

Internationalism Is Ike's Policy

"3. Knowing that only a United States that is strong and immensely productive can help defend freedom in our world, we view our nation's strength and security as a trust upon which rests the hope of free men everywhere. . . .

"4. Honoring the identity and heritage of each nation of the world, we shall never use our strength to try to impress upon another people our own cherished political and economic institutions.

"5. Assessing realistically the needs and capacities of proven friends of freedom, we shall strive to help them to achieve their own security and well-being. Likewise we shall count on them to assume, within the limits of their resources, their full and just burdens in the common defense of freedom.

"6. Recognizing economic health as an indispensable basis of military strength and the free world's peace, we shall strive to foster everywhere, and to practice ourselfes, policies that encourage productivity and profitable trade. For the impoverishment of any single people in the world means danger to the well-being of all other peoples.

"7. Appreciating that economic need, military security and political wisdom combine to suggest regional groupings of free peoples, we hope, within the framework of the United Nations, to help strengthen such special bonds of the world over. The nature of these ties must vary with the different problems of different areas.

"8. Conceiving the defense of freedom, like freedom itself, to be one and indivisible, we hold all continents and peoples in equal regard and honor. We reject any insinuation that one race or another is in any sense inferior or expendable.

"9. Respecting the United Nations as the living sign of all peoples' hope for peace, we shall hope for peace, we shall strive to make it not merely an eloquent symbol but an effective force. And in our quest of honorable peace, we shall neither compromise, nor tire, nor ever cease."

lofty abstractions, far removed from the matters of daily living."

He added: "They are the laws of spiritual strength that generate and define our material strength.

"Patriotism means equipped forces and a prepared citizenry. Moral stamina means more energy and more productivity, on the farm and in the factory.

"Love of liberty means the guarding of every resource that makes freedom possible—from the sanctity of our families and the wealth of our soil to the genius of scientists."

As he did so often during the campaign, Eisenhower said the peace the world seeks is "nothing less than the practice and fulfillment of our whole faith, among ourselves and in our dealings with others." Then he said:

"It signifies more than stilling the guns, easing the sorrow of war. "More than an escape from death, it is a way of life.

"More than a haven for the weary, it is a hope for the brave.

"This is the hope that beckons us onward in this century of trial. This is the work that awaits us all, to be done with bravery, with charity—and with prayer to Almighty God."

Students May Pay Semester Fees Now

Students who will be enrolled next semester may now pay fees and reserve rooms announced Harry Boyer, chief of housing.

Fees may be paid at the Fiscal Office and upon presentation of fee slips, rooms may be reserved at the Housing Office in Goodwin Hall. Boyer said students who wish to reserve rooms they now occupy should register today.

After today students may reserve rooms on a basis of first come first served, Boyer said.

ones to bemoan the fact that comradeship or friendship—the real school spirit—prove to be stronger than a more or less mythical and artificial "school spirit" and a prefabricated "honor."

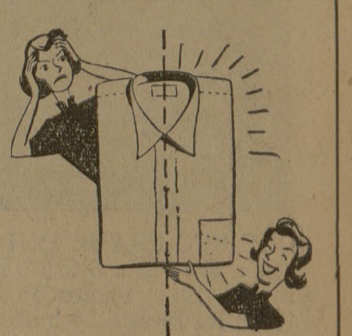

The problem of cribbing can be approached—approached, not solved ed—in two ways.

● The realistic approach: proper organization and presentation of the subject matter; strict and alert supervision of the exam; frequent tests, preferably essay tests; emphasis on work in class, rather than on results produced by one final test.

● The idealistic or utopian approach: to give education in general and exams in particular a deeper, more satisfying meaning, to improve the relationship between teacher and students, to transform exams from hurdles into fulfillments, to degrade grading.

In the end, there is only one answer to "cheating": teaching. The two have the same sounds, but a different sound. Teaching has the opposition direction, it is direction in the right direction; it is direction, pure and simple. Good teaching, instead of breeding and punishing cribbing, smother it in the crib.

Glasgow Returns From Film Project

Leslie L. Glasgow, graduate student in the department of wildlife management, recently returned from Baton Rouge, La., where he spent several days assisting the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in making an educational film on the life history of the woodcock.

Glasgow, a candidate for his Ph.D., has been engaged in research on these wintering grounds since 1948.
