

Tickets Go On Sale For Annual Fish-Shorthorn Shrine Battle

Tickets for the annual Shrine game between the Aggie Fish and the Texas University Freshmen will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. on Kyle Field.

Some of the best high school football players in the state will participate in the "Little Turkey Day" game.

For the Fish such men as Don Watson of Franklin, Leo Namken of Giddings, Jack Powell of Waco, and Billy Pete Huddelston of Iraan, will be playing.

Starring for the Shorthorns will be such men as Fred Feir and Bobby Roberson of Valley Mills, Charles Smaistria of West, and Joe Youngblood of Abilene.

The game is sponsored by the Ben Hur Temple of Austin and the Brazos Valley Shrine Club of Bryan. Proceeds will go to the Shrine's crippled children clinic for Central Texas needy children.

Tickets may be purchased at any drug store in College Station. The price is $1.50, and all seats will be reserved. Tickets may be obtained at the box office at Kyle Field Saturday afternoon also. All persons must pay admission, such as coupon holders.

In Austin, tickets are being sold by the Ben Hur Temple at 18th and Lavaca.

'WILL TEXAS SCORE?'—All America Tackle Jack Little (left) jokes with All-SWC candidate Marshall Rush at the question "Do you think Texas will score against the Aggies?" These men are two top defensive line-men in the conference, and have turned in outstanding performances. Rush was out of play at the first of the year with an injury, but has set a strong enough record since then to make him the choice of many sports writers in Texas for all-conference honors. Both men are seniors, and will be trying to beat the 30-year standing jinx of Memorial Stadium next week in Austin.

'Aggies Have Good Chance Against Texas' Says Boring

By JERRY ESTES
Battalion Sports Staff

The general opinion around Texas concerning the Aggie-Longhorn game in Austin is definitely leaning toward the Texas squad.

But the boys who will have the most to say about this win or loss for the Cadets are the Aggie team members themselves, and they don't agree with the public opinion.

"I believe we have a good chance to win our first ball game in Austin in 39 years," said Joe Boring, defensive halfback for the Maroon

Roy Dollar who handles the regular booting chores.

His versatility doesn't end here, however, since he lettered last year on the freshman baseball team.

Boring says that Jerry Norton, SMU's one-man offensive show, is the toughest ball carrier he has played against this year. He added, "Norton keeps you wondering whether to drop back for a pass or move up for an end run. "When he does run, he is hard to catch, and if you catch him he's hard to tackle," he said.

Boring's idea on next year's prospects was a bright one. He said "We should really have a good ball club next year. I think we will do all right. But first, we have to go down to Austin and win that one in Memorial Stadium."

Fencing Team Win Three-Way Match

Aggie fencers swept a double victory from Tarleton Saturday in the MSC ballroom.

The Varsity won 34-14 while the non-varsity edged by 18-14. The group from Rice failed to appear and forfeited.

High point individuals in the three divisions were Bob Jones, foil, Wally Schlauther, epee, and Arthur Garner, sabre.

"Our foil and sabre squads showed very well," said Bob Jones, "but the epee group needs some smoothing out. The non-varsity did quite well considering their inexperience."

Gymnastic Club Prepares Show

The A&M Gymnastics Club is preparing to stage an exhibition for the Crockett, Texas Lions Club Variety Show, Nov. 25.

Fifteen regular members of the team will make the trip and perform on the trampoline, high bar, side horse, and mats. Conrad Webb and Coach Bud Matthews will act as clowns.

and White, in a typical statement heard around the A&M dressing room these past few days.

Here is one man the Longhorns will have to reckon with when it comes to their powerful passing attack. Boring leads the conference in pass interceptions.

Pulls Down Four

In the Arkansas game, the 19 year old sophomore intercepted four Razorback passes to stifle several different scoring threats. He has upset many a passer's dream this year when it comes to the opposition's completing passes.

His average in this department after stealing the ball from the receiver's hands is 8.4 yards per try. Boring has intercepted a total of eight passes during the season and carried them back for 67 yards.

The 165-pounder Sunset High School (Dallas) star also is setting the pace in the conference on punt returns. He has taken 10 kicks back through the opposing line for 123 yards and a 12.3 average.

Also a Punter

Boring is also a punter if the occasion arises, although this year he has worked behind the foot of

Regular Quarterback Club Meeting Postponed

The A&M Quarterback Club will not meet this week, said Ed Holder, president.

Regularly scheduled in the MSC Ballroom for 7:30 tomorrow night, the meeting has been postponed.

Britton First To Bring Deer To Locker On Opening Day

By GEORGE MANITZAS
Battalion Sports Staff

Cloudy or clear, the dawning of each Nov. 16 has always brought out the deer hunters throughout the state to compete in the traditional "race for the locker."

It seems whoever gets his buck to the frozen food locker first is the "hunter of the year," and can put another feather in his cap for being the leader.

Sunday morning may have been dingy and damp, but that didn't stop J. A. Britton of 1010 So. 25th St. He brought his deer in well before noon, and is credited with the honor of being first in this area.

The deer was a four-pointer and tipped the scales at 76 pounds. And something which might make the old timers pull in their brags for awhile, Britton says "It is the first deer I have ever killed."

He says he made the shot at 100 yards, which is nice shooting for anyone, and especially for a man out for his first buck.

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

Sq. 23 Cops Class C Football Championship

A 7-0 victory over Co. C gave Sq. 23 the Class C intramural football championship Monday, after A QMC had used a potent offense and a rock-ribbed defense to roll to a 19-6 win over Sq. 7 Friday in the Class B finals.

Sq. 23's defense stopped everything Co. C had, giving up but three first downs and not allowing the losers inside their 40-yard line. The champs had gained their berth in the finals with a 6-0 win over Sq. 21 Friday, allowing but one 40- and 20-yard line penetration in that game.

Despite several spectacular catches of passes for long gains by
