

Cadets Set for Porkers 'T' Planned For Halftime

'Saturday' Madness Starts Again Tonight

By JOHN MOODY
Battalion News Staff

Aggies dates, guests, and Arkansas fans will begin another weekend of often called "Saturday madness" of a home football game starting tonight.

The French night club Cafe Rue Pinalle will swing to the Spanish side when its show will feature a Latin American trio. Malcolm Stephan, Jerry Lindner, and Ser-verin Schaeffer compose the group of singers that hail from Mexico City.

Also included in the program are Nancy Merrel, tap-dancer, and Raymond Dixon, vocal impersonator.

Rue Pinalle will open its doors in the MSC bowling alley at 8:30 p. m. and tickets are selling for 60 cents a person.

Plans have been made by the Welcoming Committee of the Student Senate to meet the Arkansas football team when they arrive in two chartered airplanes at Bryan Air Force Base tonight at 9 p. m.

The visitors will stay at the La-Salle Hotel in Bryan tonight and plan to leave immediately after the game to fly back to Fayetteville.

Noise and Confusion

Saturday morning will bring noise and confusion from the hundreds of visitors who will crowd the campus for the main event that night.

Saturday night on Kyle Field the Aggies will be searching for their first conference win of the season as they face Arkansas for the 26th time. Only two teams hold advantages over the Cadets in over-all wins, the Razorbacks being one of them.

During the halftime ceremonies A&M's cadet corps will form the famous Aggie 'T', including all the proper yell.

Following the football battle the Aggieland Combo will play for an All-College Dance in the MSC Ballroom. Tickets are 75 cents per couple and may be bought in the MSC Directorate offices today and Saturday.

Housing Group Ends Session

Lighting for buildings was discussed by the Housing Research Council Thursday in the MSC. This ended a three day tour of San Antonio, Austin, and College Station by the 30 members.

Building foundations and frame work were discussed and observed in San Antonio, while building heat and ventilation were the topics in Austin.

The function of the council is to meet semi-annually to exchange ideas for the improvement of living conditions. Men from colleges, industry and business go into the make up of this group. Coming together in the spring and the fall of the year said William Scheick, chairman, are those persons that could be of help to the council in its research for better construction methods. Meetings are also held open to the public who is invited to attend, he added.

Twenty-seven members present will return back to their regular jobs at the close of the inspection of the College Station, experiment, Scheick explained.

Size Against Speed When Teams Clash

By ED HOLDER
Sports Editor

It will be speed against size once more for the Aggies tomorrow night as they tackle the big line of the Arkansas Razorbacks.

The Maroon and White is the only team in the conference which Arkansas holds the edge over in games won and lost through the years since the two teams first met in 1927.

A&M will be looking for its first conference win, and trying to hold on to a very slim shot at the title. They are holding on to hopes with a record of one loss, 21-20 to Baylor, and a tie, 7-7 with TCU.

The Razorbacks are out of the running with two conference losses, one to Texas and the other to TCU. They have a season record of 2 wins, 4 losses.

Darrow Hooper, the boy with the "automatic toe," may not be able to play against Arkansas. His condition is better, but the bruised hip he received early in the Baylor game may keep him on the sidelines tomorrow night.

Many people feel that A&M's loss to Baylor last week was due largely to the loss of Hooper. He was out of the game just before the first Cadet score, and a young sophomore, Juan Coronado, missed the try.

Walter (Horror) Hill, Aggie defensive end, converted the next two tries.

Leading the Aggies will be the speedy quarterback from Stephenville, Ray (Knucks) Graves. He will match wits with the ace spark of Arkansas, Lamar McHan. Graves is the Aggies triple threat, since his recent debut at punting.

Backfield Talent

Rounding out the backfield for the Cadets will be Connie Magouirk and Don Kachtik at full-back, and Raymond Haas, Don Ellis, Charles Hall, and Pete Mayeaux alternating at the halfback slots.

Working the offensive line strategy for the Maroon and White will be Jerry Crossman at left end, Bobby Dixon at left tackle, Marvin Tate or Ray Barrett in the left guard position.

Down the right side it looks like Eric Miller at end, Durwood Scott in the tackle slot, Sid Theriot at guard, and Leo Marquette doing the centering.

