Rayburn Says Adlai Offers Better Promise for Tidelands

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Speaker Sam Rayburn asserted Wednesday night that Adlai Stevenson offers Texas more promise of tidelands ownership than can be found in "conflicting and confused statements" by Dwight Eisenhower.

Rayburn used the tidelands issue to touch off the first big salvo in the Democratic nominee's Texas campaign.

The question of tidelands ownership caused Gov. Allan Shivers, Attorney General Price Daniel and other Texas Democratic officials to withdraw their personal support from Stevenson.

Stevenson had said he agreed with the President's veto of legislation that would have given the states title to the tidelands.

Rayburn quoted Stevenson as concluding that statement by saying "We should continue to work in the direction" of a solution "mindful of the respective interests of the states and federal government."

Rayburn criticized "some of the Texas Democratic nominees who refuse to support other Democratic nominees" for saying Stevenson has "slammed the door on any further discussion of Texas tidelands."

"He has done nothing of the kind," Rayburn said.

Other hundreds did not answer his appeal. Among them were residents of Denison, Eisenhower's birthplace. Western Union said nobody in Denison answered Nixon's plea for messages of support.

Mrs. Walter Groce of Corpus Christi, former Republican leader, found out the hard way whether Nixon has any supporters there.

To win a bet, she sent Nixon an uncompromising telegram, and it appeared in Wednesday's Corpus Christi Caller. Mrs. Groce said anonymous callers heaped abuse on her.

Texas Gets Fall Weather

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was a nice fall day in Texas Wednesday.

Folk in the Panhandle and South Plains felt a nip in the air. It was a little warmer in South and Central Texas.

The highest temperature was at Cotulla and Laredo, 91 degrees. Marfa had 63.

Sprinkles of rain—not enough to measure—pattered down on Fort Worth, Abilene, San Angelo, Mineral Wells and Waco.

Panhandle temperatures were mostly in the 70s while in the South Plains they were generally in the 60s.

A mass of northern air covering the state was causing the good weather.

Forecasters predicted more of the same Thursday.

Dramatic Tearful Reunion Brings Ike, Nixon Together

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Richard M. Nixon marched side by side back to the political wars today after a dramatically tearful reunion in Wheeling, W. Va.

Although Eisenhower took on a heavy whistle stop schedule in West Virginia and Maryland, and Nixon flew west to Salt Lake City, they were teamed solidly by a 107 to 0 vote of confidence by the Republican National Committee in the vice presidential nominee.

senhower testified for his running mate last night in these words: "Ladies and gentlemen, my colleague in this political campaign has been subjected to a very unfair and vicious attack. "So far as I am concerned, he has not only vindicated himself but I feel that he has acted as a man of courage and honor and, so far as I am concerned, stands higher than ever before."

Nixon replied: "I went before a great number of my fellow Americans and laid before them a case, a case which some of them I knew honestly misunderstood, a case which I felt it was my obligation to present to them, because it seems to me that candidates for the presidency and the vice presidency of the United States, as Gen. Eisenhower says, have got to be clean as a hound's tooth."

the presidential nominee summoned his running mate to Wheeling, telling him in advance he was a courageous man.

Nixon flew about 1,700 miles from Missoula, Mont., to land on Wheeling's hilltop airport. Eisenhower, who had been waiting patiently in a car, strode up the plane ramp.

As the general walked into the big ship, he said: "That's my boy" and the two men half embraced, both with tears in their eyes.

Washed Out Doubts
Washed out were any doubts that might have been in the mind of Eisenhower, the GOP presidential standard bearer, whether Nixon's acceptance of more than $18,000 in privately-raised expense funds from wealthy Californians should count him out as a candidate.

Standing before a shivering crowd of about 7,000 persons which failed to fill the flood-lighted Wheeling Municipal Stadium, Ei-

There was much more. But in these few words the smiling Republicans hoped they had wrapped up satisfactorily one of the strangest cases in American political history—talk of the possible ouster of a vice presidential candidate from a national ticket.

The Democrats were not likely to consider the matter closed, however.

In the highest Republican circles, there had been no doubt for days that Nixon would be retained on the ticket. That verdict was sealed when his national radio-television broadcast resulted in Western Union offices being swamped with telegrams in his behalf.

