just before the half ended, Graves was throwing from the same formation, a single wing spread, and had all the time in the world to toss his passes.

The Aggies didn't use this formation again until that time came when they had a 7 point lead and wanted to push the Bears back up the field.

Anticipating the same results, that Baylor wouldn't rush in hard and fast, Graves entered the game and called for the spread. He had an option of either running or passing.

If anyone could get in the open he would pass, but if he couldn't find a receiver, he could run behind the powerful blocking of the two guards who were dropping back and flaring out to lead interference.

He took the ball, faked his pass, but when he tried to run each time Graves met a swarm of Baylor tacklers, inspired by their last minute rally.

Show Sharp Blocking

Blocking that's seldom been seen on Kyle Field broke into the light Saturday as again and again Aggie blockers cleared the way for the Cadets ground attack.

All-American Bob Smith continually threw key blocks as he led runners throughout the afternoon. W. T. and Marshall Rush also let the Bears know that they were going to have a tough time tackling cadet runners as they added the precision blocks to the powerful attack of the Maroon and White.

Jack Little put in another game in which he saw action nearly the entire time. He blocked for the

STEADY JOBS FOR JUNE GRADUATES!

$3,100.00 a Year to Start

The U. S. Government has announced examinations to select outstanding young men and women for positions in agriculture, management, and many professional fields. If you will receive your Bachelor's degree before June 30, 1952, you are probably qualified to take advantage of this exceptional opportunity. No actual work experience is required.

If you are successful in these tests you will be part of a progressive program to develop future Federal administrators and high-grade professional workers. Jobs are open at $3,100.00 a year with regular increases to $3,825.00 and promotions to as high as $14,000.00. In addition you can enjoy the many benefits offered only in the U. S. Civil Service — job security, generous retirement pensions, 26-day annual vacations, 15-day sick leave allowances, and many others.

Securing one of these appointments is not easy. The examinations given to applicants are difficult so that the most promising graduates are selected to become the future key personnel in the Federal Government. Your grade on the examination is the determining factor in being appointed.

Last year, almost 9 out of 10 who took the Junior Management Assistant written examination failed to pass. In analyzing these results, experts agree that the cause of most of the failures was not lack of specialized knowledge and academic background. Those who failed simply were not trained to pass a Civil Service type examination.

JUNIOR AGRICULTURAL ASSISTANT

Wanted by the Dept. of Agriculture and Dept. of Interior for positions in Washington, D. C. and throughout the United States. Applicants wanted for 17 options including specialists on agricultural economics, psychology, botany, pathology, statistics and zoology.

Applications Closed Nov. 13

To take any of these examinations go immediately to your nearest First or Second Class Post Office and obtain a copy of the official announcement and application form 5090 AB. Fill out and file this with the Civil Service Commission according to directions. Do this at once since applications will be accepted only during the next few days. You will later be notified of the time and place of the examination in your locality.

JUNIOR PROFESSIONAL ASSISTANT

Important openings for graduates with majors in economics, bacteriology, geography, geophysics, social science and statistics. The first opportunity to use your professional training on important work in various departments of the Federal Government.

Applications Closed Nov. 13

JUNIOR MANAGEMENT ASSISTANT

Executives and administrators serving as interns in management. An almost unlimited future for advancement for those highly qualified with a background of social science, business or public administration.
