

"THIS ONE SHOULD GO"—Coach Ray George runs over some of the plays he will use to break the huge University of Houston line Saturday night. He's explaining the finer points to quarterback Ray Graves and enumerating the mistakes made in last Saturday afternoon's inter-squad scrimmage. Can Determination Win Against Heavier Line?

By GUS BECKER
Battalion Sports Staff

Can determination overcome the 10 pounds per man the Aggie linemen are spotting the University of Houston forward wall?

This is the question to be decided Saturday night. The Cadet offensive line will average 202 pounds while the Cougars will throw up a defense averaging 212 pounds.

Offensive ends Darrow Hooper and Eric Miller will be the only Aggies in the line who won't be giving the Cougars a weight advantage.

Hooper, a senior playing right offensive end, weighs 214 pounds, and stands six feet three inches tall. Playing opposite him for the Cougars is Jim McConaughy, a senior who weighs 210 pounds, four pounds lighter than Hooper.

Biggest Weight Advantage

At the other, Miller has the biggest weight advantage of all the Aggie linemen. He weighs 211 pounds compared to the 180 pounds of the Cougar's right defensive end, George Hynes.

Offensive tackles Durwood Scott and Bobby Dixon, will have their hands full trying to move Cougar defensive tackles Buddy Gilioz, weighing 240 pounds, and J. D. Kimmel, weighing 230 pounds.

Scott, who was held out of competition in 1950, weighs 220. Dixon, a senior, tips the scales at 218.

Tate and Theriot

Closer to the center of the line the weight advantage becomes more apparent as guards Marvin Tate and Sidney Theriot, weighing 182 and 186 respectively, face men almost 30 pounds heavier.

Defensive guards for the Houston squad are Wayne Shoemaker, 215, and Frank James, 210.

Bill McMahan, offensive center for the Cadets, will have to give up 18 pounds to center linebacker Ken Reese, who tips the scales at 205 pounds.

Defensively Speaking

On defense the Aggies also spot the Cougars 10 pounds, 200 to 210. Biggest weight advantage given is 35 pounds, by left defensive tackle Alvin Langford.

A senior letterman weighing 215, Langford will have to face the largest man on the Cougar squad, "Big" John Carroll, 250 pounds.

Walter Hill, playing defensive right end for the Cadets will outweigh his man, Howard Clapp by 29 pounds. Clapp is one of the University of Houston's three returning offensive starters and his lack of poundage is made up for by his speed and knowledge of the game.

On the opposite side, end Cooper Robbins is out-weighted 33 pounds by Cougar Victor Hampel, 205 pounds.

Little vs. Lackey

At right tackle, Jack Little's 220 pounds is slightly heavier than Marvin Lackey's 215 pounds.

Guard Lawrence Winkler spots his man five pounds, and guard Dick Frey gives his man 10 pounds in the center of the line. Winkler and Frey weigh 200 and 215 pounds respectively, while their opponents, Bob Chouke and Bill Wright tip the scales at 205 and 225.

Line backer Johnny Salyer, 174 pounds, gives up 33 pounds to Cougar center Jack Chambers, weighing 207 pounds.

It will be the old struggle of speed against weight as the Aggies try to move the forward wall of the Cougars Saturday night in Houston.

Yale Lary Takes On Lion Punting Job

Yale Lary, All-SWC defensive back last year for the Aggies, has won a berth with the Detroit Lions of the National Conference.

Lary is playing defensive halfback, and after his performance against the Dallas Texans Friday night, may take over the kicking chores for the Detroit club.

When the first Lion punt went for seventy yards, the Detroit men in the press box identified the back as Lauricella.

When the final whistle blew, Lary, had a 50 yard punting average for the night, but the credit was given to Hank Lauricella, a Tennessee star who had previously done the Lion's punting.

Huge Fish Team Intends To Arrive First with Most

By JERRY NEIGHBORS
Battalion Sports Staff

An old saying goes, that in order to win you have to get there "firstest" with the "mostest."

With 135 boys out for the freshman football team, Fish coach Cooper Robbins may not get there firstest, but he will certainly have the mostest.

"There are quite a few big boys out, but it is still too early to tell if they are college caliber," said Robbins.

"Most of the boys," continued Robbins, "have not had any tough competition because they are from small schools of the class A or AA size."

Helping coach Robbins with the Fish team are head basketball coach John Floyd, assistant coach Dick Gardemal, quarterback on last years varsity and Kay Graves are assistant backfield coaches.

Russ Hudeck, varsity tackle last year is assistant line coach, and Augie Saxe, a standout defensive back last year until he was injured in the Trinity game, is assistant defensive coach.

Out of the 135 boys, six made the All-State teams. They are class AAAA All-Stater Gilbert Peddy, second team AAA center, Ogdin Bass and end Donald Robbins; Class AA tackle, Tom Schaeff, and end Billy Huddleston; and class A back, Herbert Carleton.
