

A&M TRIPS TU ON KYLE FIELD; AUSTIN STILL MOANS

By BOB SELLECK
Battalion Sports Editor

A&M and TU ended their 58th gridiron battle on Kyle Field Thursday with a game that will long be remembered. The Cadets overran a favored Longhorn squad to win 22-21, a great victory for 19 departing Aggie seniors.

Combining efforts of all Cadets playing 60-minute ball enabled the Aggies to overcome a Texas 14-7 lead and trounce the Longhorns for the first time since 1939.

It was the El Campo Ghost, Glenn Lippman scampering all over the field never scoring but rolling up 173 yards in 19 carries to lead the offensive punch.

Yale Lary, Darrow Hooper, Buddy Shaeffer, Dick Gardemal, and Johnny Salyer showed the way with their sparking offensive and defensive play.

Dick Gardemal, Cadet quarterback, engineered the whole attack, pulling some surprise quarterback sneaks that always came at the right time for necessary yardage. Gardemal mixed his plays well and kept the TU defense guessing all afternoon.

Dick, who has been sharing duties with Ray Graves all season, had the game all to himself and made the most of it. He completed four out of eight passes for 70 yards, one a touchdown pass to Yale Lary.

Perfect Weather

Playing in perfect football weather, the Aggies started right from the first as if they meant to really win by driving from their own 36 deep into Texas territory.

Billy Tidwell, Cadet halfback, took the ball on the TU 14-yard line, started to his left; was momentarily caught behind the line of scrimmage; reversed his field and went all the way for the score. Dick Gardemal and Glenn Lippman threw key blocks that paved the way for the onrushing Tidwell.

Darrow Hooper added the extra point and the Aggies led 7-0 with just a little more than four minutes gone in the game.

Texas Scores

Before the Cadet fans had time to stop yelling, Dick Ochoa, TU fullback, broke through right tackle and lateraled to Gib Dawson on his own 40-yard line. Dawson went the rest of the distance untouched to put the University lads back in the game.

June Davis kicked the PAT and the score was all tied up, 7-7.

Texas' hard-running ground game started rolling late in the second quarter and was climaxed when Dick Ochoa, keeping the ball this time, scored from the one-yard line.

The half ended with the Cadets trailing the Austin boys 14-7. The last half told a different story with the Aggies putting on a show never seen by the two clubs in the history of their rivalry.

A&M received the kick-off and started a series of downs on their own 15. Gardemal kept the ball on a surprise bootleg and scooted for 17 yards through the stunned Steers.

Red Truce Plan Has 4 Points; Allies Object

Munsan, Korea, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Communist negotiators insisted today on four limitations to supervision of a truce in Korea. The Allies objected to all four.

The Reds may have other restrictions the Allies don't like. But these four came out in response to lengthy questioning by United Nations delegates in a newly created subcommittee.

The Reds would be free to build air fields during an armistice. So would the U.N. command. But the Allies have plenty and the Reds haven't a single usable field in Korea.

Neutral inspection would be limited strictly to ports of entry. The Allies want inspection teams free to go anywhere in Korea.

A ban on troop rotation. That would mean an end to American veterans coming home after a year of service.

No interference with or inspection of any reconstruction in Korea. Communist newsmen at Panmunjom said such construction work in North Korea is underground and the Reds don't want the Allies to know where it is.

The new subcommittee—two men from each side—was created today in an effort to beat a Dec. 27 deadline. A previous subcommittee drew a cease-fire line across the front to become effective if an armistice is signed by Dec. 27. That first subcommittee took more than three months.

Trics Speed-up

Vice-Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the five-man U.N. command negotiating team, tried to get more speed into negotiations. He proposed another subcommittee be cre-

Odessa Cleans House as Polio Sweeps City

Odessa, Tex., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Sore muscles and blistering hands were marks of good citizenship in Odessa today.

This West Texas oil and ranch center staged a mammoth cleanup drive yesterday in an effort to halt an epidemic of polio sweeping through the city and Ector county.

A total of 62 persons have suffered from polio since the first of the year—including three new cases reported yesterday. Nine have died.

Also prompting the cleanup were 53 cases of infant diarrhea which developed last week.

The clean-up campaign turned out thousands of citizens in work clothes. Many stores closed. Others operated with skeleton crews of women. Neighboring towns sent 120 trucks and drivers.

Housewives furnished hot coffee, food and water for the workers. Between 500 and 1000 truck loads of trash were hauled to two emergency dump grounds outside the city and burned.

Hundreds of children have been evacuated from the disease-stricken city since the siege began. Yesterday only 4,780 of the 9,885 enrolled pupils attended school.

There have been 50 cases in the city in November and December. Two were reported elsewhere in the county.

ated to start work on a clause for exchanging prisoners. North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il said he would give an answer. But he didn't say when.

There is one other point necessary for an armistice. That is recommendations to belligerent governments on the ultimate withdrawal of foreign troops.

