About 1600 HS Students Get Opportunity Awards Invite

About 1600 Texas high school students have received invitations to participate in Opportunity Awards scholarship examinations, according to R. G. Perryman, secretary of the scholarship committee.

Opportunity Awards scholarships were originated by the Former Students Association. Contributions were added later by other sources, Perryman said.

Must File Applications "In order for students to compete, they must file applications, three letters of recommendation, and high school transcripts," Perryman explained.

From these examinations, winners will be determined. Qualifications for awards are based upon the examinations as well as leadership, character, high school grades and financial need, Perryman said.

There will be approximately 500 students participating. About 60 four-year scholarships, ranging in value from $800 to $1600 will be awarded. The Faculty Committee on Scholarships will determine winners, Perryman said.

The committee includes David H. Morgan, Dean of the College, as chairman; E. E. McQuillen, director of Development Fund; J. B. (Dick) Hervey, representing the Former Students Association; W. L. Penberthy, dean of men; R. P. Ward, representing the School of Engineering; R. L. Hunt, School of Agriculture; W. J. Dobson, School of Arts and Sciences; A. E. Redmond, representing the School of Veterinary Medicine; and Perryman.

Green Gets Prexy Of East Texas Club

Don (Geetus) Green, junior architecture major from Gladewater, was elected president of the East Texas A&M Club Monday.

Other officers who were elected are Bill Gregory from White Oak, vice-president; Ed Ellison from Longview, secretary and treasurer; J. B. Lilley and Howard Wright, both from Gladewater, reporters.

Danforth Awards To Be Given Soon

A junior and a freshman will be selected by a faculty committee Wednesday to receive the 1953 Danforth Summer Fellowships.

The fellowships will be awarded on the basis of student activities, leadership, scholarship, and general culture.

Eight juniors and five freshmen are competing for the award. The juniors are Ray Hickman, E. D. Lemert, R. D. Lanbers, Lester S. Smith, Charles G. Gard, J. B. Sorell, M. A. Heelscher, and Danny J. Burkard.

Freshmen are Donald J. Bierschke, Munroe H. Fuchs, James L. Renick, Franklin D. Waddell, and Leroy F. Williams.

ASABAB Ball Scheduled For Legion Hall Saturday

COLLEGE STATION'S water supply is temporarily coming from the Bryan reserve tank while A&M's water tower is being repaired, said C. D. Wills of the Physical Plant. Both Bryan and College Station water comes from the same source, and A&M can pump water from Bryan at any time by opening a valve at the pumping station.

R. E. NAUGHER, program specialist 12 southern states and Porto Rico, was guest of the A&M Department of Agricultural Education yesterday. Naugher is touring Texas observing the programs of vocational education in Agriculture in selected colleges and high schools.

THE ASABAB Architect Ball will be held Saturday night in the Bryan American Legion Hall. "Dante's Inferno" is the theme of the ball and the costumes will conform to Dante's stay in hell.

RANGE and Forestry Club pictures for the Aggieldand will be made at 5:15 p. m. today in front of the MSC, said Ken Hall, president. Corps members should wear number one uniform and others should wear dress clothes with ties, he said.

DR. J. R. COUCH, poultry husbandry department, spoke on "Unidentified Growth Factors in Distillers Dried Solubles as Related to Antibiotics and methionine in the Nutrition of Turkey Poults" at the eight annual Distillers Feed Conference held in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 17.

DR. W. E. BRILES, poultry husbandry department, has received a renewed grant of $3,700 from the Pioneer Hi-Bred Corn Co. of Des Moines on his work concerning the antigenic differences in inbred lines of poultry.

THREE A&M former students received their Air Force pilot's wings March 16 at Reese AFB. They are 2nd Lts. Billy J. Moore '51, John G. McGlothlin, and William T. Park.

AN AGGIE quartet, "The Blue Notes," sung for the College Station Kiwanis Club yesterday. Composed of Truett Fields, Bob Jones, Kenneth Jones and Ronnie Cheves, the group specialized in barbershop melodies. Next week, Col. Willard T. Crevallier, vice-president of McGraw-Hill Publications, will speak to the club. This will be the fourteenth year that he has spoken here.

