that game by Coach Norton, and the Aggies played a heads-up ball game and won 7-3. After the game, as the custom goes, the captain of the team that wins gets the ball used in the game. Herbie Smith brought that Santa Clara ball back to Texas.

"All year Bill Duncan had been trying to get a game ball, but had never been appointed captain in any of the games. Nevertheless, Bill played some fine ball for the Aggies. About time the big Texas game had moved into the picture, and the Thanksgiving duets were at a premium. They were practically impossible to set, but Bill and Herbie had managed to obtain some tickets for a gentleman in Houston. So through appreciation this man of Houston gave Bill and Herbie a little extra for getting the tickets for him.

"Herbie received the money, just before the game, but he didn't see Duncan until the Aggies had given the Loughorns a thorough tromping, 20 to 7. Herbie was again captain in this game, and he got the Texas ball. After the game Herbie saw Bill, and asked him how much of the money was his. Bill Duncan wanted a game football bad. He still didn't have one. So he tells Herbie Smith that he can keep all the money if he will let him, Bill have one of the game footballs for a keepsake. Bill knew how Herbie felt about the Texas ball, so he asked for the Santa Clara ball. Herbie Smith, being the man that he was, not only gave Duncan the ball, but his share of the money also. Bill Duncan was a very happy man.

"Well, about three weeks ago Bill Duncan moved to Belton, Texas to take up his duties as head coach. And, as all of us do when we start moving, he began to gather up odds and ends from here and there. What should he find but the Santa Clara ball, all wrapped up in tissue paper. Bill decided he would retrace all the signatures on the ball for they were fading with age. After he was settled in Belton, Duncan got the ball out one night, and began his job of retracing names.

Soccer Team Tops Allen 5-2 To Win International Crown

The A&M soccer team emerged as Texas International Soccer League champions when they downed the Allen Academy Ramblers Wednesday on Allen Field in an easy 5-2 victory.

Scoring four goals in the first half, two by A. Casas and two by Guillermo Cardenas, the Aggies were content to coast in the second half, scoring one more goal on a fine play by Casas.

Allen scored a single goal in the first half and were unable to score any more points in the remainder of the contest.

With the victory, the Aggies clinched first place with a season record of six wins and two ties. They also led the league in scoring, chalking up 31 goals during the season while permitting nine goals by opponents.

Fernandez Outstanding

Guy Fernandez was the outstanding goalie for the league, permitting but seven goals to be scored against him during the entire season.

Cardenas was the league leader in scoring, booting 1 goal in the eight games played.

The Allen game wound up play for the A&M team, which is composed of players from all parts of the world. With only three players on the roster representing the U. S., the team shows a heavy sprinkling of players from Latin American countries, although other nations are represented.

A list of the players, along with their home countries, shows representatives from countries as distant as India, and cities as close as Dallas.

Players

The players are: Rafael Nunez, manager; Venezuela; Ruben Gonzalez, team referee; Guatemala; William Wilson, Washington, D. C.; Romain Slabbaert, Dallas; Bill Cunningham, Brazil; Lee Blocker, Brazil; M. Lesage, Honduras; A. Casas, Venezuela; Max Casalta, Venezuela; E. Aggies Down Rice, Amateurs; 4-1, 4-3

The Aggies won two baseball games in three days, downing Rice Saturday on Kyle Field, 4-1 in a conference tilt, and defeating the Bryan Amateurs by a 4-3 margin last night at Travis Park in Bryan.

Victory in the Rice game gave the Cadets a three win and three lost record in conference play, while last night's win over the Amateurs gave them a season mark of seven wins and seven losses.

Nelson and Hennig Win

In Saturday's game, Jerry Nelson went the route to pick up the win and Ed Hennig duplicated the feat against the Amateurs last night.

The Rice game found the Farmers still unable to bunt their hits, registering only three bingles, but Nelson was equally stingy to the Owl batters and set them down with four safeties.

Taking advantage of nine walks and three Rice errors, the Aggies scored two earned runs and two unearned runs.

Hennig allowed two hits in one inning twice against the Amateurs, (See BASEBALLERS, Page 4)

Track Team Wins 28th Kansas Relays

Texas A&M won the 28th Annual Kansas Relays for the third straight year, racking up 35½ points. The Aggies more than doubled their closest rival, the University of Kansas, who scored 17½ points.

Darrow Hooper was voted the most outstanding performer by the press and radio men, by virtue of his double victory in the shot put and discus. This was the first time in the history of the relays, that a performer had won those events for three straight years.

Hoopers shot put distance was 55 feet, 3½ inches, and his discus distance, 163 feet, 2 and one eighth inches. Hooper was given two watches, one for winning the shot and the other for winning the discus.

Pole vaulter, Malcolm Marks of the Aggies, was also given a watch for winning his event with a vault of 13 feet, eight and three quarters inches, respectively in the shot put, and Gross finished third in the discus. "It was remarkable that we finished one, three and four in the shot put," Col. Anderson, commented, "since there were so many schools entered in the relays."

According to Col. Anderson, "every major school from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada and from the Mississippi to the Rocky Mountains was represented at the relays."

Pete Mayeaux finished second in the javelin throw, with a toss of 186 feet, eight and three quarters inches, Glen Spradlin of A&M, tied for second in the pole vault, at the 13 feet, two and three quarters inches mark, for other Aggie points in the field events.

The A&M four mile relay finished second, the 440 yard relay was fourth and the Aggies were second in the distance medley for the other Cadet points.

Anderson Pleased

Col. Andy Anderson, A & M track coach, was well pleased with the meet, and said, "the high point of the meet to me was Bobby Ragsdale's broadjump." Ragsdale broadjumped 25 feet and one half inch, and placed second in this event behind John Bennett of Marquette, who leaped 25 feet four inches.

Ragsdale's jump was a new Aggie record and was also two and three quarters inches better than the Southwest Conference broadjump record of 24 feet nine and three quarters inches.

Weightmen, Dan Pratt, and Bobby Gross finished third and fourth
