

MSC's Operating Budget Approved By Council Monday

A $5,532.70 operating budget for the MSC Council and Directorate was approved last night during a three and a half hour session by the council.

This was almost all of the $6,000 which the MSC constitution allows for operating expenses of the two bodies. The group also approved $2,583.75 for use by the music and dance committees from the revolving fund of $5,000.

A new organization, the married couples committee, was admitted into the directorate bringing the total number of clubs and committees to 12. The married couples group's budget of $158 also was approved.

Last Year's Expenses

About $4,000 was spent last year by committees in the directorate. This year, only four groups received a cut in money over the 1951 fiscal term. The greatest part was caused by a transferring of previous duties from one committee to another which brought a similar sway of appropriations between the groups.

The Council also discussed the use of Wednesday night for directorate meetings in the Center. In explaining the topic, Council President Lamar McNew pointed out unfavorable criticism had been placed on the Center last year for allowing the directorate committees to meet on Wednesday night which is set up as church night by the Student Life Committee.

A motion by Frank Manitzas, Battalion co-editor, was passed after a timely discussion. The motion asked committees and clubs of the directorate be allowed to use their own discretion as to what nights they would meet. John Samuels, council vice president, seconded the motion.

Only Open Date

McNew brought out to the group that although Wednesday night was unfavorable as a meeting time, it was about the only open date. Samuels and Manitzas asked the Student Life Committee be notified that in the spring when the college calendar for the year is formulated all clubs and organizations on the campus be asked as to what nights should be set aside for particular meetings. The MSC was "left-out" when the calendar was made up last spring.

Rue Pinalle, and the talent show, functions of the dance committee, produced a profit of about $200. The council acknowledged a resolution by Dick Hervey, former students' representative, that committees using the revolving fund over a long period of time, forward periodic balance sheets so that the council may see if the venture can pay for itself, and pay for itself protecting the investment.

New Councilmen

Dr. A. A. Price was introduced by McNew as a new council member, replacing Dr. W. W. Armistead, who is on leave from the college. C. B. Godbey, a new member of the MSC Board, also was introduced. He replaces Dean John Bertrand.

Council members present were Stark, McNew, Samuels, Price, Manitzas, Joel Austin, Dial Martin, J. O. Childs, Carroll Phillips, John Akard, Ken Hall, Hervey, Calvin Guest. Ray Davenport, assistant to the director, also was present.

Gilchrist Plans One More Year With System

Gibb Gilchrist, chancellor of the A&M College System since 1948, agreed to serve out the full school year of 1952-53 after being requested to do so by the A&M System Board of Directors in a meeting here Saturday.

Scheduled for retirement to modified service shortly after reaching the age of 65 late this year, Gilchrist will continue as chancellor until the end of the 1953 fiscal year, Aug. 1.

The board of directors also asked W. H. Holzman, comptroller for the system, to continue in full service until June 1, 1953. Holzmann was scheduled to retire to modified service under the same rule. The board named W. C. Freeman, Jr., assistant comptroller since September, 1948, to succeed Holzmann after his retirement.

Members of the board authorized, with approval of the chancellor, A&M President M. T. Harrington to select a site, subject also to board approval, for an all-faith chapel to be built through donations of former students.

The college architect was instructed to collect existing information and study needs in preparation for drawing sketches for consideration. Funds are being raised for this project by the college's Association of Former Students.

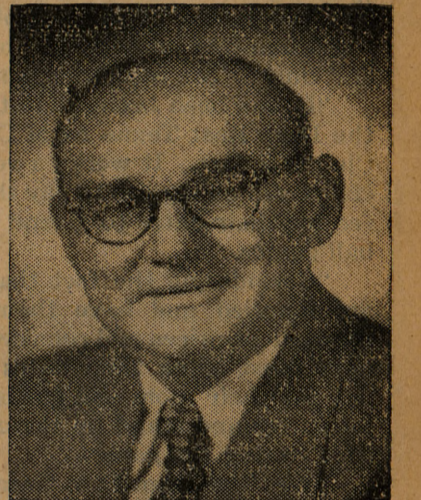

New Appropriations

The board made appropriations for $370,000 of additional improvements and approved a tentative plan for other needed buildings, to be erected as funds become available.

