 tions at our state school in Austin, it might pay us to think a little more about matters closer to home.
 It's about time for Gov. Shivers to fill three vacancies which will exist on the A&M System Board of Directors in January. Directors whose terms expire are Tyree Bell of Dallas, C. C. Krueger of San Antonio and Rufus Peoples of Tehuacana.
 There has been much speculation about whether or not any or all three will be reappointed. The governor's present policy for making such appointments calls for new men rather than reappointments.

Arts and Darts

 The film vividly portrays the downfall of a man through an adulterous love affair. Under the expert direction of William Wyler, the story's sordid theme is handled with a sensitivity that destroys all dangers of sensationalism.
Intimate Photography
 In addition to artistic direction, "Carrie" becomes forceful through the acting of its stars and its detailed intimate photography. Laurence Olivier moves through his difficult role with ease and understanding that few actors ever attain. Jennifer Jones portrays Carrie in a way that makes the character come alive and therefore believable.
 The film's photography captures the tragic mood of the story and the realistic costumes and settings of the film's turn-of-the-century background. The accurate detail sometimes makes the movie appear it was actually photographed in the period represented.
 "Carrie" fills the screen as a model example of technical and dramatic cinema artistry.

Politically it would be to his advantage to pass around these appointive assignments to other people in the state.
 Word has drifted back that the general feeling of some directors at their last meeting in Austin was reappointments may be in order for the three whose terms expire.
 However one of the directors whose time elapses this January said he did not expect to be re-named to the board.
 The group will suffer a great loss if these three directors do not receive reappointments. Each has turned in an outstanding job to the A&M System, far more than some people realize.
 Members of the board whose terms do not expire this year are G. R. White, president of Brady; E. W. Harrison of South Bend; A. E. Cudlipp of Lufkin; H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton; J. W. Witherspoon of Hereford; and Robert Allen of Raymondville.
 One other appointive position in the A&M System administrative set up must be filled in the near future. Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist will retire at the end of this school year.
 There has been no indication from anyone as to who will succeed him. He first took over the system when it was organized in 1948.

USDA Chief Speaks To Credit School

Oris Wells, chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, USDA, Washington, D. C., spoke yesterday to the second annual Texas Farm and Ranch Credit School in the MSC.
 Following Wells, speeches were given by A&M agricultural staff members, state agricultural authorities, and bankers attending the conference. Members toured the campus yesterday afternoon.

Garden Club Makes Yule Decorations

The A&M Garden Club will have a workshop to make Christmas arrangements in the MSC Social Room from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Friday, said Mrs. John Hugh Hill, advertising co-chairman.
 Table arrangements, door designs and special arrangement orders will be made of pine needles, magnolia leaves, cones and many dried materials and will be sold Saturday at Miller's Super Market on Highway 6 and Southside Food Market in West Park addition.
 Special orders may be placed with Mrs. P. W. Burns, general chairman; Mrs. Al B. Nelson, or Mrs. H. W. Barlow, said Mrs. Hill.

Aggie-Ex Gets Part Of Downed MIG

Lt. John Ludwig, Jan., 1951 aeronautical engineering graduate from Bryan, has been credited with destroying half a MIG-15 Sunday, in air action over northwest Korea.
 A pilot in one of the two large dogfights involving 24 American Sabrejets and 18 Communist warplanes, Lt. Ludwig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ludwig of 1110 E. 26th St., Bryan.
 Although this was Lt. Ludwig's first claim, six Red jets were shot down in Sunday's battle.

 me, and I am only glad to make my contribution on the coaching side of it."
 Tickets are being sold for the game at various stores around the North Gate, East and South Gates, and Bryan. "Advanced sales point to a very good turnout," said Gene Sparks, chairman of the ticket committee.
 Profits from the 12th Man Bowl will go into the Student Aid Fund from which students of A&M can borrow money to meet medical bills. They may pay the money back at any time in the future when they have graduated and are holding a steady job.
 This is the first Bowl game to be played on the campus, and branches from an idea originated in 1940 when the Aid Fund was begun. Bill Munnerlyn, chairman of the special committee for the game, said he hopes this will be the first in a series of such events, and will probably be played each year.

 In the only game in which both teams scored, A Comp. slid past A Arm., 12-7, in a stubborn defensive battle.

'God of the Atom' Movie Wednesday

"God of the Atom," a Moody Institute of Science full-color film, will be shown in the YMCA Chapel at the Aggie Christian Fellowship Wednesday night at 7:15.
 Featured in this film are the actual technicolor pictures of the Nagasaki and Bikini explosions narrated by a physicist who was an eye-witness of all three wartime atomic bomb explosions.
 Portrayed also in the film are demonstrations of the energies within every particle of matter which man has learned to release. The discovery of atomic energy is pointed out in the film, and it emphasizes man's need of spiritual rebirth.
 "God of the Atom" is brought to the campus by the Aggie Christian Fellowship, an inter-denominational organization open to all Aggies and faculty members, which meets every Wednesday night at 7:15 p. m. in the YMCA.

Basketball

 All three will see plenty of action this season.
 It's hard to say just who should hold the favored slot Wednesday. Like the Aggies, Houston suffered heavily from graduation. Their most severe sacrifice was the loss of Royce Ray, All-Missouri Valley center.
 The Cougars trounced A&M twice in the past season, leaving the Farmers with a particular desire to get even. They know its bad enough to get beat in your own conference, much less by an outsider.
 Preceding the Aggie-Cougar tilt A&M's freshman squad will meet the Allen Academy team in the freshman's first game of the year.

Knox, Zak to Highlight AVMA Auxiliary Meet

The AVMA Auxiliary will meet in the MSC Social Room at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday for a program meeting.
 Sam Knox and Albin Zak, marimba players, will present a musical program of Christmas carols and popular selections.
