courage a Negro from running for the position. Providence School Board authorities admitted they had "heard a rumor" about a Negro filing, but that the reason for making the move was not to avoid having to elect a trustee from both districts, instead of only one for the new combined district in the April 4 election.

Richardson suggested a compromise of splitting the Providence district, giving half to Consolidated and half to Smetana. A rider was attached to the annexation motion. The rider allows persons who own property in the Providence district adjacent to the Consolidated district the option to transfer to the Consolidated district.

Wilcox Rebels
In the discussion of the move, G. B. Wilcox, president of the county school board, said the annexation was "none of Consolidated's business." He accused Consolidated of "trying to run the show for their own benefit."

Brown said the county school board was losing sight of education as their purpose, and that Wilcox was trying to create a clique.

The annexation involves only the first eight grades of the Negro school. High school students go to either Kimp School in Bryan or Lincoln School in College Station, whichever they prefer.

Senate Kills Effort to Quash Chancellor Job

Based on AP Reports

An effort to abolish the job of Chancellor at A&M was smothered yesterday by a 29 to 2 vote on the Senate floor.

Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan offered an amendment to strike out the $17,500 annual salary item for the chancellor. He argued that Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist was "kicked upstairs" into the chancellorship after a legislative investigation into conditions at A&M six years ago.

He said A&M would be better off if it had never heard of Gibb Gilchrist. Nothing personal was involved, he said.

Last week, Moore told The Battalion that if he could be assured Gibb Gilchrist would quit he would be willing to forget about abolishing the office.

Chancellor Gilchrist had no comment to make on the Senate's action.

Four Senate leaders defended Gilchrist and the chancellor system. "Gibb Gilchrist is one of the big men, not only of Texas, but of the United States," said Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris.

"His leadership has brought about one of the great business administrations of this state," said Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg. Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo and Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe also opposed the Moore amendment.

that a gap would arise between the "dollar countries" and the "non-dollar" countries.

"Even if the nations of Western Europe were in perfect economic condition," he said, "the dollar gap would still remain." Chevalier said the governments of the European countries could not force their countries to re-arm at the expense of their standard of living because the people of the countries have a say about what is happening.

Russians Have Low Standard
"Russia can re-arm at the expense of their standard of living because the Russian people have never known a high standard of living," he said.

Chevalier has traveled widely in Europe in recent years. He also has consulted the correspondents of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company on the European situation.

To help Europe, the United States must boost imports and investments, avoid booms and busts in raw materials, supplement European hard currency and avoid business recession here.

"Even a mild recession here would cause Western Europe to go bankrupt," Chevalier said.

"I am optimistic about the outlook," he said, "if we have what it takes to keep on as we are doing."

Academic 'Seniors' May Wear Ring

Any student who is qualified to order his senior ring may wear the ring when he gets it.

Academic seniors who are not allowed to take senior privileges in the Corps of Cadets may still wear the school ring, said E. E.

McQuillen, head of the Senior Ring Committee. Nothing is written in the rules of the Ring Committee which states an academically qualified cadet must have gold braid on his cap before he can wear a senior ring. According to the Ring Committee rules, any man who lacks not more than eight hours to classify as a senior in his school of study may wear the ring. To order a ring a student's mid-semester grades must signify he will classify at the semester's end. He will not receive the ring until the final grades are posted.

According to unwritten traditions, a man must be in his senior year in the corps before he can wear the ring.

Senior Class
At the last senior class meeting a complaint was made that some academic seniors who are juniors in the cadet corps were wearing their rings.

In addition to McQuillen, the ring committee is composed of the four class presidents, Weldon Kruger, cadet colonel of the corps, H. L. Heaton, registrar, C. G. White, head of student activities, Dick Hervey, executive secretary of the Association of Former Students, and E. L. Angell, assistant to the chancellor.

Senate Okeys 10 Per Cent Faculty Raise

AUSTIN, March 25 (AP)—The Senate yesterday passed its bill to appropriate 166 million dollars to run the state business and services for the next two years.

The bill included pay raises for state employes of 10 per cent of the first $3,000 of their salaries, an average $300 per year boost for teachers in institutions of higher learning.

An attempt to extend the 10 per cent pay boost to administrative boost of colleges was defeated.

The bill will go to the House where its defeat is expected. The 166 million dollars asked for is six million over the House's appropriation estimate. A joint conference committee of the Senate and the House probably will rewrite a new bill.
