By GUS BECKER

Another full weekend of football is in store for gridiron fans with top intersectional and conference contests slated for all parts of the nation.

Outside of the Southwest Conference, teams in the top 20 ranked by the Associated Press will be trying to retain their standing while others will be trying to move higher in the ratings.

The number one team in the nation, the Wisconsin Badgers, takes on Ohio State in one of the top games of the day. The Badgers are making a strong bid for the Rose Bowl trip New Year's Day.

Wisconsin beat Illinois who was favored, last weekend while Ohio State tied the strong Purdue squad. This will be the second conference game for the Badgers and the third for the Buckeyes.

The Badgers will have no trouble however, taking the Buckeyes, 34 to 7.

California To Take Oregon
California will open its conference race with a victory over Oregon. The Bears have too much power, will win 20 to 7.

Maryland Easily over Georgia
Maryland has hit the stride and will have an easy time with Georgia. Maryland has the offense and defense, 33 to 14 over Georgia.

Georgia Tech a Good Bet Over Tulane

Duke To Have Trouble With South Carolina
Duke on their way to a SEC title may have a little trouble but will come out on top, 14 to 0.

Southern Cal In Breather With San Diego

The Trojans from Southern California have a breather this weekend before continuing their conference play. No trouble for the Trojans, 34 to 0.

Navy Stops William and Mary
Navy's defense will stop William and Mary cold. Navy the winner, 19 to 0.

Penn Will Stop Princeton
Pennsylvania will stop the Tigers 23 game win streak. Penn has the defense, will win 21 to 13.

Kansas Too Good For Iowa State
The Jayhawks have a good team . . . too good for Iowa State. Kansas by a 27 to 13 margin.

Washington Will Upset Illinois
The Pacific Coast Conference will continue to win over the midwest. Washington State will take to the air and beat the Illini, 27 to 20.

Villanova Stronger Than Wake Forest

Villanova is too strong for the Deacons, The Wildcats with a West Point transfer will roll over the Deacons 20 to 0.

Notre Dame Outclasses Pittsburg
Pittsburg is out of its class. Notre Dame will win, 19 to 0.

Geo. Washington Too Much For Virginia

Too much offense by the George Washington squad, will upset Virginia, 28 to 14.

Purdue and Iowa A Toss-Up
Purdue will be surprised by Iowa's defense, will be lucky to win, score 7 to 7.

RARING TO GO—Marshall Rush, who has been out of play because of an injury received in early workouts, may be used against the Spartans of Michigan State. He will be counted on at the guard position as an experienced letterman to do a big job. Although he might not play against Michigan, he will be ready for the conference opener next week against TCU.

Coach George Comments

Clock Right As Time Ran Out

By ED HOLDER

The big question about the Kentucky game Saturday night has been, "Were the Aggies cheated in the last few seconds of play by a mis-running of the clock?"

The correct answer is no. Even Coach Ray George admitted he thought there was something a little smelly about the last play in connection with the calling of the end of the game.

But after checking up, George made this explanation. "Ray (Graves) took the ball on the last play, and he had only about 10 seconds left. He attempted a pass in the right flat, but someone shot out of nowhere and knocked it down.

"I looked around at the clock and it had run out, but the referee didn't fire the gun signaling the end of the game. I thought for a minute he had time for another play, and when I found we didn't, I was disappointed to say the least.

"Then was when I thought something was wrong. But actually the delay was perfectly legitimate.

"It was a tight game, and the last play meant a lot, so when the referee saw the time had run out, he had to check with all the officials to see that there wasn't a penalty.

"The thing was, that if there had been a penalty against us, the game would have ended anyway, but if Kentucky had been penalized, we would have had another play, and it might have meant the winning of the game.

"The referee was really only making sure by double checking."

Fish Tackle Big Cubs

The A&M freshman football team plays its first out of town and second game of the season tomorrow against the Baylor Cubs in Waco. "We should have a better chance of winning," says Coach Cooper Robbins, "we have a much smaller team."

Tomorrow's game should see plenty of action with the big line, the Cubs have, against a team out for its first win. With a week of practice under its belt, most of the poor blocking in the Houston game by the fish should be a thing of the past.

