

Shepard

Executive officers were Hollis Reynolds, executive vice president, and Mary Ann Stoke, executive secretary, both students of TSCW. Sheppard in his Saturday night address said, "college is democracy's last chance to install responsibility into the citizens before he is turned loose with the reins of the government."

"It is no longer sufficient that we have educated young people," he said in following up the "responsibility" theme of his speech.

"We must have people who have learned the three R's plus the fourth R—responsibility. The Ived Hall must be the prelude to the city hall.

"Liberty is safer in the hands of an illiterate but conscientious populace than in the hands of an educated people with no sense of responsibility."

Deploing the fact that "the average American is still talking about his inalienable rights, but he is not exercising them", Shepard warned, "the present generation is passing the buck to you. It is not meeting the issues—socially, politically, or economically."

The Secretary of the State ended his speech with a tribute to the American schools saying, "if America's halls of learning are dedicated to the dissemination of principle as well as fact, they will stand as monuments to a generation that plucked democracy from the brink of destruction and the 'we' back into 'We, the People!'"

Red Supply

supervision terms nominated Russia as a neutral observer.

"With the exception of a small amount of Japanese materiel left over from the Japanese occupation of Korea and Manchuria and materiel captured from U. N. forces in Korea, the North Korean army has been entirely equipped and, or, re-equipped with Soviet materiel," the intelligence report said.

"Recent reports have shown that the main source of supply for present Chinese Communist forces equipping and, or, re-equipping of units in Korea, or earmarked for Korea, is from Soviet furnished materiel.

"This Soviet furnished materiel, for both the NKA and CCF, has included tanks, self-propelled armored artillery, trucks, artillery, AAA guns (anti-aircraft), machineguns and various types of small arms. While some part of this ordnance has been manufactured in North Korea proper, the vast majority has come from either Russia or her satellite countries.

A&M's Rifle Teams

A&M's Rifle team placed sixth in the 3rd annual Southwest Invitational Small Bore Rifle Meet held last week-end in El Paso. Members of the team and instructors are: (left to right) standing—M/Sgt. William Reeve, T/Sgt. M. L. Oberste, Dan Grissom, Ray Lyons, V. E. Cadena, Carol Vance, C. D. Unrue and John Rowe. Kneeling—Ide Trotter, Lyle Wolfskill, Mort Kenigh, Luther Oliphant, and Capt. Paul M. Bennett. Not shown are Russel Durrill and Carl Schlinke.

Maroon and White Clash

points to the White's side to end the half, 18-6.

In the first two quarters Ellis carried the ball 21 times for a total of 96 yards, which proves he likes to run as well as quarterback.

Warren Anderson, a San Antonio lad, broke loose with a fine running attack. During one kick-off, Anderson leaped to his right, snapped a one handed catch, and then scampered 40 yards before he was finally pulled down.

Graves To Miller Combination The Whites set up a Graves to Eric Miller, combination that couldn't be stopped. Ends Miller and Jerry Crossman both grabbed final touchdowns in the end zone.

Bernie Sinclair, Freshman letter winner, was not far behind in the pass catching department. The Cadets seem to be blessed with better than an average amount of good ends.

Little Johnny Caviler completed the Maroon scoring with a 17-yard-pay-off dash. Caviler showed lots of drive to go with his track speed. He won a numeral as broad jumper and sprinter on the fish track team.

All-American Jack Little was switched to center on offensive and saw duty as a right tackle on defense. He managed both positions effectively.

The only serious injury of the afternoon came early in the opening minutes of the game. Johnny Salyer received a rib fracture and will probably miss the remaining spring workouts.

Outstanding Players Outstanding members on the white team were Eric Miller, Jerry Crossman, Norbert Ohlendorff, Alvin Langford, Sidney Theriot, Marvin Tate, Ray Graves, Bob Stout, Connie Magourik, Ray Haas, and Howard Zuch.

Outstanding on the Maroon squad were Bernie Sinclair, Dick Frey, Roy Barrett, Jack Little, Robert McCarley, Don Ellis, and Ed Kachtik.

The same two squads will reach the half-way mark in their spring training program with another intrasquad battle on Kyle Field Saturday, March 15 at 7:30 p. m. as part of the annual Sports Day event.

Ag Rifle Team Wins 4th, 15th Places in SW

A&M's Rifle team took 6th and 15th places in the Third Annual Southwest Invitational Small Bore Rifle Meet held in El Paso.

The A&M first team riflemen, Ray Lyons, Carroll Vance, John Rowe, Russel G. Durrill, and Carl Schlinke, compiled a total score of 7338, losing 5th place to New Mexico Military Institute by eight points.

Carol Vance was awarded the medal for the third high score in the prone position, and was the only A&M team member to receive an individual award. Vance scored 399 out of the possible 400 points in the prone position.

Fifteenth position in the meet was taken by the A&M second team with a total score of 7106, a full 36 points ahead of their closest competitor, Allen Military Academy of Bryan.

Individual high point man for the A&M teams in the match was Ray Lyons.

All sections of the country were represented at the meet with the first place award going to the University of San Francisco.

Miss Wilson Is Cotton Duchess

Miss Maxie Wilson was chosen duchess to the Cotton Pageant and Ball by the Newcomers Club Wednesday when the club met in the YMCA.

Mrs. Raymond Reiser gave a demonstration of party foods including hors d'oeuvres, canapes and party sandwiches. The foods were used as refreshments and served with fruit punch.

The hostess, Mrs. Leslie Moore, chairman, Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mrs. S. D. Salt, and Mrs. W. A. Burrows, used a St. Patrick's Day theme.

Swimmers

Rider took the 220 yard freestyle in 2:31.8, while Voorhes beat out a 100 yard freestyle winning time of 56.4 and Gaston took diving honors.

The only event in which Northwestern was able to cop both first and second places was diving. Second place winner, Howard, won over A&M's Bobby Johnson by nine-tenths of a point.

the boys can learn from their mistakes, the games will serve their purpose," commented Coach Bell. "For a while I don't believe the boys felt or seemed to know they were in a game, but they already look a lot better."

For a general picture, the Cadets looked shy in batting. The pitching staff still needs a little attention, but will probably come around as the season progresses, and of course the mental errors have to be completely white-washed.

Even though the Aggies lost their two opening games, they still looked as if they had a good SWC team. The majority of the Comet squad are ex-proball players.
