

Faculty-Staff Wage Increase In New Budget

A cost of living raise for faculty and general staff wages and supplement merit raises are a possibility in the near future, said President M. T. Harrington yesterday to the faculty and general staff.

Speaking to more than 1,000 faculty and general staff members President Harrington also explained the instructor's position in helping the student become educated. The raises are included in the budget of the college and will be presented for approval to the legislature this year.

Greetings

WITH THE opening of the 77th session of the A&M College of Texas, I extend the greetings of the faculty and administrative staff of the college to all the students, both new and old.

To the students returning, we extend our sincere best wishes for the most successful and profitable school year of your career. May it also be the happiest and most enjoyable. These wishes can be realized by the efforts and cooperation of each student and staff member.

We hope the new student will find that the A&M College of Texas more than measures up to all they had anticipated in the school of their choice. We usually receive in proportion to our contribution, and when we give our best efforts, the results are the happiest. I hope you will get off to a good start in your college work for a good beginning is very important. Make every effort to ask the assistance of your instructors when it is needed.

I am sure that I speak for each member of the faculty, staff and former students when I extend to the student body for 1952-53 our very best wishes for a great school year.

M. T. HARRINGTON
President

After an introduction of the deans of the schools and the invocation by Dr. Ide Trotter, dean of the Graduate School, the President welcomed the faculty back to school, and explained some traditions and college policy.

"An educational system as complex, as highly organized as ours has become, could degenerate into a mere assembly line of facts, except for the humanity of the instructor," he said. President Harrington called on the faculty "to teach by example that an education is the most desirable of all attainments."

Student-Instructor Relations
Dr. Harrington explained that the basic relationship of teacher to student has not changed. "The basic aim remains the same—to educate the human being. We should 'lead forth' the student. I think we would agree that our education should do certain kinds of things for a student subjected to it:

- "It should lead him to think for himself.
- "It should teach him how to continue his own self education after school days are over for him.
- "It should teach him how to cooperate with others, on constantly expanding levels.
- "It should teach him to be a responsible individual, in whatever circumstances he may find himself."

"No subject matter," the President continued, "has been mentioned. These qualities emanate from the total climate of the school itself.

Instructors Responsibilities
These qualities cannot be taught as such. Their teaching is the responsibility of every instructor, every hour of every day. These qualities, although they are the by-products of good teaching, are among the few permanent values with which we can endow our students."

A student should be taught to discriminate in his decisions, Dr. Harrington added. Discrimination is the highest function of the intelligence; it separates the thinking man from the unthinking man."

Habits should be formed by the student in his consciousness of thinking to help in selling him the idea of self-education constantly in his later life, the President said. "The marks of an educated man in all ages have been these: he (See FACULTY, Page 4)

In The Grove

All-College Night Slated For Monday

All College Night will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in The Grove.

President M. T. Harrington and Col. Joe E. Davis, commandant, will give opening speeches to the aggregation of students, faculty, and guests. Ray George, head football coach, will introduce his staff of coaches.

Following the coaches, George will introduce members of A&M's 1952 football team.

P. L. (Pinky) Downs, Jr., and Tom Collins, head yell leader, will be on hand to give "spirit talks." Backed by the Aggie band the audience will participate in singing the school songs.

Collins and the other yell leaders will lead a short yell practice. John Childs is the other senior yell leader and Monty Montgomery and Jimmy Tyree are junior yell leaders. Bill Anderson will represent non-corps students.

For everyone's protection, Collins has asked all cadets to leave The Grove in an orderly manner instead of running at the program's conclusion.

Aggie Band Strength Set at 190

About 190 Aggie band members are expected this year, according to Col. E. V. Adams, band director. With members as reserves and substitutes, 180 will march at football games.

All games except Michigan State will be attended by the band. The freshman band will accompany the upperclassman band to conference games. The first trip will be the University of Houston game Sept. 20.

The Consolidated Band is divided into the Maroon and White Bands for better organization. Size of both bands is equal, and the instrumentation is the same, making two separate and complete marching organizations.

Don Greaney of Galveston is commander of the Consolidated Band. Doyle Krueger of New Braunfels is head drum major. J. H. Thomas of Denton is commanding officer of the White Band, with J. I. (Pinky) Jordan of Houston as drum major. Commanding officer of the Maroon Band is Danny Howell of Coleman. George Berner of El Paso is Maroon drum major.

The band will live in dormitory 11 again this year.

L. A. Wolkskill of Houston is commander of the first regiment, with R. E. Wallingford of Franklin as executive. Battalion commanders are R. E. McCarley of McKinney, and S. H. Harper of Houston.

Commander of the second regiment is Shelton G. Black of Mexia. W. G. Schlather of Corpus Christi is executive officer. Battalion commanders are J. R. Birdwell of

Seven New Area Dorms Painted

All even-numbered dormitories and Dormitory 9 were painted during the summer to provide an almost "New Look" to the formerly drab interior decoration in the "New Area."

Although Dormitory 12 was just trimmed inside, the other even-numbered upperclass dormitories and Dormitory 9 were completely re-done.

Doors and woodwork were covered with a coat of green; ceilings and walls from eye-level to ceiling were painted white. Hand rails in the stairways were painted dark-green.

A&M Enrollment Drops; 6,000 Students Expected

More than 6,000 students began returning to the campus today to prepare for Saturday's registration.

Traffic crowded college streets and the North Gate area as students arrived to start another school year. Activity increased in dormitory areas with upperclassmen unloading automobiles and moving into their assigned rooms.

