

Biologists Gather At Randolph Field

Topics ranging from the feeding of young chicks to the effects of high altitude on rats are on the schedule of the southwestern section of the Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, holding its Fall meeting Friday and Saturday at Randolph Field.

The scientists will be guests of the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine. Dietary problems of growing chicks, turkeys, and other fowl are among the subjects to be discussed by a delegation from A&M. Headed by Drs. James R. Couch, Raymond Reiser, and Sidney O. Brown, the researchers include G. W. Anderson, R. L. Atkinson, A. A. Camp, H. K. Daugherty, J. W. Dieckert, V. M. Doctor, J. F. Elam, T. M. Ferguson, L. L. Gee, R. L. Jacobs, R. L. Reid, R. T. Shillings, W. L. Tidwell, and B. E. Welch.

and there isn't much can stop them. Last week Dick Ochoa was stopped, but Gib Dawson and T. Jones ran wild. Should be 28-13.
Rice meets Arkansas in what looks like the fight for the cellar. Rice hasn't won, in so long they will be bitter, and Arkansas will be trying to come back after the sound drubbing they took from the Cadets. The gun should find the score 14-14.
TCU takes on a non-conference foe this week end, in the form of Wake Forest. The Horned Frogs won't have much trouble after the first half, and should be able to pull ahead 20-7.
