Lippman Number One SWC Ball Carrier, Riggs Second

Although in last place in SWC standings, A&M is still the offense leader, having racked up a total of 3025 yards rushing and passing. Close behind is the Larry Isbell sparked Baylor team with a total of 3022 yards, with conference leading TCU third with 2657 yards and Texas fourth with 2521 yards.

On pass defense the Aggies are in first place, allowing opponents only 82.6 yards through the air per game.

The Longhorns hold down the second position giving up 92.0 yards through the air and Baylor third allowing foes 97 yards per contest.

Lippman Still Leads

Glenn Lippman, leading ground gainer in the conference, and Jack Little, A&M's huge tackle, both earned first place positions on the United Press All-Conference team.

Aggie center Hugh Meyer won the middle post on the Second team while Bob Smith, Cadet Fullback, placed on the Third team.

Every team in the loop, with the exception of the conference leading Frogs, placed men on the 1951 United Press All-Southwest Conference teams.

Baylor, which has been among the nation's top 10 elevens in the United Press rankings most of the season, took three of the positions, including the only two unanimous choices, while A&M, Texas, and Rice placed two each.

The remaining two first team positions went to SMU and Arkansas. The combination of Isbell, quarterbacking passer, to Stan Williams pass catching end, shared the unanimous votes.

First TD On Kyle Field In '51 Oklahoma Game Is Tops

By GLENN LIPPMAN
As Told To PEPE LeBLANC

"We were on the Oklahoma 25 yard line.

"It was early in the second quarter and this year's Oklahoma game was scoreless.

"We were in the huddle. I can't remember who was the quarterback at the time but Billy Tidwell had a hunch for a good play.

"We listened to Billy call the play. He said that he had great idea. In his plan I was to carry the ball.

"The ball was snapped. Tidwell got the ball and handed it off to me.

"I started out wide around my right end. There were three blockers ahead of me. As well as I can remember it was W. T. Rush, Elo (Nohavitzka) and Hugh (Meyer), doing the blocking.

"This hunch play of Tidwell's must have caught O. U. off guard because I went all the way.

"This was the first time that I had scored a touchdown on Kyle Field.

"This first touchdown is truly my greatest thrill in football.

"Last year in the games played on Kyle Field, it seemed as if everytime we got near the goal line, I was replaced.

"I remember in the Arkansas game last year, played here on Kyle Field, that Yale Lary scored three times.

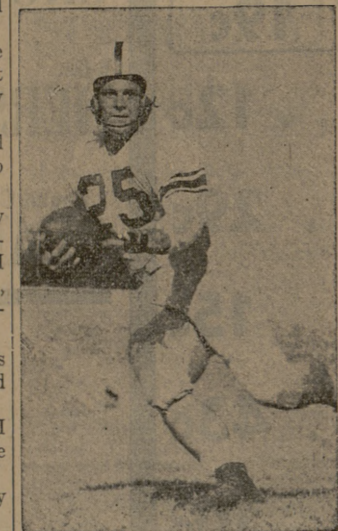

"Tidwell and I alternated at the left half position in that Arkansas game. I never did score from the position, but he did.

"I also got a great thrill when I scored our second and final touchdown in this year's 14-7 win over O. U.

"The two scores that I had made in this game were the only scores that I had made at Kyle Field.

"The funny thing about it all was that I scored both times when we were against the wind.

"I can really remember the wind. I think that it helped us beat O. U.

Lippman All-SWC

this time when we were going so good and working like a team, again, the wind was against us.

"We had been near the goal several times and couldn't score. Of course, at these times the wind was with us.

When this scribe asked Lippman as to how he and the team felt prior to the game, he commended, "I felt good before the game and I had a hunch that we were going to win this one.

"I know the team felt fine. We knew that this OU team was really the test for us.

"This game gave us some kind of indication as to what kind of team that we had. We all knew that Oklahoma had a great team.

Lippman responded about what happened after the final gun blast.

"The Corps was in an uproar and it looked like a bedlam broke loose in the stands.

"The first person that I saw was Jim Weatherall of the O. U. team. He was a friend of mine. We had played against each other in the North-South High School All-Star game.

"Some freshman carried me off the field. I don't remember the freshman saying anything but I know that he was happy. I felt great.

"We (the team) all went to the lecture room. Coach George congratulated us. It sure made us feel good.

"In fact, Coach George always comes around and congratulates us, no matter how we had played or what we had done in the game."

Glenn Lippman is a 5' 8", 170 pound halfback who is the current leader in total offense in the SWC.

Earlier this season, this 21-year-old senior was picked by the UP as the "Player of the Week" for his outstanding performance in the Oklahoma game.

Everyone was surprised in this O. U. tilt when Lippman's name was announced to start at the fullback slot. This El Campo product also played defensive guard in the '50 SMU tilt.

In high school at El Campo, Lippman received such high honors as All District and All-America.

He is majoring in mechanical engineering and has a straight "A" average.

One of the Best

Harley Sewell TU Guard

Sewell Rated Best Of Texas Guards

In this day of concentrated recruiting, Texas University points proudly to the fact that one of its greatest players cost only one penny post card.

