

Around the Conference Ags To Spoil BU's Big Day

By ED HOLDER
Sports Editor

Homecoming for the Baylor fans or not, the Aggies are ready, willing and able to take over Saturday's game and move a notch higher in the SWC race.

The Maroon and White defensive platoon held down a powerful TCU offense squad to only seven points. They should be able to put the skids under Baylor. The Bears have rolled up enough yards to rate number one spot in the conference in total offense.

Coach Ray George saw a powerful ground game in the Aggies last week when they rolled 82 yards down the field in 19 plays for their touchdown. Ray Graves can quarterback, run, and throw to add that extra punch to the drives of Connie Magourik and Don Ellis. When they combine these factors into a paying offense, the sky is the limit.

Last week Marshall Rush, All-America Jack Little, and Walter (Horror) Hill put up a defensive fight that displayed a spirit long absent from the Aggies.

That hustle is predominant throughout the entire team from end to end and quarterback to fullback. The feeling is the same as they go against Baylor and the sophomores of the squad are getting a little of that experience which can often make the difference in this rough and tumble conference.

Combine it all, and you have a winning Aggie team by one touchdown. The score should sound something like 10-7 in favor of the Maroon and White.

Texas To Take Rice

Our choice for the SWC championship this year, the Longhorns will keep going against a stubborn but weak Rice eleven.

In the past, Rice has always seemed to put up their best fight against Texas and SMU. They nearly downed the Mustangs. It will be about the same story as the power of Texas proves more than the Owls can cope with.

The big worry of the Longhorns earlier in the year was who to run at Quarterback. T. Jones has just about solved the problem.

He may not be the best in the business, but with men like Tom Stolhandske to catch the passes, Harley Sewell to open the holes, and Gib Dawson to help with the running, how can he miss?

Count on the Orange and White to down the hard fighting Owls to the tune of 20-7.

Kansas Over the Mustangs

The big boys from Kansas have set an impressive record. The only blemish was last week's thrashing they took from powerful Oklahoma, rated number three in the nation.

Coach Russell's Mustangs aren't going to risk anything in a non-conference tilt against such a power-house. If the win comes easy, they would like to have it, but don't count on their putting out very much to get that victory.

Kansas shouldn't have much trouble, but they too won't be showing all for the sake of nothing.

The visitors from up north will teach the young sophomores of the Ponies a trick or two as they roll on at the rate of 27-14.

Old Miss to Trounce Porkers

Mississippi has a hard driving team that is hard to beat in any league, and so far, Arkansas is at the bottom of the SWC.

Lamar McHan of the Razorbacks hasn't shown all the things expected of him, and the story is about the same all the way down the Arkansas line-up.

They haven't been able to roll, although they beat the Bears recently and put up a pretty good fight against the Frogs.

Old Miss will have a tough time the first half, but will walk off with enough score to lower another SWC team by about 34-14.

CHS Tigers Battle Hempstead Tonight

A&M Consolidated High School plays their first home football game in a month, tonight. Their opponent is Hempstead High School, leaders of district 24-B.

Hempstead has a strong squad this year, said Coach Othel V. Chafin of Consolidated. According to most of the players on the local eleven and Chafin, Hempstead is the team to beat if the Tigers intend to take the district championship.

Hempstead has lost only one game this year. That was an early season contest played out of the district. Consolidated has gone undefeated so far this year with two district wins to Hempstead's three.

All of the Tigers will be in shape to play tonight for the first time in two or three games. This should give them a lot of good boys with which to substitute during the entire game. Chafin has plenty of confidence in his team to pull through the tussle which he calls "the biggest."

A pre-game celebration and bonfire were held last night at 6:15. The fact that Hempstead is considered their biggest rival was though they don't claim anyone as their traditional rival, Hempstead has been the team to beat for a number of years.

Rifle Team Meets Baylor Tomorrow

The Aggie Rifle Team will meet the Baylor sharpshooters tomorrow morning in Waco at the tournament of the Southwestern ROTC Association.

Last year, the Cadets took the Bears and went on to the sectional championship.

This year A&M is favored to win again, since it has 10 returning lettermen who should prove the difference.

"Our increasing number on the squad will get its test tomorrow," said Sgt. Obestry, coach of the rifle team.

Last week the Aggie riflemen easily defeated the TCU squad by 190 points. This next match is a series of meets which are played in accordance with the football games between the schools.

Baylor Ticket Sale Nears 2,000 Mark

Student ticket sales for the Baylor game reached about 1700 Thursday, and date tickets reached around 300, announced Pat Dial of the A&M athletic department. Student and date tickets will remain on sale until Friday noon.

A crowd of at least 35,000 is expected, according to Pete Jones, Business Manager of Baylor University, which is 2,000 more than attended the A&M-Baylor game two years ago.

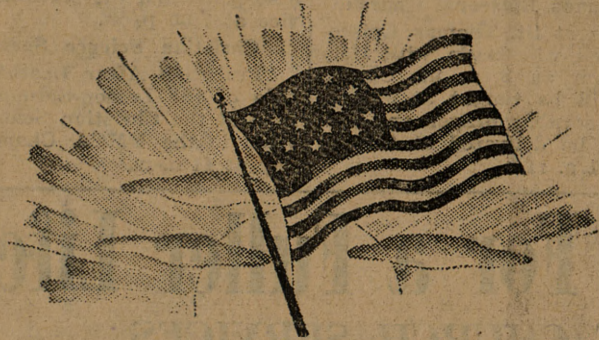

Consolidated Jr. High Falls to Sidewinders

The Consolidated Jr. High Kittens were defeated last night 25-6 on Tiger Field by the Navasota Sidewinders.

Navasota Jr. High scored early in the game and led all the way till the final gun.

Penetrations Decide Games

By JERRY WIZIG
Battalion Sports Writer

The defensive and offensive sides of intramural football were displayed Wednesday, two of the five contests being decided by penetrations.

Three 40 yard line penetrations were the margin of victory in a Sq. 5 decision over Sq. 10. The losers were devoid of any offensive punch as they failed to penetrate the opposition 40 yard line.

Sq. 9 and Sq. 15 put on the other defensive spectacle, with five penetrations by Sq. 9 outweighing two by the losers.

Abe Abraham carried the offensive punch for ASA, scoring both touchdowns on runs of 30 and 18 yards in a 13-0 win over Sq. 13 and Sq. 6 punched over three touchdowns as they walloped A Inf., 20-7. Ralph Pettit and Jerry Yates were the touchdown twins in Sq. 14's 12-6 triumph over Sq. 8. Dave Erble scored the loser's touchdown.

Lopsided scores predominated in the basketball action, two teams running up 30 points.

Sq. 7 had its basket eye sharp as they tromped on Sq. 5 by a 30-6 margin. Vol Montgomery led the attack with nine points.

Jack Smith had a string on the ball, ramming through 22 points in a 30-17 Sq. 15 decision over A. Sig. Smith counted 11 points in each half, including nine field goals.

AAA, held to a 7-4 lead at the half, came back with a second half scoring punch to beat ASA, 19-4. In a defensive game, Sq. 4 staved off a late threat to take a 10-8 verdict from A TC.

Sq. 8 whitewashed A Arm. in thorough fashion in their tennis match, A Arm. failing to win a single game. The scores were 8-0, 8-0, 8-0. Sq. 3 decisioned Sq. 9 by scores of 8-6, 8-6, 8-1.
