

'Attic Item' Exchange Opened by Study Club

Good used children's clothing, small household appliances and accessories, toys, kitchen utensils, adult's clothing, used books, and any other items with sales value will be handled at a Community Exchange to be opened in the home of Mrs. T. K. Chamberlain, 400 Montclair South, at 9 a.m. Dec. 1.

The new store will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. every Saturday and Wednesday, with members of the Campus Study Club donating their time to operate the exchange, for the benefit of all local residents.

Profits from the Community Exchange will be used by the study group for worthwhile community projects. This year their main objectives are to help the Lincoln School health program and the A&M Consolidated School Library.

Wednesday at Exchange

All residents wishing to sell any such items may bring them to the Community Exchange next Wednesday, Nov. 28, and the goods will be put up for sale at the store's opening.

Anyone with items for sale who cannot bring them to the store Wednesday may call Mrs. R. D. Chenoweth, 4-7077, to make arrangements to take them to her home at 411 Montclair South.

"The Club hopes to serve student wives, especially, with an exchange section of children's clothes and toys, maternity clothing, and household appliances. A handicrafts room is expected to be of interest to all members of the community," said Mrs. A. W. Melloh, of the publicity committee for the Study Club.

Mrs. R. D. Cenoweth, coordinator for the project, states that handicraft items, such as leather belts, purses and billfolds, metal work, ceramics, Christmas corsages, centerpieces, paintings and art work, and hand made baby clothes, aprons, embroidered towels, and similar items may all be sold by local creators, at a profit for the club, the buyer, and the person making the goods.

A stated price, agreed upon by the seller and the management, will be paid to the seller when items are sold by the exchange. It is necessary that the Community Exchange Management reserve the right to refuse to accept for sale such things as are not in proper condition, or on items which might cause overstocking.

Mrs. Kenneth R. Bailey and Mrs. F. B. Clark will be responsible for the procurement of special merchandise.

little White House at Key West, Fla. today. With them are Chief Justice and Mrs. Vinson and several governmental officials.

As the presidential party sits down to its holiday feast, the rest of the world anxiously watches developments that may mean peace or war for this country. In Panmunjom, American officers have promised an answer to the latest Communist counter-proposal for a cease fire in the Korean War. There was cautious optimism that both sides are coming closer together on the first of several difficult problems to be solved before the guns are still.

In Rome and Paris, European and American political and military leaders meet in efforts to speed up the rearmament programs of the various free nations. As one group works for rearmament, the UN seeks to find a common meeting ground between West and East on a disarmament program.

Responsible For Socialism?

"Who is responsible for the socialistic trend in the United States," was another question directed to the panel.

Lyon replied the trend was based on votes of the people, which were influenced by the fact that more people now work for the government.

Fat Man Starves

Daily disagreed slightly with Lyon on the same question, emphasizing that during the 1930's a man would do almost anything to better himself. Socialism, however, can be compared to a fat man starving to death, he added. E. F. Graham, vice president of the Southwestern Gas and Electric Company entered the discussion to say that socialism appealed to the voters because it seemed like a way of getting something for nothing.

Ten questions had been asked the panel, when Boddie said the formal meeting was scheduled to last only an hour. At this point the meeting was adjourned. The businessmen remained another 30 minutes answering additional questions.

The tidelands issue, government taxation, and socialism in the United States and Great Britain were some other topics discussed.

Student participation in the discussion was evidenced when Dan Davis, a senior business administration student, shocked the panel with facts he had gathered about British socialism while touring the country last summer.

Davis calmly told the panel, which had ridden British socialism, during previous discussions, that the present nationalization of certain industries in Britain had increased their output over prewar totals.

No Comment

Dailey pleaded that he lacked figures, Lyon said he had never been to Britain, and Graham did not comment.

The panel which plans to tour colleges and universities throughout Texas was brought to A&M under the auspices of the Business and Accounting Society.
