

CHS Readies For Somerville

By HUGH PHILIPPUS
BATTALION STAFF WRITER

The A&M Consolidated Tigers take on a comparatively weak Somerville team Friday on Tiger field at College Station. Somerville with a 1-2 record comes to College Station in hopes of pulling an upset, for last week they lost to Lexington 13-22. The Tigers are heavily favored over Somerville for they are leading the 24-B conference and Somerville is running just out of the cellar in conference standings. Consolidated fought to a 7-7 tie with Hempstead this past week, but obtained the conference lead by winning the game on first downs 11-6 with the penetrations standing 3-3. Also the Tigers boast wins over Waller 34-0, Magnolia 20-19, and a stern defeat over Milano 80-0.

A&M Consolidated started out with what looked like a weak team, for it lacked a lot of experience, but Coach Chafin whipped his material into a ball team that has now climbed to the top of the 24-B district and sitting there securely.

With the fine record of A&M Consolidated and all past showings, it looks as if the Tigers will not have too much trouble with Somerville here Friday night.

SMU Clash In '50 Tops Says Shaeffer

By BUDDY SHAEFFER
As Told To Pat LeBLANC

"My greatest thrill came in the SMU game last year, when we beat them 25-20. It had been nip and tuck all the game. We were the underdogs and we were behind at the time. I was playing on defense at the time, replacing linebacker Flowers who had been injured earlier in the game. Whenever we (the defensive team) left the field, I heard Bob like they couldn't believe that we had come from behind to win. But we had. Then the Aggies went crazy. It was Smith that had turned the trick. "If you can score when the chips are down, then you're definitely an All-American. "Two of my hometown buddies, Conrad Webb and Mickey O'Kane, carried me off the field. "I was too excited to say anything to them when they were carrying me. "Everybody was going wild in the locker room. We were hugging and congratulating each other. "Harry (Stiteler) was like the rest of us. Robert (Buddy) Shaeffer played an outstanding defensive game against the Frogs of TCU, two weeks ago. Nothing short of sensational, would be a good description of his performance in that game. He intercepted passes, recovered fumbles and tackled hard during the entire game. Buddy was also impressive this year in the Trinity game, in which he made three unassisted tackles and three assisting stops. Last year, playing mostly on defense, he performed 182 minutes for the Aggies. Buddy is a six-foot senior, who weighs 175 lbs. and is 21 years of age. Aggressiveness is one of the assets that Buddy has. Because of this valuable asset, he has been playing regularly as defensive end and linebacker. Shaeffer is a pre-dental student, who hopes to enter dental school next year.

Smith say, 'That's all right gang, we'll get it (the lead) back. "Sikes went in to quarterback. "He called an off-tackle play. Billy Tidwell, Glenn Lippman and Bob Smith were working in the backfield with Sikes. "Sikes handed off to Bob who headed out to left and cut through the line. "At first, I thought he was trapped. "Everybody on the SMU team got a hold of him, but Bob shook them off. He went all the way. "The corps in the stands went wild. "We went back in on defense. SMU had been so lucky that day I was worried. "They (the coaches) sent in Lippman at guard to cover Rote. "SMU tried several passes. Rote caught one of them and Glenn tackled him to end the game. "It was a great feeling. "Everyone was going hog wild. "They (the Corps) were stunned. They momentarily looked

Little Named For Defensive Ability

Jack Little, Aggie right tackle has been named top lineman of the week by The Battalion along with Hugh Meyer, center.

A junior from Corpus Christi, Little also received the honor of being top lineman of the week following the University of Oklahoma game by the Associated Press.

A double duty man, he saw most of his duty Saturday against Baylor on the defensive lineup.

He had the all-important job of delaying the ends on the Baylor eleven but still got into the backfield to make his quota of tackles. Showing All-American possibilities, the powerful tackle grummed up the Bear running attack on several occasions and repeatedly wound up in the Bruin backfield worrying their star passer and quarterback Larry Isbell.

OU Game

In the OU game, Little played such an outstanding game that Coach Ray George commented, "I

Rifle Team Win Over Baylor; Arkansas Next

The Texas Varsity Rifle Team has started the year off with a "bang" says M/Sgt. William R. Reese, team coach.

In a recent match held here on the campus with Baylor, the Aggie team scored a total of 1368 points out of a possible 1500 points while Baylor's Team scored 1272 points.