Defensively, the Cadet forward wall will have Cooper Robbins and Hill at ends; Al Langford and Jack Little, tackles; Marshall Rush and Tate or Barrett, guards; Billy McGowan and John Salyer, linebackers; Joe Schero and Joe Boring, halfbacks and Ellis, safety.

Style Show Scheduled For MSC Dining Room

A style show is scheduled for the MSC Dining Room today and every Friday from 12:15 to 1:15 p.m. The show will feature current clothes fashions.

Senior Class Backs Grievance Group

Group Will Air All Complaints

By JOEL AUSTIN
Battalion Co-Editor

Members of the senior class showed last night they mean business as they argued amendments, motions, and resolutions for four hours and fifteen minutes, in one of the longest senior class meetings on record.

It was the second lengthy meeting held this week by seniors concerning many of the same subjects. The first was a meeting of commanding officers held Monday in the YMCA. It lasted three hours.

The class placed full trust in the committee appointed by Corps Commander Weldon Kruger at the session for commanders. Headed by Third Division Commander Joe Wallace, this committee currently is collecting complaints from students and will present these to the commandant's office.

Wallace told the seniors they could feel sure if satisfactory results were not obtained from that office, the committee would ask for a hearing before the president, or as high as it is necessary to go.

Concerning the committee, and other notable action which the class took after the recent question of investigation into the legality of college officials requiring students to submit to a physical inspection as a check on hazing, the seniors passed the following motions.

Motions Passed

The senior class stands behind the committee and expresses complete confidence in the action to be taken by the committee and backs them wholeheartedly. And furthermore, if the senior class does not obtain satisfactory results from this committee, they will take other action and turn in their rank. And furthermore, a petition will be put in the MSC for all seniors to sign stating that they back the committee completely.

We, the senior class, endorse the petition of the Class of 1955 which reads as follows: (Editor's note: Content of the sophomore petition printed below in this story). It will be signed for the senior class by its president, Joe Mattei. And furthermore this endorsement should be attached to the petition of the class of 1955.

The senior class should tell the sophomore class to sacrifice their pride for the next two weeks and submit to physical inspection under protest, until the committee can act.

Motion Refused

Another motion was presented before the class, but tabled because the seniors wanted to give the committee an opportunity to take up these matters with college officials. The motion read, "The senior class should go on record as standing behind any cadet if he desires to refuse to submit to a physical examination by any non-medical personnel because of his feeling as to personal liberties or violation of personal and moral rights and further move that if any cadet is reduced in rank, any unit is disbanded, or any other disciplinary action is taken, the seniors will resign their commissions in the Corps of Cadets."

Corps commander Kruger criticized the motion. (See SENIORS, Page 3)

Bands Plan Arkansas Performance

The Maroon and White bands will move onto Kyle Field Saturday night after the Cadet Corps forms the gigantic T and complete the halftime ceremonies by spelling it out for Arkansas and A&M, said Lt. Col. E. V. Adams, band director and counselor, today.

The bands will form A-R-K-A-N-S-A-S and T-E-X-A-S A-M-C diagonally across the field, Col. Adams added.

After the spelling is completed, the band cadets will form in the middle of the field and move into a staggered formation from which they will execute a flank and move off the field and melt into the stands as they hit the sidelines.

The University of Arkansas band will not be present for the game and the Aggie band will be the only band to perform during halftime.

No Amendment To City Charter Attorney Says

J. Wheeler Barger, College Station city attorney, has notified the Recreation Council that they will be unable to propose an amendment to the city charter before 1954.

The Recreation Council had planned to propose an amendment which would put the council on a tax supported basis as a part of the city government.

According to the Constitution of the State of Texas, the charter of a home rule city cannot be amended or repealed except every two years. Since College Station's home rule charter was adopted on Jan. 8, 1952, it cannot be changed until Jan. 8, 1954.

Donald D. Burchard, chairman of the Recreation Council, said that the council will meet the first part of next week to discuss their future plans.

"We may request the passing of a city ordinance to the same effect as the amendment," Burchard said.

An ordinance can be passed by a majority vote of the six-man City Council. Ordinances are as much a law as amendments; however, the City Council can change or repeal an ordinance at any time.
