

Lions Donate Services For Benefit Camp

The Lions Club is offering a good car wash and a chance to donate to the Texas Lions Crippled Children's Camp Saturday when they take over L. F. McCall's service station at East Gate.

More than twenty members of the club will work in shifts of eight or ten all day giving washes and grease jobs. Profits will go to the club's civic projects.

McCall, president of the Lions, is donating his facilities, including water and grease.

The service will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Cars will be picked up and delivered.

Cost will be a dollar for a wash and a dollar for a grease job, the regular rates. In case of rain, the service will be discontinued.

FROM THE CITY DESK

Bond, Ordinance Asked of Council

By HARRI BAKER
Battalion City Editor

With both the Recreation Council and the school board asking for money, Monday night's City Council meeting will affect almost every citizen in College Station.

The Recreation Council will ask for the passage of an ordinance putting them on a tax-supported basis. They estimate that a tax of between five and 10 cents per one hundred dollars of assessed property value would be sufficient to give them a yearly revenue of from $1,250 to $2,500. This would figure out to not more than three dollars for the average tax payer.

The Recreation Council had originally planned to ask for the passage of a charter amendment, but state law prohibits the amending of a charter until two years after its adoption. A majority vote of the six-man City Council will pass an ordinance.

Bond Issue Needs Approval

In order to raise $650,000 to build new school buildings, the school board will ask the council to approve a bond issue. If the council approves it, which also takes only a majority vote, an election must be called for the taxpayers to vote on the bond issue. If a majority of the voters vote for the bonds, they will be put on sale.

After presenting several plans to a community meeting, the school board decided on the plan to build a new high school and an elementary school in College Hills. If the bond issue is approved by the council, the school board plans to have a series of neighborhood meetings to explain the building program to the taxpayers.

Incidentally, City Council meetings are open to the public. Anyone who wants to say in on the meetings, which are held in the city hall.

Also coming up for the City Council in the near future are the petitions of the Lone Star Gas Company and the Southwest States Telephone Company to raise their rates in this area. Since the rate increase affects Bryan exactly the same as College Station, the two councils will meet jointly to vote on the raises.

A meeting has been scheduled for Dec. 12 to discuss the gas raise, but no date has been set for a hearing on the phone rates raise.

Here and There

With the Christmas season right around the corner, organizations in College Station are working to make sure that every kid in the city has a happy Christmas.

The Kiwanis Club has been working for several weeks collecting toys and repairing them for distribution to underprivileged children.

The MSC will show a film version of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" Dec. 12 and 13. Admission for two of the showings will be one toy. The toys will be distributed to underprivileged children by the Directorate. The other two showings of the film will be free.

Plans for a community-wide Christmas party are being made by the Recreation Council, and church choirs of the city are joining to present a cantata, "The Story of Christmas" in the First Baptist Church Dec. 17.

Members of the Lions Club will put on their old clothes tomorrow and wash cars to get money for their civic projects. The president of the club, L. E. McCall, is donating the facilities of his service station at East Gate to the club, with all the profits to go to the club. They will offer wash and grease jobs at a dollar apiece.
