

Heaton Selected Top CHS Student

Charles Heaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Heaton, was selected as the most outstanding student of the week at Consolidated High School.

Charles, a senior at Consolidated, was presented to the College Station-Bryan Rotary Club at their meeting Wednesday. Charles is editor of the Tigerland, Consolidated yearbook, a member of the National Honor Society, and a former member of the Consolidated Student Council. His father is A&M's registrar.

Each fourth week of the month, the Rotarians are planning to honor an outstanding student from Consolidated. Each month, three students for this honor are nominated by the faculty, and the CHS Student Council picks the most outstanding one from these three.

Following are Wednesday's intramural results:

Jack Lonquist and Charley Johnson were on the receiving end of Lindigs aerals in a 12-6 Sq. 10 decision over A Sig. A 50 yard pass play, Allen Himer to Charles Smith, netted the loser's touchdown.

Another Offensive Show

In another offensive show, Clayton Wilcox's running, coupled with Bill Sauer's pass snatching, sparked Sq. 3 to a 19-6 victory over Sq. 14. The running of B. Allison and passing of K. Acord kept the losers in the game.

Sq. 15 and A Ath. won their games by identical scores from Sq. 4 and C FA, squeezing out 6-0 wins in close defensive games. A Ath. did not permit their opponents to penetrate their 40 yard line.

Two one point victories high-

A Eng. held onto their one point half time margin, both squads matching point for point in the second half, to take home their win. The score at half was 5-4. J. G. Griffith and Chic Dvoracek both counted six points.

Nine points by P. Proctor paced Sq. 4 to a 16-10 win over A Cml. Sq. 14 threw up a net tight defense in the second half, holding the losers scoreless, to take a 12-6 win from B FA.

Independent Voters Are Deciding . . .

WE BELIEVE that Stevenson's record, his character, and his campaign give promise of a great presidency. He has discussed the issues with courage, and eloquence. He has appealed not to unreasoning sentiment but to the sober judgment of the electorate.

He does not dwell on "tearful post-mortems" but addresses himself to the problems before us. We are impressed by his intelligence, his humility, his dignity.

He has an affirmative foreign policy . . .

At a time when every American wants, above all, peace and security, he has outlined an affirmative foreign policy which recognizes that the threat of world communism must be met not alone by military strength but also by such constructive means as economic and technical aid to our allies and to people in the underdeveloped areas of the world.

His policy points toward peace without appeasement, strength without provocation and patience without weakness. His statements have been consistent and responsible. He is too honest to promise drastic cuts and adequate preparedness at the same time. And he refuses to speak first as an internationalist in the home of the late Senator Vandenberg and then as an isolationist in the home of Colonel McCormick.

He opposes Communism and McCarthyism . . .

Governor Stevenson opposes both communism and McCarthyism, and he disdains to fraternize with those who use the smear for cheap political advantage. He understands that irresponsible denunciation is itself a subversive act. He knows not only that communism must be opposed but that it must be opposed in the scrupulous fashion that democracy and freedom require. He realizes that democracy itself is a method of doing things which demands fair play and respects the common decencies.

As a candidate he does not indulge in demagogy. As president he would not open the door to those who would destroy freedom under the guise of curbing communism.

He has a clearly stated domestic policy . . .

We approve Governor Stevenson's clear and forward-looking proposals on domestic policy—on civil rights and F. E. P. C., on labor relations and support to agriculture. We particularly his courageous stand on the vital issue of inflation, which demonstrates again his ability to tell selfish special interests those things that must be said firmly for the common welfare.

We are heartened by his warm enthusiasm for the social gains of the past twenty years. We are pleased that his first response to the idea of social security was not, like his opponent's, to compare it with imprisonment. We believe that his election would assure us a wise consolidation and careful extension of sound social reforms.

He is an experienced civilian administrator . . .

Moreover, we have confidence in his ability to act skillfully. He is experienced in the highly complex problems of civilian administration. He has tightened administrative practices, lopped off useless political jobs, exercised sound economy, eliminated special privileges in awarding contracts, struck a powerful blow against illicit gambling and organized crime. He has extended notably the services of Illinois in education, health, and social welfare, and has advanced interracial understanding.

He has made a successful fight against corruption . . .

We also value Governor Stevenson's attack on corruption in Illinois, and we consider him much better of the two candidates to root out corruption in Washington. In such an undertaking the greatest asset any political leader can have is independence, and Governor Stevenson has proved himself one of the most independent men ever to appear in American politics. While his opponent has surrendered to the most unsavory elements of his party, Stevenson has steadily put principle above the search for votes.

Believing corruption and improper influences an evil thing in both parties, we find in the official Republicans' approach to the Nixon case a note of hypocrisy. Senator Nixon's answer to questions about his financial support we found to be no answer at all, merely a dramatic monologue insulting to the intelligence. The failure of Republican leaders to recognize the moral issue in the case suggests that they do not know corruption when they see it. We are alarmed at the thought that a Republican victory would put Richard Nixon next in succession to the White House.

General Eisenhower . . .

One the basis of his public statements, some of us once thought that our beliefs and principles were in large measure shared by General Eisenhower. Even as late as July we hoped that we might witness a campaign between two candidates who would debate the issues at the highest levels of political responsibility. Instead we have been able to follow with approval the activities of only one candidate. General Eisenhower has been vague or inconsistent on most issues, has borrowed Democratic planks on a few, and has been, in our opinion, wrong on the most crucial questions before him. He has been wrong in his wavering foreign policy pronouncements, wrong in surrendering to Taft, wrong in absolving Nixon, wrong in embracing Jenner, wrong in accepting McCarthy. We deplore too the attempt in the Republican campaign to exploit the loss of American lives in Korea—which is a national sorrow—as an issue of partisan politics.

Governor Stevenson . . .

Governor Stevenson has not hesitated to take issue with his Democratic predecessors and has differed with other powerful Democrats; General Eisenhower has declared his support of all Republican candidates. His "great crusade" has degenerated into nothing more than a drive to replace Democrats with Republicans—not just bad Democrats with good Republicans but any Democrat with any Republican, good, bad, or intolerable.

We do not announce our views in the spirit of those firmly committed to one of the two great parties. We believe in the wisdom of the citizen who picks and chooses among the candidates of both parties. We believe in the two-party system, but we do not think it can be threatened by electing a great candidate and rejecting a lesser one. We believe that it might have been a service to the country to rehabilitate the Republican party as an agency of nationwide constructive leadership. We regret that General Eisenhower, by leaning indiscriminately on its most undesirable elements, has thrown away his magnificent opportunity to do so.

We feel that this is too critical an hour in our country's history to entrust our destinies and our children's destinies to a soldier who has served his country well in war but has not mastered the arts of civilian statecraft. This is not time for anything less than the wisest, steadiest, and most responsible leadership we can find. Therefore we will vote for Adlai Stevenson.

This is an abstract of a paper prepared by the Volunteers for Stevenson on the Columbia University Faculties and Staff and was signed by more than 320 members of that university. Among the signers are many of the most distinguished men of America. It will be recalled that General Eisenhower is President of Columbia University, presently on leave of absence. The publication of this statement has been arranged by the Stevenson-Sparkman Brazos County Democratic Club.