Crowds flowed into The Exchange Store and North Gate shops to buy books and school supplies. Workers in the Administration Building and Goodwin Hall are busy taking fees, issuing registration schedules and room assignments.

Lines are forming at North Gate and MSC postoffices as students renew or change boxes. Many parents brought their sons back to school, the MSC was crowded with guests eating in the dining and fountain rooms and touring the Student Center. Time waits for no one; school is beginning again.

Registration for returning, graduate, and transfer students starts in Sbisa Hall at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Registration Cards
Registration cards will be issued to new college transfer students beginning at 8 a.m. Cards for returning and graduate students will be issued at different times throughout the day.

All students whose surnames begin with A and B will register from 8 to 9 a.m. Those whose last names begin with T, U, V, W, X, Y, and Z will register from 9 to 10 a.m.

Time Schedules
Names starting with L, M, N, and O are to register from 10 to 11 a.m. Scheduled time for students whose surnames begin with P, Q, R, and S will register from 1 to 2 p.m.

All whose names begin with C, D, E, and F are scheduled to register from 2 to 3 p.m. Students whose last names start with G, H, I, J, and K will register from 3 to 4 p.m.

Third Division
Bruce Gibson of Turkey is commanding officer of the Third Division.

Third regiment commander is C. F. Hornstein of Victoria. Battalion commanders are J. B. Pafford of Lefors, R. F. Brown of Dallas, and J. P. Richman of Palacios.

D. L. Gary is commander of the third wing. Group commanders are H. Prochazka of Crosby, S. D. Goode of Wichita Falls, and D. L. Shankles of Sherman.

G. Staff of San Antonio is commanding officer of the Third Division band.

FSA Meets On Campus Tomorrow

The executive board and council of the A&M Association of Former Students will hold its fall meeting Saturday and Sunday in the Memorial Student Center. Discussion will include a resolution concerning the 1953 development fund.

Board members will meet at 10 a.m., Saturday, to prepare for the 100 council members who arrive during the day.

Both the board and council will see an intrasquad game between the Aggie Maroon and White teams on Kyle Field at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Saturday night will be spent by the delegates in meetings discussing amendments and resolutions. Breakfast will be served to members at 8 a.m. Sunday.

The fall session of the executive council will adjourn Sunday. The following business is on the agenda:

• A resolution concerning the 1953 development fund.

• Amendments to by-laws presented by the By-Law Committee.

• These by-law amendments will provide for past-presidents of the Association to serve on the board for a year in an ex-officio capacity.

Another amendment will provide for a former student to serve on the MSC Council.

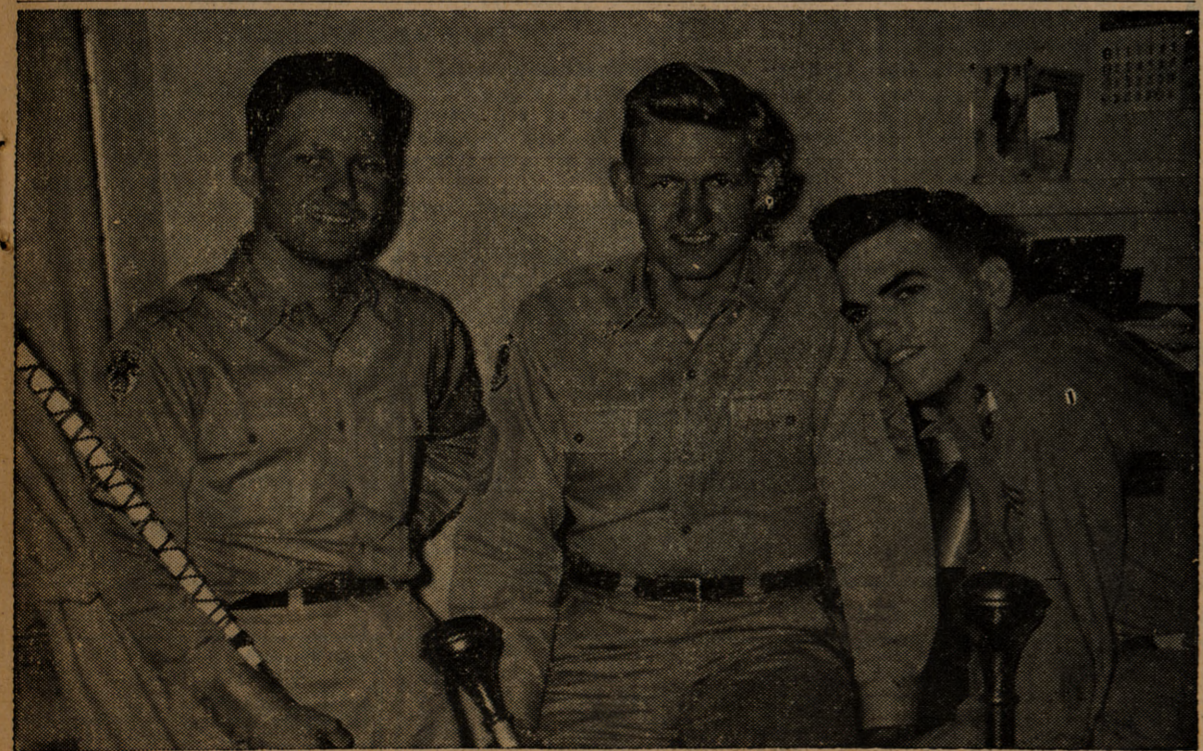

Winding up business will be a study of the "Texas Aggie," official former students' newspaper.