The program now nearing completion for the A&M System, which amounts to approximately eight million dollars, was planned in 1949 on the basis of funds under the constitutional amendment which allowed A&M to issue five million dollars in bonds against its income from the University Permanent Fund and gave Arlington State College, Tarleton State College and Prairie View A&M College approximately one million dollars each from bonds against a five cent ad valorem tax.

Appropriations by the board for improvements here included $60,000 for equipment for the new Physical Education Building; $5,000 additional for fencing of farm areas, for which $20,000 had been appropriated earlier; and $120,000 for construction of three green houses and offices for the Floriculture and Landscape Architecture Department.

Also appropriated were $30,000 additional for barns and laboratory buildings for the Dairy Husbandry Department. (See BOARD MEETING, page 4)

Auto Accident On Highway 6 Injures Aggie

An Aggie and his wife were injured in an automobile accident Wednesday about 8:30 p. m. on Highway Six approximately eight miles from College Station.

Hurt were Charlie Briggs, a Senior Ag. Eng. major from Calvert, who suffered a head injury, his wife, Mary Kathryn, who received cuts on her face and leg and driver Wesley Anderson, an acquaintance from Calvert who received cuts about the face.

The trio were traveling towards Navasota, stated Briggs, in a '50 Buick. As they came over a hill they saw a herd of about a dozen cattle on the highway. Anderson attempted to dodge them and in doing so went off a twelve foot embankment into a creek bed.

The car was completely demolished and all three occupants hurt. A car which had stopped, picked up the occupants, continued Briggs, and brought them to a hospital in Bryan. Anderson and Mrs. Briggs were treated for cuts and a slight concussion and all three were hospitalized for two days.

Class Reunions Planned Saturday

Most people come to A&M with only one objective in mind to get out. However, after this aim has been accomplished a strikingly odd coincidence occurs. It seems that forenost in the mind of every student who finally gets out is to get back in.

This fact will be proven Saturday, Oct. 4, when four class reunions will be held in the MSC. Those represented are the Class of '22, '42, '37, and '07.

Harrington's Class

Celebrating their thirtieth anniversary is the Class of '22 of which President Harrington is a member. The former students will register Friday Oct. 3, at a formal reception. Lunch will be served to them in Sbis Hall Saturday. An informal get-together will be held in the home of President and Mrs. Harrington from 3 to 5 p. m. on this same day. A class dinner will take place afterwards at 6 p. m. in the Center.

A dinner dance in the MSC Friday, Oct. 3, will open the fifteenth anniversary of the Class of '37. Saturday morning the former students will be given a stag breakfast in the MSC. Lunch will also be served to them in the Center, and a buffet dinner will be held in Sbis that night.

The Class of '07 will celebrate their forty-fifth anniversary Saturday and their reunion activities will be completed that day. Lunch will be served to them at the MSC and they will receive a buffet dinner that night at Sbis.

Having their first reunion since graduation will be the class of '42. A reception will be held for the class, Friday, in the MSC, and Saturday, a lunch will be served to them. That night the members will be given a buffet dinner in Sbis. A breakfast will also be served to them Sunday morning.

The first floor lounge of the MSC will serve as reunion headquarters for the expected 500 former students and their wives, said Mrs. J. N. Sheppard, Association of Former Students. All the classes will set together in a special section at the football game.

GRAVE SONG—This was the football sign that won squadron 10 second place and $2.50 in the last week's sign contest. The sign was also displayed at half-time during the Oklahoma A&M-Texas Aggie game in Dallas Saturday.
