

Marciano Closes Chapter On Heavyweight Joe Louis

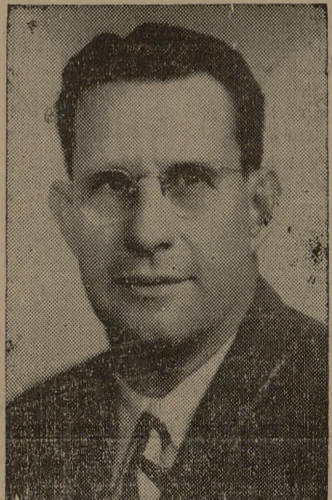

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Joe Louis is through. Boxing has a new idol today in Rocky Marciano. It's the old story of the ring. Youth must be served.
At 2:36 of the eighth round in Madison Square Garden last night, the old Brown Bomber was stretched on his back on the apron of the ring in a pathetic finish to one of the most fabulous stories in all sports.
Today 27-year-old Rocky, a one-time soldier, shoemaker, and ditch-digger with little more than three years of professional fighting behind him, was the toast of the town, the man of the hour.
The big brass of the International Boxing Club will sit down today with Rocky, born Rocco Marchegiano on Sept. 1, 1924, and discuss future plans for the new young tiger of the ring.
He'll be offered a shot at Ezzard Charles, the ex-champion, for February or March and a possible shot with Jersey Joe Walcott next summer.

Now the talk is all Rocky, the new wow of boxing, the hit of television. Thirty-eight fights, thirty-eight victories, 33 knock-outs, almost a carbon copy of the string hung up by the once magnificent Brown Bomber.
And Rocky tore a page out of Louis' book in writing finish to it. He belted the balding Joe with rights to the kidneys to take the drive out of his legs, he rushed him until the Bomber was befuddled and he finished him with the fury of the old Louis.
Leading on the scorecards of all three officials going into the eighth round, the swarthy, 26-year-old Brockton (Mass.) belter, tore out of his corner with the advice of Trainer Charley Goldman ringing in his ears.
"Get him now."
He did. A scowl on his face, Rocky blazed after the tiring champ. A left hook flush to the jaw dropped Louis. At two, he was on one knee while he listened to Referee Ruby Goldstein's count. At eight he was up... but he was done.

Marciano stormed after him. A right to the head dazed the Bomber. He tottered back against the ropes and his hands fell to his sides. Then a crumpling left hook to the chin and a right to the head and Joe started down.
As the fall began, Rocky ripped another left hook to the body and Louis went through the ropes and on to the apron of the ring on his back. This was all, he didn't move.
Goldstein took one look at the helpless champion and spared him a count. He waved his arms and it was all over.
Louis' comment on the big punch:
"I saw the right hand coming, but I couldn't do anything about it. I was awfully tired. I'm too old I guess."

Penny Has One Of College's Big Jobs

The Dean of Men, who is responsible directly to the President of the College, is considered by college officials as one of the toughest and least publicized jobs on the college staff.
The over-all supervision of student life... responsible for the development and welfare of the student other than academic... encourage and recognize outstanding performance in student leadership.

little surprise that upon graduation from Elyria High School, the oldest high school west of the Allegheny Mountains, he enrolled at Ohio State University.
Starting to college in 1920 brought Penberthy together with many sports notables. The present track and swimming coaches of Ohio State, Larry Snyder and Mike Peppe, respectively, were both his classmates. George Guthrie, a nationally known track star and a one-time member of the United States Olympic team, was another classmate in college.
Changing courses three times, Penberthy remained at Ohio State for six years where he was a member of the freshman track team, Sigma Delta Rho fraternity, Seaboard and Blade, an honorary military organization; and a cadet lieutenant colonel in the ROTC in command of the artillery regiment.
After he graduated from the university in 1926, he came to A&M as assistant director of the physical education department. He was placed in charge of intramural athletics, which was a part of the athletic department at that time.
Started by H. H. House, now at Washington University, the intramural program was only three years old then, but it was similar to the one now in operation. Penberthy said. From 1935 to 1940 intramurals were at their peak, although they were only 12 years old, he added.
In 1937 he became head of the physical education department, and the intramural program was formed into a department of its own. After ten years with the physical education department, he became Dean of Men in 1947.
Mr. and Mrs. Penberthy, who live on Hensel Drive, North Oakwood in Bryan, are the parents of three children: Wally, 17; Beth, 15; and Jean, 13.

Little took on an added chore along with Sam Moses. These two powerful tackles had the all-important job of delaying the ends on defense.
At several times during the game, A&M was employing four tackles. Besides Little and Moses, two more tackles were seeing service at their regular spots.
Jim Fowler, Van Heatherly, and Alvin Langford were outstanding for the Aggies with their alert linebacking. They were often the Cadets standing in the holes opened by the Baylor line.
Bobby Shaeffer should also be praised for his defensive play. He was always giving pass receivers a headache and time after time he broke in to set the Baylor runners for a loss.

it absolutely necessary that the best possible UMT plan be put into effect as soon as conditions permit.
Senator Cain (R-Wash) and Senator Hunt (D-Wyo), also members of the Armed Services Committee, predicted stormy debate on the issue. Both lawmakers said, however, they hope Congress will enact legislation clearing the way for starting UMT when feasible.
Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said he will continue to oppose the projected UMT program "because it would put an eight-year mortgage on the lives of all our young men at the very time they should be getting a start on their careers."
Seven Months
Johnson was referring to a provision of the plan requiring seven and a half years in a reserve component after six months of UMT training. That would make trainees subject to call in the reserves of the Army, Navy, Marines or Air Force, or in the ground or Air National Guard.
The five-man National Security Training Commission is headed by James W. Wadsworth, a former Republican member of Congress from New York.

