

'Fish', Shorthorn Football Contract Renewed Here

A new three-year contract between the A&M and Texas freshman football teams has been signed.

This is a benefit game and the proceeds go to the Crippled Children's Clinic of the Ben Hur Shrine Temple of Austin. The game is played a week prior to the varsity game between the two schools and on the opposite field.

The promoters of the game met here last week to discuss the new contract. This year the game will be played at Memorial Stadium in Austin.

Journalism Club Has Show Tonight

"Now We Know," a film on the Audit Bureau of Circulation, will be shown at the Journalism Club meeting at 7:30 tonight in the MSC Senate Chamber.

Plans for attending the Southwest Journalism Conference at the University of Houston Friday and Saturday will be discussed also by the club.

Any student interested in the movie is invited to attend, said Frank N. Manitzas, president.

has been proven. It's a situation of all or none! This is a thought for the class of '54 to consider before next September, because time is getting short.

A man who has never had any experience in track cannot expect to go out and win the cross country event the first time he tries, and the seniors will find out that you can't completely change the corps over in a few months by constant inspection and just a few commanders doing their job.

This proves nothing, just stimulates resentment. The military revolution must come if we wish to save the corps, but not too rapidly nor, too slowly.

The college department itself could help the environment conditions if they would spend a little time and money to better the living conditions. It's a known fact that the cattle barns are in better shape than most of the dormitories. Paint isn't too expensive and every penny spent could well be used. Better looking dorms would add to cleanliness, the first word in military.

There is only one choice to make! Accept responsibility, untie the corps, resign to military discipline or face constant deterioration and very possible disbandment of our corps by the Department of the Army.

Nick Alexander Jr. '54

EDITORS' NOTE: It's just as embarrassing to have a carload of sophomores, juniors or seniors to act as the freshmen you mentioned. Also, appropriations have been made by the board of directors to repaint dormitories that didn't receive new coats of paint last summer. The work will be done this summer.

Ford Photo Exhibit Displayed in MSC

An educational exhibit of photographs illustrating award winning projects in the annual Ford Motor Company Industrial Arts Awards Program is now on display in the MSC.

More than $100,000 in prizes including expense paid trips to Detroit for the winners and their teachers were awarded, said C. H. Groneman, head of the industrial education department.

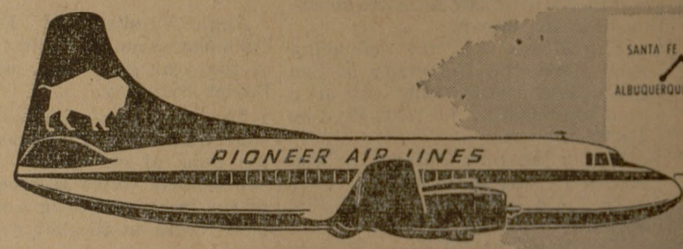

"All of the entrants are junior and senior high school boys and girls enrolled in drawing, wood-working, metalworking, plastics, leather, ceramics and graphic arts," Groneman said.

Panel To Discuss Military Etiquette

Military etiquette will be discussed at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the MSC by a panel of officers, their wives and students, said Carroll Phillips, chairman of the panel series.

Capt. E. J. Scheffel will talk on duties and obligations of young officers regarding military etiquette.

Mrs. Cecil MacGregor will discuss the role of an officer's wife in assisting her husband.