Belton Salesman Sends Dog to Nixon's Daughter

BELTON, Sept. 25—(AP)—A Belton salesman said yesterday he is the Texan who sent a cocker spaniel to Sen. Richard Nixon's daughter.

Nixon, in his nation-wide broadcast to explain his special $18,000 expense fund, told his listeners that "a man down in Texas" had sent a cocker spaniel and that "Regardless of what they say about it we are going to keep the dog."

Lewis Terrel, who is attending a salesmanship course in Springfield, Mass., said that he shipped the black and white spaniel to Nixon after hearing that the senator's daughter, Tricia, 6, wanted a cocker.

Asked if he thought Nixon should stay in the race as Republican vice-president nominee, Terrel said: "Well, naturally. Are you kidding? He is a sincere, fighting American."

Terrel calls himself "a fighting Republican from Texas." "You have to be a fighter to be a Republican in Texas," he added.

Still More
Nevertheless, Eisenhower maintained the technical position that he, alone, could not decide Nixon's fate. Thus he could not announce publicly that he was keeping his running mate at his side.

He could only say that the national committee, clothed with the final party power, had voted 107 to 0 to keep Nixon on. And Nixon was on, no mistaking that. Out of this whole situation developed a series of scenes as in a play.

Eisenhower saw Nixon's television broadcast. From Cleveland,

FROM THE CITY DESK

Questions Produce Interesting Answer

By HARRI BAKER
Battalion City Editor

A letter from a resident of College Station came to the city desk a few days ago. The writer pointed out that there are a lot of new people in the city who would like to know more about College Station.

He suggested a question and answer column, open to anybody and to all kinds of questions. We like the idea. If the people of College Station are interested, and show their interest by letters, the question and answer column will become a regular feature of The Battalion.

Some questions that have already been asked are answered in this issue. All future questions that are written in will be answered.

Address your letters to City Editor, The Battalion, College Station, Texas.

News Department For City

The Battalion would like to emphasize to the people of College Station that this is their paper, too. A city department has been established. Now it has its own staff which is growing.

All facets of College Station will be covered: City Hall, the service clubs, women's clubs, society, A&M Consolidated School, and other activities that concern the residents of the city.

We'd like your help in giving the city complete coverage. If your club is having a meeting or planning a project, call the city desk, 4-5444, any afternoon between 3 and 6. Let us know about it. We try to keep up with everything, but we're bound to miss something. With your help, we can be of better service as "the official paper of College Station."

What kind of government does College Station have?
College Station has a city manager type of government, with a mayor and city council. The city manager's job is to run the everyday business of the city. He is appointed by the mayor and six-man council, who complete the government.

What kind of fire protection do we have?
College Station has a 16-man volunteer fire department, composed of local men, on call 24 hours a day. The department is also A&M's Fire Department, and uses the college's two modern fire trucks.

Why does the whistle blow three blasts on Wednesdays?
The whistle blows three blasts at noon the first and fourth Wednesdays of the month to let the members of the fire department know that there will be a fire drill that afternoon. It blows only once at noon on other days.

How many wards are there and where are they?
The city is divided into three wards. Ward One is the region around College Hills, Ward Two is the College Estates region, and Ward Three is the area behind North Gate.

Yell Leaders Account Ready

The yell leaders' account has been set up in the office of student activities to handle disbursements of the school year 1952-53, said C. G. White, director of Student Activities.

The account calls for a ticket and traveling expense of $158.40 and $368.40 respectively. The yell leader's total debit amounts to $526.80. This figure will be backed up with cash supplied equally from the Athletic department and Student Activities, White added.

Rodeo Tickets On Sale Now

The Saddle and Siroin Club will present its annual All Aggie Rodeo on Oct. 3 and 4. This year there will be two performances, the first being held Friday night, Oct. 3 and the second Saturday afternoon, Oct. 4. Outstanding Aggie performers will be competing for large prizes.

Advanced ticket sales are now going on. Walton D. (Pete) Hardesty, business manager of student activities, said persons interested in attending can save ten cents by buying early.

Proceeds from the rodeo will be used by the club for necessary expenses incurred by the club's judging teams which will travel to Kansas City, Kan., and Chicago, Ill., in competition with other college teams.