Business Society Schedules Banking Forum Wednesday

Babe Might be Reason Aggies Ran Over Steers Thursday

Soothsayers might say there were a lot of things that contributed to the Aggies winning the Turkey Day Game. Some might say it was the biggest bonfire in recent history. Others say it was just luck.

But the desk clerk in the MSC thinks he has the real cause. He is Babe Lopez.

Babe has been for the college for the past 27 years. Most of this time was spent in the old Aggieiland Inn.

All during the time he was working for the college, he never saw an A&M football game. It always worked out that the desk clerk was on duty Saturday afternoon or night.

This week, Chris Gent, assistant to the director, decided to give Babe a chance. He told Babe to go to the game.

Babe went. The Aggies won. You name it. He might have been the good luck piece the Aggie squad needed when they went out on the field.

So when the soothsayers get together, here is another story for them to consider when they figure out why and how A&M broke the 11 year old Jinx.

Rotarians Hold Ladies Day At Weekly Meet

It was Ladies Day at the Wednesday meeting of the Bryan-College Station Rotary Club. Rotarians in large numbers brought their Rotary Anns who drew for partners and sat, not by their husbands, but by the Rotarian whose name they drew.

Mrs. Dick Hickerson introduced the Rotary Anns at her table as did Mrs. Fred Weick, Mrs. Russell Hillier and Mrs. George W. Schlesselman.

The program consisted of a number of thanksgiving hymns sung by a vocal trio of Bryan girls, Mary Ellen Fussell, Norma Lois Taylor, and Mary Beth Dowling. The singing was followed by two readings by Mrs. Walter Deleplane of College Station, entitled "I Like Americans" by Millett and a humorous reading from Mr. Dogly by Peter Dunn on corruption and graft in politics.

The invocation was given by Dr. I. W. Rupel and guests were introduced by Joe Wolke.

Visiting Rotarians were decorated with Texas Flowers by Mrs. G. W. Schlesselman.

Aggie Graduate Kittleband Attended A&M and Awarded BS Degree in Agricultural Administration in 1936.

Kittleband attended A&M and was awarded a BS degree in agricultural administration in 1936. He was employed by the First National Bank in Houston from 1936-49, with exception of a five year stretch in the Air Force from 1941-46. He moved to Beaumont in 1949 to accept a position with the American National Bank.

Kittleband holds a Pre-Standard Certificate from the American Institute of Banking and is working on a Graduate Certificate from the AIB. He is a former president of the Beaumont Chapter AIB, and has served as instructor for the AIB course, "Consumer Credit."

Two films will be shown at the meeting. They are "Pay to the Order of" which shows the use of bank checks, and "How Banks Serve", presenting banking service for the typical American family.

Faubion was a member of the class of 1922. He went to Houston in 1920, and was associated with the Union National Bank. Faubion went from the Union National Bank to the San Jacinto Bank, and is now with the Second National Bank as assistant vice president. The San Jacinto and Second National merged in 1944.

His Father Knows Best?

Recently the Amarillo Times ran the following blurb:

It seems there was a father who had become disgusted with the over-emphasis on football, and resolved to send his son to a school that didn't have a football team at all.

The youngster was duly enrolled at Texas A&M.

(Editor's Note: What was the score against TU?)

Ag Jack Little Named All-American—Look

Jack Little

Look Magazine All-American Offensive Tackle

Jack Little, A&M's mighty 220 pound tackle, was named today to Look Magazine's All-American offensive team by sportswriter Grantland Rice and the Football Writers Association of America.

Little was among four players from the Southwest Conference to make Look's mythical team for 1951. Others selected from the Southwest were End Stan Williams and Quarterback Larry Isbell of Baylor, and Halfback Bobby Dillon of the defense.

Little had already received honors from the AP and UP sportswriters for all-conference pickings. Colliers magazine also announced him to their regional All-American team from the Southwest this week.

Playing on the offense for the Aggies most of the time, Little was also the man who stayed on the field many times when offensive and defensive platoons were switching places.

Aggie Coach Ray George said about him after the Oklahoma University game, which A&M won 14-7. "Chalk up one perfect performance for Jack Little, a junior performer or should we say a pro on a varsity eleven."

Football Family

Little hails from a football playing family. His elder brother, Gene Little, plays offensive left guard for the Rice Owls. Little is a junior majoring in Physical Education from Corpus Christi. He is married.

Since his first day of college athletics at A&M, Little has blossomed. As a sophomore defensive player, he was tabbed by a pro scout as the best-looking tackle prospect in the Southwest Conference. He had a great year in 1950, receiving second team honors on the all-SWC team.

Look Magazine's team included the following:

Offensive Platoon
Ends—Stan Williams of Baylor and Bill McColl of Stanford.
Tackles—Don Coleman of Michigan State and Jack Little of Texas A&M.

Guards—Nick Liotta of Villanova and Ray Beck of Georgia Tech.
Center—Doug Moseley of Kentucky.

Backs—Larry Isbell of Baylor; Hank Lauricella of Tennessee; John Karras of Illinois; Dick Kazmaier of Princeton.