THE BRAZOS and A&M Student Chapters of the American Institute of Architects will hold a coffee and social in MSC Rooms 2A and 2D, 7 p. m. Thursday.

Ernest Langford, head of the architecture department said the meeting will be a question and answer session where students can bring their problems to the practicing architects and get better acquainted.

Joe Drake, fifth year student from Dallas, is president of the student chapter.

A&M STUDENTS, Frank Manitzas and John S. Samuels, will not speak before the University of Texas student and faculty relations committee concerning the possibilities of coeducation at A&M. The meeting has been cancelled because the coeducational controversy has receded, according to the UT committee.

Manitzas, co-editor of The Battalion, and Samuels, vice president of the MSC Council, were to team with University of Texas girls in discussing opposite coeducational viewpoints.

AN A&M GOOD will committee leaves Wednesday to tour four Texas high schools in an effort to stimulate interest in colleges and especially A&M, said W. D. (Pete) Hardesty, business manager of student activities.

The students will present programs to students at high schools in Overton, Gilmer, Nacogdoches and Lufkin.

Roddy People's combo, Jimmy Elder with his steel guitar, and a Latin American trio will provide entertainment for the programs. Speeches will be made concerning military life, athletics, general educational advantages and the Basic Division and Junction program at A&M.

In the best upperclassman bout, Russ Blocker, Sq. 6, defeated Louis DeHaes, ASA.

DeHaes, spotting a decided reach advantage, came back strong in the third round, but was too far back to gain the win. Blocker showed well in the first two stanzas, blocking most of DeHaes's blows and countering with hard rights to the body.

Dischler, Co. F, put on a hard-hitting attack of combination punches in the second round to pound out a decision over Powell, Co. H.

Complete results of yesterday's bouts follow: 123 pound—Condon over Mitchell, Sq. 18; Alexander over Wyatt, Sq. 3;

137 pound—Sinclair over Reynolds; Greer over Francis; 147 pound—Dischler over Powell; Cheewing over Teague, Co. G;

157 pound—Pearson over Deaton, Co. F; Geardina, Co. H, over Adams, Co. B;

167 pound—Owens over Liddy; Burton over Douglas, Co. G; 177 pound—Wheeler over Baker, Sq. 20;

191 pound—Blocker over DeHaes; Caldwell over Van Hoosier, C FA;

Paced by John Wagenfehr's score of 168, the high of the day, A QMC failed to find the range on the other targets and bowed to Sq. 10, 604-517. Bill Reed and Larry Hoffman paced the winners with 130.

In other rifle matches, A Arm. outshot AAA, 600-516; B Inf. edged Sq. 5, 645-607; A Inf. beat Sq. 6, 692-593; and Sq. 7 pulled away from Sq. 15, 552-463.

LETTERS

no means proof that the authors of the letter did not have the benefit of logical thought.

As to the spelling, if an editor can find little more than a person's spelling to criticize in the editor's note, then the note could well be omitted. See also 3 above, concerning the "75 odd years" in reference to the same letters. Not everyone has had the opportunity at proper spelling that a Batt editor has had. Or is it the proof readers who correct the editorials? Not everyone has had six years of college education behind him, as these five veterinary students have had. A few mistakes are excusable.

In the interests of a greater A&M College, I remain,

Measles Cases Drop in Local Area

One hundred and fourteen cases of measles were reported in Bryan and College Station last week.

This is an increase over the month of January which reported only 124 cases and February with 234 cases. However, the increase is due to a normal spastic outbreak and an epidemic is not foreseen, said Dr. R. H. Harrison, of Bryan.

The outbreak seems to have almost stopped, said Dr. J. E. Marsh of the College Hospital, who has received no new cases this week.

position by that time. Mr. Gilchrist told him that if requested by the board, he would agree to remain for a brief indefinite period under such circumstances, but hoped that the Board would be able to reach a decision early enough that this would not be necessary. "Sen. Moore's attempt to determine the policies of the Board of Directors of the Texas A&M College System by resolutions from the Senate floor and to determine who shall or shall not occupy executive positions within the System by the same means are improper and irresponsible acts for which he should be held accountable by the people of Texas who own the institution which he seems determined to personally take over."
