

Fun in French Manner Is Theme of MSC Project

A&M's version of Parisian night-life will unfold when the MSC opens its newest series of week-end dances, Cafe Rue Pinalle.

Cafe Rue Pinalle will open on Friday, Feb. 15, at 8:30 p.m. and have all the atmosphere of the typical French left bank night club . . . sans vino.

Gent Has Idea

The project was conceived by Chris Gent, MSC business manager, after hearing complaints that there was no place to take a date when she arrived on Friday.

School Debate

Orville Cox, chairman of the McAllen Citizens' League, sponsor of the debate, told the crowd that "a great deal of sentiment may be on one side or the other but we ask you to conduct yourselves with restraint and dignity."

Since Hoiles purchased the three newspapers recently they have adopted an editorial policy in opposition to tax supported schools.

This policy has been the subject of several protest meetings held recently in McAllen. Hofheinz also has challenged it over his radio.

A question and answer discussion between the two men on the same subject is set for tomorrow night.

There was no place to take a date when she arrived on Friday. The idea was turned over to the dance committee and placed under the direction of Holmes, junior business student from Corpus Christi.

Proper Atmosphere

To aid in creating the proper atmosphere, murals 10x12 feet portraying scenes from a French night club, will be hung around the room. The only illumination in the area will be lighted candles on the tables.

The Aggie Wives Bridge Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Assembly Room of the MSC instead of 8 p. m. as stated in The Battalion yesterday.

gram consultant, in the directorate office, and at the main desk in the bowling alley by Mrs. Elaine Lester.

"This is not an absolute necessity," said Miss Bolander, "however it should be done to avoid disappointment."

Audition

Any person or group interested in appearing on the floor show can arrange an appointment for an audition with Holmes.

"We will need all types of entertainers and since this project is operated for the students, I feel they should have a chance to help with the entertainment. It will be strictly all for fun and fun for all."

The colored murals, some of torch singers, bar room scenes, and typical "bar-flys," were all hand painted by Mrs. Betty Little and Mrs. Merle Cobb, both of the MSC advertising department.

The posters appearing on the campus were drawn by members of the Dance Committee under the direction of the two ladies and John Reeves, publicity chairman for the cafe.

New Queen

In remarking Windlesham Moor, a country house in Surrey, into a home for herself and Prince Philip, Elizabeth buried one of her girlhood's most grievous disappointments.

Her father had granted her Sunninghill Park, a beautiful Georgian estate near Ascot, as a bridal home. Rebuilding was underway when one night, about three months before her wedding, it caught fire and burned to a shell.

Homemaking gave her joy. She set great store by the home, both as an institution and as a center for her own living. Once she observed that "the strength of our country—or of any great country—lies in the home and the family."

Knew How to Cook

The Princess knew about homemaking early. She could turn a bed properly and cook a meal—she preferred plain cooking to fancy, and quick light meals to heavy ceremonious ones.

Elizabeth was born April 21, 1926, in the Bruton street home of her maternal grandfather, the Earl of Strathmore. A few yards away lay the quiet shade of Berkeley Square. The other way lay fashionable, busy Bond Street.

At the age of five weeks, the little girl was swathed in a historical royal christening robe and baptized into the Church of England in the private chapel of Buckingham Palace, then tenanted by her grandfather, George V. She was christened Elizabeth Alexandra Mary Windsor, after three queens of her country.

(It was a token of the times in which she grew up that the chapel in which she was named was smashed by a German bomb in the London "blitz" of 1941. Her birthplace was similarly torn up.)

Lincoln School students watch the progress of construction at their school. Work is to be finished in March.

Congress To Hear Newsman Today On 'Red' Massacre

Washington, Feb. 7—(AP)—An American newsman will tell congressmen today how Russian authorities tried to blame the German Nazis for the massacre of 10,000 Polish officers in World War II.

Henry Cassidy, former chief of the Associated Press bureau in Moscow and now news editor of NBC, has been called to testify before a special house committee investigating the massacre in Katyn Forest.

Four witnesses have told the committee already that the Russians shot and strangled the Polish prisoners whose bodies were found by the Germans.

Cassidy—One of a group of Moscow foreign correspondents taken by the Soviets to view mass graves at Katyn in mid-January, 1944. The forest is 35 miles west of Smolensk.

The Nazis located the graves the previous April when they overran Smolensk. Berlin immediately broadcast the news and said the Soviets had done the killing.

Moscow authorities answered the charge within 48 hours with the claim that the Nazis had killed the prisoners after capturing the area. Tadeusz Romer, former Polish ambassador to Moscow, testified that Soviet authorities had refused until then to answer official Polish inquiries as to the whereabouts of 15,000 missing Polish officers.

'Mask Man' Testifies

A former Polish soldier, wearing a pillowslip mask to hide his identity because he has relatives behind the iron curtain, testified yesterday that he witnessed the shooting or burial alive of 200 Polish officers in Katyn Forest. The date was early November, 1939.

Cassidy and several other foreign correspondents, including

The 1920 basketball team at A&M was the only one in the college's history to be undefeated. Captained by E. E. McQuillan, current director of the A&M Development fund, the Aggie team won 19 consecutive games. Coach in those days was Bill Driver.

Americans, were taken to Katyn to view the massed graves after Russia recaptured the area.

The party included the former Kathleen Harriman, daughter of W. Averell Harriman, then U. S. ambassador to Moscow. Published reports about the Katyn massacre have claimed that she subsequently wrote a secret report for the State Department supporting the Soviet claims.

Witness May Be Called Now Mrs. Stanley C. Mortimer, Jr., of New York City, her name may enter today's testimony. Committee counsel John Mitchell told a reporter he would call Mrs. Mortimer as a witness later.

Arthur Bliss Lane, former U. S. ambassador to Warsaw, has described in a magazine article (American Legion) what he termed "official attempts in Washington, beginning with Harriman's in Moscow, to cover up the Communist crime" at Katyn.

Mitchell has said Lane's charges will be taken up during the present investigation.
