Gilchrist Engineering Building

Prairie View Gets Modern Building

The new engineering building at Prairie View A&M, one of the most modern of its kind in America, has been named in honor of Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist of the A&M System.

"Gibb Gilchrist Engineering Building" was taken by the Prairie View Alumni and Ex-Students' Association. Their action was approved by Pres. E. B. Evans of Prairie View.

tionally exhibited and demonstrated interest in the improvement of facilities at Prairie View and has worked untiringly in the development of all phases of the college program," Dr. Evans said.

for his untiring interest in the development of the college and for his outstanding work in the field of engineering in the State of Texas."

The new building, completed in March, will house the architectural, civil, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineering departments of the College.

Laboratories in a one-story wing were built for special purposes such as hydraulics, soils, drawing rooms and materials testing. Another laboratory wing will be erected when funds are available.

Contract for the two-story building was let in February, 1951, to the Williams Construction Company of Houston. Total cost was $239,849. The building contains 16,227 square feet of floor space.

It was erected as part of the current building program of the System.

Action to name the building the "Chancellor Gilchrist has con-

"He has truly been a friend of Prairie View and has been unselfish in his efforts to provide the best possible educational opportunities for the Negro youth of this state," he concluded.

Approved By Board

The recommendation, presented to and approved by the board of directors of the system at a recent meeting, reads: "As recommended by the Prairie View Alumni Association, the newly erected engineering building at Prairie View Agricultural and Mechanical College is hereby named the 'Gibb Gilchrist Engineering Building' in honor of Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist

BAFB Men Sign For Night School

Seventy-one officers and airmen from Bryan Air Force Base have enrolled for night classwork at A&M.

Lt. Phil Gary, education officer, said the enrollment was considerably lower than last year.

In all, eight classes, meeting two nights a week, are in progress. They include public speaking, educational psychology, general psychology, French and two classes each in English composition and algebra.

The algebra class has the most students with 25, while 20 are taking English Composition.

Top base officers enrolled—all in Public Speaking—are Maj. William Greenwood, Wing Adjutant; Maj. Joseph Tighe, Manpower and Management Officer; Maj. Joseph Murray, Wing Personnel Officer; and Maj. Thaddeus Peters, Air Provost Marshal and CO of the Air Police Squadron.

Of the 71 taking courses, 46 are airmen and 26 officers.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
