Interviews

● Oct. 17—Industrial engineers and business administration majors will be interviewed by Montgomery Ward for possible employment in this company. The majority of their openings will be in retail stores and mail order merchandise organization.

● Oct. 20—The Texas Co., producing department, has openings for January graduates in petroleum engineering.

● Oct. 24—Dow Chemical co. of Freeport will interview January graduates only, and at all degree levels that majored in chemistry, chemical, mechanical and electrical engineering. This company has 12 plants operating throughout the country and offers an excellent opportunity for advancement in a fast-growing concern.

Job Calls

● Structural Clay Products Institute has a training course for architectural, civil and industrial engineers. Since the opportunities are almost exclusively in the field of sales and promotional engineering, they feel that any technically trained man with a genuine interest in sales and/or promotion would meet their qualifications.

● A farm magazine firm, Successful Farming, wants a man with a farm background and inclined toward sales. He would cover a four or five county area. Degree is not necessary. Good future and

Veteran Patients Guests for Game

A group of 35 patients and domiciliary members of the Veterans Administration Center at Temple, will be guests of A&M at the football game Saturday, between TCU and the Aggies.

This will mark the eighth year in which patients at the Center will have been guests of the college at one or more of the football games.

The group will sit in specially prepared seats along the 50-yard line on the cinder path. They will arrive at 11 a. m. and will be met by P. L. Downs Jr., official greeter for the college.

They will have lunch at Duncan Mess Hall and dinner at 5 p. m. A doctor and two nurses will accompany the patients, along with Harley Mitchell, director of athletics at the Center.

The Women's Story

Ice Cream Solves Laxity of Sitters

By PEGGY MADDOX
Battalion Women's Editor

The Tamalada, for which the women of the St. Thomas Episcopal Chapel have become famous, is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Oct. 21 from 5:30 until 7:30. Reservations for the Mexican supper must be made by noon Monday. If you have a taste for Mexican food, tickets to the Tamalada can be obtained from Mrs. J. B. Baty and the church office.

The women who are planning the fete are Mesdames W. Armstrong Price, general chairman; P. G. Murdock, Lee Thompson, Carol Laverty, Frank Vaden, Spencer Buchanan, and J. B. Baty.

The girls of the chapel choir who will decorate the tables and assist in serving are Misses Carol Lee Thompson, Ann Schlesselmann, Anna Beaty, Elinor Price, Sarah Weidel, Gail Schlesselmann, Louise Thompson and Mary Ann Linn.

Architects Wives Hear Design Speed

The Architectural Wives Society heard Frank D. Lawyer of the architectural department discuss fourth year design last Wednesday night in the YMCA. The wives of the architectural students meet twice a month to become more acquainted with their husbands major.

Because of the baby sitting problem, the Child Study Club members bring their children to the meetings, give them ice-cream and let them play together.

Tuesday about sixteen members met in the home of Mrs. V. E. Schember and heard Mrs. Louise Hebert tell why we need a well child clinic. Mrs. Hebert is the public health nurse with the Brazos County Public Health Department.
