

Davis Chosen For District Six Honors

By BOB SELLECK
Battalion Sports Editor

Buddy Davis, A&M's giant center, has been named as one of the top five basketball stars in NCAA District Six.

Other members of the mythical five include George McLeod, TCU; Paul Nolen, Texas Tech; Roger Johnson, Arizona and Ralph Johnson, Baylor.

The District Six team was selected by 435 sportswriters and sportscasters across the nation.

The 1951-52 Look All-America squad includes: Chuck Darling, Iowa; Rod Fletcher, Illinois; Mark Workman, West Virginia; Dick Groat, Duke and Walter Dukes, Seton Hall.

According to Look, the All-America Team boasts "speed, drive, range, stamina and maneuverability." Sports editor Tim Cohan claims they "can shoot like G-men" and "would blend neatly in any system or play pattern."

This year's team has been hailed as "the strongest, best balanced All-America team ever." It averages 6 ft. 6½ in.

Davis Ends Cage Career

Davis ended the season second in the conference scoring with a season total of 363 points. He is a graduating senior and his loss will definitely be felt by the Aggie cagers next year.

Other Aggie graduates include Raymond (Woody) Walker, and Bobby Farmer. Cager coach John Floyd rates Walker as the soundest player on the squad and one of the best defensive players in the conference.

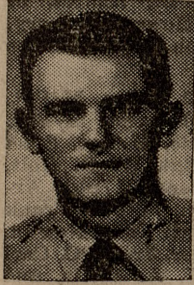

Farmer has always been known for his aggressiveness and can play at both the guard and forward posts. He performed almost errorless ball in the last game against Rice.

6th Annual Sports Day

A&M's "T" Association is in the act of sponsoring its 6th Annual Sports Day event scheduled Saturday, March 15.

This year's officers include Jack Simpson, president; Glenn Lippman, vice-president and Bill Henry, secretary-treasurer.

On tap for the all-sports parade are football, baseball, swimming, tennis, golf, and track. The day's activity will (See GARDEMAL, Page 4)

A&M Fencers Win at Rice; Meet in Galveston Saturday

Aggie Fencers won five out of six places in an AFLA Epee and Foil meet held in the Rice Field House Saturday.

A&M's Bob Jones was the outstanding fencer of the day with two first place wins in the foil and epee matches.

Bill Willmann, Captain John Gottlob, and Jones qualified for the finals in the epee, while Jones and Joe Pafford qualified for the final round in foil.

The Aggies will journey to Galveston this weekend to enter the Team Foil competition at the Galveston Menard Park Youth Center.

Aggie Golfers Host To Hardin-Simmons

A&M Golfers will tee off against the strong Hardin-Simmons linksters on the college course here tomorrow afternoon in their first match of the year.

The addition of the Cowboys in a home-and-home match basis completes the Aggie golf calendar, giving coach Joe Fagan's foursome a total of 11 dual matches plus the conference tournament in Dallas.

Fagan is counting heavily on three returning lettermen—Bill Baker, Johnny Barrett and J. C. Fletcher—to carry the main playing load this year.

Newcomer Malcolm Douglas will probably capture the number four spots to complete the Aggie foursome.

Last year the Cadets finished fourth in the conference and should improve that position by at least one notch and possibly more this season.

All Aggie matches this season will be played on the 6,715-yard par 71 course on the campus.

Included on the Aggies schedule are teams from Houston University, Rice, TCU, SMU, North Texas State, Arkansas, Baylor, Texas.

The Cadets will play both home and away matches with NTSC, which always comes up with a strong team every year.

A return match is scheduled with Hardin-Simmons April 16. Last year the Cowboys, led by team captain Billy Phillips, won the Border Conference championship.