Texas Flag In Korea

The Texas flag flies from a crude, hand-hewn pole in Korea. It marks the spot where 149 members of Battery A of the 25th Infantry Division's 69th Field Artillery Battalion became honorary citizens of Texas. Governor Allan Shivers sent a message praising the battalion combat record and congratulating the men on their adoption by the people of Texas.

Austin Site Of New Air Reserve Branch

An Air Force District Headquarters supervising all reserve activities in Texas will be in operation in Austin before Jan. 1, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert announced recently.
The headquarters is a test project to determine the best method of administering reserve personnel and supervising their training, Zuckert said. For Texas Air Force reservists, the new headquarters will provide all administrative and supervisory functions now being performed by 14th Air Force Headquarters at Robbins Air Force Base, Georgia.
Zuckert pointed out that the Austin headquarters is a part of the experimental phase of the recently announced long range reserve plan, a five-year plan aimed at making the Air Force reserve a more efficient organization.
Test district headquarters are being set-up also in Harrisburgh, Pa., San Francisco, and Indianapolis. This test program, to extend over the next 12 months, is expected to set the pattern for the establishment and operation of future reserve districts.
The long-range plan calls for 48 districts of the nation's Air Force reserve organization. Generally, each state will be a district.
Under supervision of 14th Air Force, personnel at the Austin headquarters is expected to include about 50 officers, 170 airmen and 100 civilians.
Texas was selected as a test-tube for the district plan because Air Force reservists in Texas represent approximately 35 per cent of the reserve population in the 12-state area supervised by the Fourteenth. The major portion of the Air Force reservists in Texas live within a 200-mile radius of Austin.

Organization of the Austin headquarters pends acquiring suitable office space in the city.
The Texas Air Force Reserve District will administer approximately 600 permanent-party Air Force personnel. This includes Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps (AF ROTC), Volunteer Air Reserve Training (VART), liaison, and Air Force Reserve Training Center (AFRTC) personnel.
Records of all Texas reservists will be maintained at the Austin headquarters.
The Austin test headquarters is the second experiment to be initiated in Texas in connection with the new Air Force Reserve Long-range plan, drawn up by Brig. Gen. Robert Smith of Dallas. A test survey of reserve manpower is in progress now in Dallas.

Ballon Fire Burns 13 UN Soldiers

Panmunjom, Korea, Oct. 29.—(AP)—One of four hydrogen-filled balloons over the armistice talk site exploded this afternoon, burning 13 American soldiers.
Some soldiers extinguished their flaming clothing by leaping into a nearby river.
The big yellow balloon had been lowered for refilling when it exploded.
The balloons are to warn aircraft away from the area.
Helicopters evacuated 11 men, who suffered the worst burns. An ambulance took the other two back to UN lines.
Supplies in the area caught fire and threatened to ignite a stack of small cans of hydrogen.
Lt. Col. Joseph Borchert of Salt Lake City, Utah, with three enlisted men rushed into the burning area and shoveled sand on the flames.
Communist Security Police inspected the scene of the explosion and asked for a full report from UN Military Police Lieutenant Howard C. Hoppus of Warsaw, Ind.
"I would do the same if anything happened to their equipment," Hoppus said after replying to all the Communist questions.
When Chinese and North Korean administration personnel gathered around the burned men waiting to be evacuated, a United Nations staff officer went into the liaison tent and asked the Communist Security Officer to clear the area.
"I will if you make it a formal declaration," the Red officer said.
"I ask it as a humanitarian gesture," the Allied officer replied.
The Communist refused, but within a few minutes the last injured man was taken away.

Israel's Views Sought Over East Defense

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Reliable sources report the United States, Britain, France and Turkey are seeking Israel's views on the projected Middle East defense command which Egypt refused two weeks ago to join.
The informants said envoys for the four Western powers called at the foreign ministry yesterday with notes from their governments. The urgency of the situation was said to have prompted the Sunday visits.
Egypt bluntly rejected the Western invitation to become a founding member of the Middle East alliance, which would set up an international force to guard the Suez Canal. She contended the British must get out of the Canal Zone and the Sudan before she would even consider the plan.
The Western Powers indicated they would go ahead with their plans without Egypt.
At the same time Egypt junked her treaties under which British forces were stationed in the two territories and has been trying—so far without success—to throw the Britons out.

Hilliard Responsible For MSC Events

"Chancellor of Social Life at A&M" is a title which could easily be bestowed on Mrs. Ann Hilliard, who is in her second year as social director of the MSC.
Along with her work at the MSC, which consists of conducting all committees, handling details of social activities of off-campus and on-campus activities, Mrs. Hilliard also acts as counselor for many students.
Always ready to listen to student's problems, she has indeed been a friend to the Aggies. Included in this task, her personality and charm have always made the student's parents and A&M visitors feel at home in the "living room of the campus."
It was with little surprise to the people that have in any way come in contact with Mrs. Hilliard that in the spring of 1948 she received one of the annual Battalion awards, which cited her "for her organization and operation of the Annex Student Center and for her work in planning a social calendar for Little Aggie-land."
Her first contact with A&M was in 1941 when she was secretary to W. R. Horsley of the placement office. In 1946, she became the first social director of the freshmen at the Annex, where she was working in connection with the Office of Student Activities.

Again planning to enliven the Aggie social life this year, she started her program with the annual president's reception for the freshmen in the MSC in September. All of the committees of the MSC which were under her direction last year, have been opened on an even bigger scale this year by Mrs. Hilliard after the large turnout the students have demonstrated.
The hardest part of her job, she said, is coordinating the various banquets, dances, and exhibits which make up the MSC activity program.
When the words "MSC activity" are heard, one can be sure that somewhere in the middle of all the plans and operations will be Mrs. Hilliard, who has made the MSC the place it is today.
