BA Students Offer Prizes For Contest

Business administration students, while conducting a survey of marketing conditions in the area, found people more cooperative when prizes were offered.

The survey was conducted last week by a marketing and research class taught by J. R. Miller, professor of marketing. Purpose of the survey, which was a class project, was to determine why local Bryan and College Station shoppers journeyed out of town to make purchases.

Questionnaires containing 11 questions were mailed to 490 residents in Brazos County. The names were picked from the city directory at random.

In the letter containing the questionnaire, there was a note explaining that a drawing would be held and prizes given three winners. Forty per cent of the questionnaires were answered and returned, according to Dr. Miller.

Prizes were given three local citizens today at the noon luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The prizes, of merchandise and food, were donated by merchants in the J.C's.

Dr. Miller said a report will be made of the project to help solve problems for the merchants of College Station and Bryan.