That was the investment made by Texas in its efforts to recruit Harley Sewell, termed by Line Coach J. T. King "the best defensive lineman I've seen in the Southwest." Now in his junior season with the Longhorns, the 220-pound Sewell from St. Jo, Texas is the team's nearest approach to a 60-minute man.

Impressed with Sewell's appearance, Blair Cherry, then the TU head coach, dropped a post card to the youngster early that summer and offered him a scholarship.

Sewell became a regular on the defensive platoon as a sophomore, and has been that middle man of Texas' five-man line ever since.

Sewell Quick

"Sewell is so quick and strong he can react and get back into play after being partially blocked," Head Coach Price points out.

"Harley never has had a bad day," says King, "and what's more he has never had a bad practice. He is the most consistent lineman I have ever seen, in addition to his physical qualifications he has the desire to play good football."

Sewell did not play a single offensive down as a sophomore, but he won All-American Bud McFadin's position on the offensive platoon this year without much competition.

He plays virtually full time on defense, about half time on offense and is a member of the kick-off, punting and extra-point platoons.

Sixth Sense

King credits Sewell with having a sixth sense so far as defensive play is concerned. "He is lot like KIK Aldrich (TCU's All-American center in '38) and other great linebackers; he has a nose for that pighide."

Sewell plays what King describes "the most difficult positions in defensive football," that middle man in the five-man line, where rival blockers constantly are trying to double-team him.

If Sewell continues to stand out as he has in the past games for the Longhorns, he could easily make things rough for the Cadet ball carriers. He is the center of a good forward wall that will have to be shoved out of the way before the Aggies can hope to score.

Longhorns Have to Win To Get Orange Bowl Bid

By GUS BECKER
Battalion Sports Writer

The Texas University Longhorns playing under a new coach and using a new formation will probably get a bid to the Orange Bowl if they can get past the Aggies Thursday afternoon.

For the first time the Steers are using the new split T-formation and it has been very successful, grinding out 2521 yards in nine games.

One of the strong points of the TU team is the effective defense which has stopped teams such as Kentucky, (Cotton Bowl participant), Purdue, Oklahoma, Rice, TCU and SMU.

All-American Bud McFadin, All-SWC Ken Jackson, Ben Proctor, and Dick Rowan are missing from the Longhorn line-up but it hasn't hurt the effectiveness of the Steer forward wall.

Dan Page and T. Jones alternate at the quarterback slot for the Texas squad. Although Ben Tompkins is missed, these two lads have done a very good job of calling plays.

Byron Townsend has failed to live up to pre-season expectations and a junior, Dick Ochoa has been the big gun at the fullback position.

The Conference's leading scorer, Gib Dawson, who has scored 56 points so far this year runs from a halfback post, while Don Barton handles the other halfback slot along with Bobby Dillon.

Menasco—All-American

Big Don Menasco, All-American on the Associated Press poll last year along with June Davis are as good a pair of linebackers as can be found in the SWC.

Tom "Swede" Stohlanske, the big end on the Longhorn eleven, has been mentioned for All-American honors this year and should be one of the ends on the All-SWC squad.

Thursday's game will see half of the top ten leading ball carriers perform, in A&M's Glenn Lippman and Bob Smith, and TU's Dawson, Ochoa, and Barton.

Stohlanske was one of the two sophomores to make the 1950 starting offensive lineup and is the lone regular returning to the offensive line.

Last season, Stohlanske caught 23 passes for 314 yards and one touchdown, but since Head Coach Ed Price has been unable to develop a passer to compare with Tompkins the Longhorns have been mostly a ground team.

The Texas squad have attempted the fewest passes of any SWC team with 70 and have completed only 26 for 462 yards.

Menasco who was on virtually all defensive selections for All-SWC is a defensive specialist and is called "Tiger" by his teammates.

End Paul Williams, made several All-SWC selections last year as he specialized on defense and he has been the regular defensive end all season.

One of the top sophomores on the squad, Gilmer Spring has developed into an excellent offensive end for the Steers.

At the tackles, Bill Wilson an outstanding defensive man for two seasons and Jim Lansford, chosen on the Houston Press All-SWC defensive platoon last year, have been seeing double duty this year.

Davis who plays guard on offense has proved an excellent "60 minuteman" along with Bill Milburn who was shifted to tackle this year to bolster the weak center of the forward wall.

Jack Barton has held down the center slot for the steers, seeing double duty in a few games this year.

Harley Sewell the successor to McFadin has come through beautifully for the Steers and will probably receive All-SWC recognition at the guard position.

Lippman, Little On UP All-Conference

Glenn Lippman, leading ground gainer in the Conference, and Jack Little, A&M's huge tackle, both earned first place positions on the United Press All-Conference team.

Aggie center Hugh Meyer won the middle post on the Second team while Bob Smith, Cadet Fullback, placed on the Third team.

Every team in the loop, with the exception of the conference leading Frogs, placed men on the 1951 United Press All-Southwest Conference teams.

Baylor, which has been among the nation's top 10 elevens in the United Press rankings most of the season, took three of the positions, including the only two unanimous choices, while A&M, Texas, and Rice placed two each.

The remaining two first team positions went to SMU and Arkansas. The combination of Isbell, quarterbacking passer, to Stan Williams pass catching end, shared the unanimous votes.
