MAN AND WOMAN OF THE YEAR — Marion Pugh (right), president of the Civic Development Association and Chamber of Commerce, notifies Sid Loveless and Mrs. C. C. Doak of their selection as College Station's man and woman of the year. A secret committee appointed by the Association made the selection on a basis of contributions to the city, both as individuals and with organizations.

March of Dimes Bridge Party Set Tonight in MSC

By PEGGY MADDOX

The sponsors of the Aggie Wives Bridge Club are going to honor the wives of the graduating semiors and help those afflicted with polio at a bridge party tonight in the MSC 600 Social Room. The party is not limited to club members. Anyone who wishes to contribute 25 cents to the March of Dimes and then play bridge is invited according to Mesdames E. L. Angell, G. W. Adriance, E. E. McQuillen, D. W. Williams, J. J. Woolket, the hostesses. The players will be divided into two groups and playing will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Coffees Well Used

The Newcomers Club has been promoting neighborhood coffees. The coffees are held for the purpose of acquainting newcomers with their neighbors. They are usually held in the mornings in the homes of various members. Mothers bring their children and a definite effort is made to make them informal. Coffee is served and the time is spent visiting and be coming better acquainted with those present

To form the coffee groups College Station and Bryan were divided into sections and all Newcomers in each section were put in one coffee group. No one has to go far to attend a coffee. Among the women to be hostesses for such affairs are Mesdames Helen Anderson, C. G. Workman, Gere Dean Honeycutt, Alice Vetter, J. P. Delaplane, Mary Steinke, Mary Grady, Grace Brown, Jessie Glick, Ann Dabbs.

Dr. Mayo and Mr. Hemingway

Recently Dr. T. F. Mayo gave a talk on "The Triumph of Hemingway" to the Newcomers Club. Preceding the program, coffee and refreshments were served by Mrs. Joe Davis and Course Mrs. John Way. The hostesses were Mrs. Edward F. Sauer, 501 Mrs. A. J. Armstrong, Mrs. Cecil M. MacGregor, Mrs. Hugh Patterson suggested it would Latimer and Mrs. Jacob Muehleisen.

Degree Given to Mrs. Starling

The Architectural Wives Society honored Mrs. Nellavee Starling, the only wife of a graduating architectural student, with a dinner-dance Saturday night.

Dick Vrooman, professor in the department of architecture, presented a P. H. T. (Pushed Husband Through) Degree to Mrs. Starling, wife of James Starling. The Starlings will make their home in Bryan where James will be employed by the B. W. Construction Co.