There aren't too many all-state high school players from the bigger schools on the fish team. Most of them went to Baylor and Rice. This probably means a rough game for the Aggie freshmen tomorrow.

The defensive squad is still undecided. A group of about sixty players will leave for the game tomorrow morning at eight.

1952 Spartans Weaker, Still Number One Team

The Michigan State Spartans appear to be weaker than last season's team which went undefeated and untied through nine straight games.

In their first game against Michigan U., the Spartans had to come from behind to win 27 to 13, while last week against Oregon State it took a field goal in the last two seconds to win 17 to 14.

Ranked by the Associated Press as the number one team in the nation, the Spartans are the number 11 team on total offense averaging 402 yards per game.

Munn's Big Problem

One of coach Biggie Munn's main problems at the start of the season was rebuilding the offensive line. Statistics show that the problem has been solved adequately.

Replacing quarterback Al Darow was another problem facing coach Munn and evidently he hasn't completely decided which of his many backs he will use.

Several men have been used at this vital position. The best bet so far is letterman Tom Yewcic, but junior Willy Thrower and sophomore Al Fraccassa have seen action.

The Spartan offense isn't as potent as it was last season. The Michigan State eleven rolled up 270 points, scoring three or more touchdowns per contest.

Three Deep

Besides the quarterback slot the Spartans are set in the backfield being three deep at every position.

At left halfback is the captain of the team, Don McAuliffe, who makes this the strongest spot on the squad. Behind McAuliffe is LeRoy Bolden a veteran performer and Bernie Raternik who looked good on last year's freshman team.

Vince Pisano and Billy Wells are still alternating at the right halfback spot. Pisano is a power runner while Wells is a broken field artist.

A three way battle for the fullback position is still going on with three lettermen, Dick Panin,

Wayne Benson and Evan Slonac being used regularly.

Linebackers Strong

Linebackers are another strong position on the Spartan eleven. Ed Timmerman a letterman and Dick Tamburo a candidate for All-American honors are being pushed by Doug Weaver for the starting assignment.

Jim Ellis a Junior this year, is one of the best safety men in the game. Ellis made the first string Chicago Tribune Players' All-American last season and is better this year.

Offensive ends Paul Dekker and Doug Bobo have made the Spartans aerial game as potent as ever. The Spartans are seventh in the nation in forward passing offense.

Tamburo on Offense

Tamburo plays center on the offensive squad where he is better than on defense. Backing up Tamburo is Jim Neal and Dale Foltz two veteran performers of proven skill.

Squadron 3, A QMC Football Winners

The 1952 intramural season burst into a flurry of activity this week, with football, basketball, bowling, tennis, horseshoes, and ping pong grabbing the spotlight.

In Monday's football games, Sq. 3, sparked by Bob Sauer's pass receiving and a 65 yard scoring dash by Clayton Wilcox, nosed out A Arm., 7-2.

A QMC squeezed by Sq. 2, 9-0, after Fred König's 78 yard run on the first play was cancelled by a penalty.

Lee Chancellor scored the only touchdown on a pass to hand Sq. 11 a 7-0 win over A Inf. Sq. 7 romped over A Sig., 20-0, and Sq. 4 nudged A TC, 14-9.

In Tuesday's gridiron action

Sq. 19 and Sq. 21 won via the penalty route, beating Sq. 22 and Co. E. The scores were 0-0 and 6-6.

Co. H Wins 6-0

Co. H pushed across a lone touchdown to beat Sq. 24, 6-0. M. L. Frey ran 60 yards to set up a Sq. 23 score in their 14-0 win over Co. G.

Garcia, Co. A, scored 12 points in leading Co. A to a 26-7 basketball win over Sq. 17. Co. C had trouble with Co. F, winning by a 23-17 count. Co. B outclassed Sq. 18, 15-4.

In other basketball results, B Inf. steamrolled B Arm., 238. Sq. 4 edged A Arm., 11-8, and AAA clipped A Inf., 12-8. Sq. 8 outpointed A FA, 27-15.