Defensive Platoon

Ends—Pat O'Donahue of Wisconsin and Frank McPhee of Princeton.

Tackles—Jim Weatherall of Oklahoma and Bill Pearman of Tennessee.

Guards—Bob Ward of Maryland and Chet Millet of Holly Cross.

Backers-Up—Les Richter of California and Pat Cannamela of Southern California.

Halfbacks—Bobby Dillon of Texas and Ollie Matson of San Francisco.

Safety—Al Brosky of Illinois.

Coaches Select Little, Lary, Meyer Named To All-Conference Teams

Dallas, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Jack Little, Yale Lary and Hugh Meyer were named for the 1951 All Southwest Conference Team. They were selected by the coaches of the seven conference schools.

It is an unusual team in many respects—one man made a position on both offensive and defensive platoons and brothers—the Foresters of Southern Methodist—each got a place.

Unanimous Choice
Unanimous choices were Gib Dawson and Bobby Dillon, Texas halfbacks, and Bill Athey, Baylor guard. However, Howton got the most votes, being picked for either offense or defense on every ballot and being named for both on some.

Dawson was picked for offense only and Dillon and Athey for defense.

Dick Hightower, Southern Methodist center, got only one vote fewer than Howton, being named for both platoons but not getting enough votes for offense. Little, Texas A&M tackle, received the full seven votes—the seven Southwest Conference coaches picked the teams—but his ballots were distributed between offense and defense. Bob Griffin of Arkansas was picked for both tackle, center and linebacker, ending up at tackle.

The Offensive Team
Ends—Bill Howton, Rice, and Stan Williams, Baylor; Tackles—Jack Little, Texas A&M, and Dave Hanner, Arkansas; Guards—Harley Sewell, Texas, and Herschel Forester, Southern Methodist; Center—Hugh Meyer, Texas A&M; Backs—Larry Isbell, Baylor; Lamar McHan, Arkansas, Ray McKown, Texas Christian and Gib Dawson, Texas.

The Defensive Team
Ends—Bill Howton, Rice, and Paul Williams, Texas; Tackles; Bob Griffin, Arkansas, and Herschel Forester, Southern Methodist; Guards—Bill Athey, Baylor, and Herb Zimmerman, Texas Christian; Linebackers—Keith Flowers, Texas Christian, and Dick Hightower, Southern Methodist; Backs—Bobby Dillon, Texas; Yale Lary, Texas A&M, and Bill Forester, Southern Methodist.

The grunt and groaners are coming to College Station one week from Friday, the local Lions Club announced. They are sponsoring a match between four of the big name wrestlers to be held in the Consolidated School Gymnasium.

Proceeds from the matches will go to the Lion's education fund and will be used in the libraries of Consolidated and Lincoln Schools.

As an added event the night of grunting and groaning will have two members of the Aggie Wrestling team try to dismember each other. After the Aggies get off the mat the main attractions—namely Al Lovelock, Fritz Schmale, Rudy Valentino, and Leo "Lion" Newman, will take over.

Army ROTC Men Deferred From Draft

Washington—A memorandum which virtually defers from the draft all college students now in Army Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) units was signed Thursday by Anna Rosenberg, assistant Secretary of Defense.

Aides of Mrs. Rosenberg said the memorandum told the army it could order local draft boards to defer up to 123,500 men in ROTC units.

Congress last year gave the Secretary of Defense the right to order the deferments and to set deferment quotas for the various services.

Until yesterday's order the number the army could order deferred was somewhat lower than the number enrolled in the Army ROTC units. This allowed draft boards to take a number of men who were in the units.

Since these training units are the army's major source of officers, it requested the defense secretary to change the quotas.

Mrs. Rosenberg's memorandum said that 53,000 men could be deferred in the first year basic ROTC class, 39,000 in the second year basic, 19,500 in the first year advanced class and 18,000 in the second year advanced. The four groupings correspond roughly to the four college classes.

The present enrollment in the last three groups is slightly lower than the quotas Mrs. Rosenberg authorized.

To get into an Army ROTC unit all a student has to do is sign up when he enters college. Many colleges require some ROTC training for graduation.

Actually, Mrs. Rosenberg's memorandum allows only an additional 3,700 deferments more than the army's previous quota. But it shifts the various class quotas by 12,000 and 5,000 respectively.

To insure fair play the mat men are bringing their own referee, and is now a referee, promoter, and wrestler.

All of the wrestlers will take part in the four event show. Who will wrestle who will be arranged when they get here, Jack Steele, publicity chairman said.

Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from any Lions Club member.

Bones Irvin Speaks At Harlingen Meet

Harlingen, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Athletic Director Barlow (Bones) Irvin of Texas A&M says college conferences should follow the example of the Texas Interscholastic League.

"There are plenty of faults in college athletics today," Irvin told the quarterback club here last night, "and there are plenty of good points, but colleges could follow the TIL in how it guides Texas high schools and high school athletes."