The Aggie Team was composed of six men with the five highest scores to count. The six men who fired for A&M and their scores were B. G. Durill, 267; O. H. Hill, 267; J. Rowe, 270; J. Bruce, 273; R. Lyons, 275; and C. C. Schlinke, 283. All the scores were fired with a possible of 300.

A&M's next match will be a 5-man team match with Arkansas. This will be fired in Fayetteville, Arkansas, Saturday morning, before the Aggies meet Arkansas on the gridiron that afternoon.

Rodeo Team Set For Arlington Meet

The Aggie Rodeo Club elected representatives to contest in the intercollegiate rodeo to be held at Arlington State College this weekend.

Members chosen to compete were Jim Smith, Bobby Rankin, Lowie Rice, George Garretson, Don Tabb, and Jack Willingham.

These same members were also selected to represent A&M at an intercollegiate rodeo at Sul Ross Nov. 15-17. The group also voted to change the date of its meetings to the second and fourth Mondays of each month at 7 p. m.

Meyer Chosen For Heads-Up Playing

All-American candidate Hugh "Gar" Meyer, Aggie co-captain and center, has been named lineman of the week by The Battalion for his outstanding heads-up play against Baylor.

Playing nearly the entire game on both offense and defense, Meyer continued to make a name for himself as linebacker and as always was present in the center of the line to open holes for the powerful running attack of the Cadets.

Meyer, 22-year-old senior from Gainesville who distributes his 203 pounds into a 6 ft. 1 inch frame.

Two-Year Letterman

A two-year letterman, he is one of the linebacking stalwarts along with Jim Flowers and Van Hetherly who give the Aggie defensive line the effect of a brick wall.

He received only secondary SWC recognition last year, but game movies have proven to A&M's coaches that Meyer is the best

Puryear Wins Over Mitchell In Thriller

Puryear continued their undefeated drive through the intramural non-military campaign by stopping Mitchell, 6-2. The winners tallied on a long pass from Speck Davenport to Dale Thompson.

The most sensational run of the day was turned in by Dago Davis who circled end and suddenly discovered he had no pants, as he lost them when his flag was pulled from his waist.

Bizzell battled to within one foot of the Law goal but was stopped short of the pay stripe as Law and Bizzell battled to a 0-0 deadlock. Don Fisser was the spark for Law as he shone brightly with his sparkling passes and runs. Edwards was outstanding for Bizzell.

Basketball

Company 13 coasted to an 18-9 win over Company 14. Graham was the high point man for Company 13 with nine counters. Crawford paced the losers with three tallies and Church rang up four counters for Company 14.

Company 12 Wins

Company 12 sacrificed the first game to the Fish Band but came storming back in the final two sets to edge the bandsmen, 2-1. Shanks and Harrington took the first set for the losers by winning 5-3.

Schlieter and Johnson took the second set for Company 12 5-2. Zale and Morrison wrapped up the contest for the winners with a 5-3 win over Scott and Mrazek of the Band.

Great Career Ends As Louis Bows Out

By ED HOLDER
Battalion Sports Writer

The book, "Champion Joe Louis", is closed and ready to be filed away on the dusty shelves of some sport enthusiast's library.

When the Brown Bomber went down for the final long count Friday night, a definite period of boxing came to a halt.

"Old Joe" held the title "Heavyweight Champion of the World" longer than any other man in history, but it's all over except the memories.

Rocky Marciano, the soon-to-be victor, said shortly after the bout, "It's just another fight."

This doesn't sound like quotes from Louis's challengers of the past when it was then common knowledge that "Joe's right hand" packed enough dynamite to blow a contender from the ring and land him below in the box seats.

The ring is a place for young blood, and Marciano showed the world with his now famous right cross, when he ended a potential comeback for Louis.

But it won't be easy for fans in the future to look up to the ring at some newcomer and comment, "That's the greatest boxer of all time." For when they do they will have to answer to the records.

Joe fought a total of 73 heavy-weight bouts, and can boast an astonishing record of 70 wins. His first loss went to Max Schmeling in a knockout. This one he avenged when he came back and floored Max without effort.

His second loss was to Ezzard Charles when he dropped his championship. And the third was the latest, to young Marciano. The Brown Bomber defended the world's championship for a very long 17 years, taking on all comers and never once committing a foul (See LOUIS, Page 6)
