Farmer Cagers 9th In Defense At Final Listing

Finishing ninth in the nation in team defense with a lusterless 6-15 season record is hard to do, but A&M's scrappy '52-'53 basketball team did just that.

One of the four Southwest Conference teams which finished in the first 15 defensive leaders, the Aggies held their foes to an average of 57.2 points in 21 games. SWC champion TCU ranks highest, holding sixth place with a 55.6 mark. Rice is 11th with a 57.9 record, and Texas is 13th with 58.6. Baylor finished 16th. Only 15 of the nation's major basketball teams can show a mark below 60,0 in games through March 10.

Tall, LeRoy Miksch, widely named in All-SWC balloting, led the Cadet's offensive punch, grabbing fifth place honors in season scoring and sixth in conference scor-

He scored 249 points during the season for a 13.1 average and pumped in 133 in 11 conference games for a 12.1 mean.

Gene Schwinger, Rice's All-Conference selection, led both SWC season and conference scoring. The stringbean Houstonian amassed 423 points during the season for a 20.1 average. Schwinger is the only SWC player among the nation's top scorers, ranking 35th.

Art Barnes, SMU, and soph Murray Bailey, Baylor, are the only other conference representa-tives among offensive leaders. They rank 12th and 14th, respectively, in free throw percentage. Barnes sank 72 out of 90 for 80 per cent and Bailey dunked 78 of 98 for a 79.6 mark.
