New Activity Cards Needed

Admission to the Basketball game tonight in DeWare Field House is obtainable only to students having their Spring Semester Student Activity Card, along with their ID Card, was announced yesterday by Kenneth Bond, Athletic Publicity man for A&M.

He also added that in case the student's ID card was still in the process of being made, the student should secure a card from the photo lab stating so.

A student failing to have with him the proper credentials, will be admitted only by the purchase of a student ticket for 50 cents.

Bond also added that the Southside will be reserved for students, and that seats in this area will be on a first come-first serve basis. He commented that the doors will open at 5:30 p. m. and will be closed upon the filling of the student section.

Also to be of interest to the non-student followers of the '52 edition of Aggie Basketball, is the addition of 300 bleacher seats at the west end of the court, which is hoped to help solve the overflow crowd problem.

None of the players on the New York football Giants hails from the state of New York.

Texas Whips Bears, 58-46 To Gain Top Spot In SWC

Austin, Feb. 6—(P)—Texas' Longhorns gained first place in the Southwest Conference last night with a 58-46 defeat of Baylor's hustling Bears. The Steers advanced a half-game ahead of idle TCU.

Husky Jim Dowies paced the Longhorn attack, hitting nine field goals and four free tosses for 22 points.

After jumping into the lead with one minute gone in the first quarter, the Longhorns built up their margin until they led by 13 points midway of the second period. Texas led 30-19 at the half. The Bears hit seven of their first eleven shots to pull within five points, seven minutes deep in the third quarter. Substitute Bill Harris hit three field goals in four minutes.

The Longhorns pulled away once again early in the second half with Ted Price and George Sealing leading the way. Sealing with 16 and Price with 12 were runners-up in scoring.

Ralph Johnson led the Bear scoring with nine, followed by Harris with eight.

CRIMSON TIDE RULED THE COURT
Tuscaloosa, Ala.—(P)—The University of Alabama was once the scourge of the basketball court. That was when they had their longest winning streak in Crimson Tide cage history. It was a 22-game span covering the entire 1930 season (when they had a 20-0 record) plus the first two contests of 1931. The consecutive win mark was halted by Butler University in Indianapolis. The score was 23-20.

Tigers Move Closer To Cage Crown

By JIM ASHLOCK

Flashing an impressive conference record of nine wins and one loss after its 46-22 victory over Cameron Monday night, the district leading A&M Consolidated high school basketball team is preparing to battle here with Milano Friday night.

The game is the first of the Tigers' two remaining district games this season, the second scheduled for Tuesday night with Sharp.

The Tigers need only one more win to boost them into the regional tournament to be held in Huntsville from Feb. 29 to March 1. This tournament will bring together all the class B district champs from a wide area surrounding Huntsville.

Only One Defeat

Only team to mar Consolidated's otherwise perfect district record this season was Snook, who downed the Tigers in their first meeting 40-35. But in the return match Consolidated roared back to humble the Snook quintet 36-18 and take the district lead.

Consolidated Coach O. V. Chafin says that if his cagers defeat Milano Friday night they receive the district title despite the outcome of their game with Sharp.

Consolidated's youthful quintet is sparked by a starting lineup of two juniors and three sophomores, which makes the outlook for the next two years bright indeed so far as experienced material is concerned.

Holding down the two guard positions are Byron Andrews and Fred Anderson. Andrews, carrot-topped junior speedster, is extremely accurate with a one handed shot from two to three strides outside the free-throw circle. His speed also aids him in driving in for fast crisp shots.

Anderson, a sophomore, hits well on jump shots within the charity circle and is adept at sneaking in for crisp shots on the
